Council Fails To Take Action In Greek Case

U. N. Agency Adjourns Without Decision On Ukrainian Charges

RUSSIA AND BRITAIN FIGHT STUBBORNLY

Cadogan Says Complaints Against Greece "Wild Accusations"

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Aug. 30. (AP)—Soviet Russia and Great Britain fought stubbornly tonight in the United Nations Security Council over hearing Ukrainian charges against Greece but the council delayed a decision at least until next Tuesday, two days after the Greek plebiscite on the return of King George II.

At the end of a long discussion of the case by Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet delegate, the council adjourned until 3 p. m. E.D.T. Tuesday at the firm request of the United States delegate, Herschel V. Johnson.

Sir Alexander Cadogan, of Britain, led the attack on hearing the Ukrainian charges that Greece is menacing the peace of the Balkans with the statement that they are "wild accusations." He demanded that the council refuse to hear them in their present form.

Gromyko, equally as firm in his advocacy of the Ukrainian charges, said that great wars have started from little incidents such as the "serious clashes" he said are occurring on the Greek-Albanian frontier. He said those opposing the form of the Ukrainian complaint were "indulging in gymnastics."

Gromyko Takes Floor

Gromyko launched into a long statement on the case after some opponents of hearing it in its present form had completed their statements.

He charged that the presence of British troops in Greece raised the whole question of the foreign rule and that that was apparently the reason Cadogan was opposing the move to hear the case,

Gromyko's demand for information within two weeks on the disposition of Allied troops and air and sea bases in alien non-enemy countries, such as the British troops in Greece, was placed on the provisional agenda today but its acceptability also must be voted on by the council. It was not mentioned today.

The Ukrainian allegations that the Greek government is a menace to the peace of the Balkans and is aided and abetted by British troops on Greek soil occupied the spotlight in the council just as the same general question took the front rank in discussions at the Paris peace conference.

Cadogan was joined by Dr. Eelco N. Van Kleffens, of the Netherlands, in his call for facts instead of the "general statements" he said were made by the Soviet Ukraine.

"Very Serious" Complaint

Gromyko, in answer to Cadogan and Van Kleffens said that the Ukrainian complaint was "very serious." He said if some action was not taken it might come to constitute a threat to peace not only in the Balkans but in the entire world.

Paul Hasluck, Australian delegate, said the Ukrainian complant should be more precise. He said it should cover the complete Balkans situation if admitted to the council and not just the Balkans as affected by the Greek government.

The debate on whether to put the case on the agenda in its present shape broke sharply after the council declined by a six-to-three vote to invite grey-haired Dmitri Manuilsky, Ukrainian Foreign Minister who flew here from Paris yesterday to press the charges he made last weekend, and Cassili Dendramis, Greek ambassador to the United States to the council table while the argument took place.

BENDIX TROPHY WINNER—Making his fourth try in 12 years, Paul Mantz, Burbank, Calif., won the Bendix trophy classic yesterday, flying his P-51 Mustang from Van Nuys, Calif., to Cleveland in four hours, 42 minutes and 10 seconds. The race featured the opening day of the National Air Races.

Bendix Trophy Won By Veteran Air Race Pilot

Paul Mantz, Flying Souped-Up P-51, Averages 435.6 M.P.H.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 30 (AP)—Paul Mantz, Burbank, Calif., who has literally grown up with flying, won the Bendix cross-country race and $10,000 today with a scorching 435.6 miles an hour average in a National Air Races opening event marked by a timing error that switched the next three places behind him.

Mantz winged from Van Nuys, Calif., to Cleveland, a flight of just over 2,000 miles, in four hours, 42 minutes and ten seconds in a souped-up North American P-51 Mustang.

Scattered along the course behind him were a score of competitors, dispersed by staggered takeoffs to lessen the danger of collision in flight.

Miss Cochran Protests

William F. Eddy, Lajolla, Calif., swung across the field at 4:31 p. m. (Eastern Standard Time), and Jacqueline Cochran, only woman entrant and the 1938 winner, buzzed by 12 minutes later.

The officially-announced averages, based on starting times telegraphed from timers at the starting point, gave Eddy 424.9 miles an hour and Miss Cochran, 420.8. First hint of the error came when officials were about to award the trophies, and Miss Cochran, aware that Eddy had left well ahead of her, protested informally that the averages were wrong.

By late evening Ben F. Franklin, general manager of the races, announced that an error in transmit-

Miss Tennessee Not To Pose In Bathing Suit; Isn't "Nice"

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Aug. 30 (AP)—Redheaded Miss Tennessee declined today to pose in a bathing suit because "I don't think it's nice."

"I don't intend to pose in a bathing suit at Atlantic City (where Miss America will be crowned) unless it is a private showing before the beauty judges only," Miss Wilda Bowman told News-Free Press Photographer Bob Sherrill when he called at her home to take her picture.

"I had the understanding when I entered the contest," the comely redhead said later, "that I wouldn't have to pose in a bathing suit. I didn't pose that way here—and frankly, I don't think it's nice."

Speed Flier Killed; Plane Dives In Lake

LEWISTON, N. Y., Aug. 30 (AP) — Jack Woolams, 29, Bell Aircraft's chief test pilot and nationally-known speed flier, was killed today when his souped up P-39 Airacobra crashed into Lake Ontario, Bell officials reported.

David F. Forman, manager of Bell's helicopter division, said that "it is definite that the plane which creshed into Lake Ontario was piloted by Jack Woolams."

Niagara County Sheriff Henry Becker said that he had received reports of the crash from witnesses who said the plane exploded before crashing into Lake Ontario about 10 miles northeast of here.

He added that parts of a body had been picked up by two boys, that fragments of the plane were strewn over the water and that a large oil slick marked the spot where the plane dove into the lake.

Woolams had placed second among the qualifiers for the Thompson air race and had been assigned by the Army to attempt to fly a plane into the supersonic speed range for the first time later this summer.

Woolams averaged 392.7 miles per hour over the Thompson race course Wednesday to place second to Alvin (Tex) Johnston, his teammate from Niagara Falls. The race is scheduled for Monday.

Bell Aircraft officials announced June 13 that they had been given permission by the Army Air Material Command, Wright Field, Ohio, to disclose that Woolams had been assigned to fly the Army's new supersonic, rocket-powered XS-1 in tests this summer. The plane, the Army said, was designed to fly at between 900 and 1,500 miles per hour.

Reds Are Blamed For Deaths Of 21 In Greek Clashes

"Foreign Officers" Took Part In Recent Outbreak, Officer Says

ATHENS, Aug. 30 (AP)—The Greek government declared today that 21 persons had been killed in new raids by Communist bands, and the commander of the Greek gendarmerie charged that "foreign officers" had participated in recent "guerrilla civil war" in Macedonia.

The two statements were issued as the government banned all political meetings prior to Sunday's plebiscite on the return of the Greek monarchy.

Col. Tsatalos, the gendarmerie chief, did not identify the "foreign officers," nor foreign insignia which he said was found on uniforms of some captured members of the bands responsible for the outbreaks. He added that the situation in Macedonia was now under control.

32 Persons Kidnaped

A Ministry of Public Order bulletin said Communist bands were responsible for the 21 deaths and also for the kidnaping of 32 persons in Macedonia, Thessaly, and the Peloponnesus.

Meanwhile, Buell Maben, chief of the UNRRA mission in Greece, declared 400 UNRRA trucks had been used to take persons to a royalist rally in Athens last night, and that he would protest to the Greek government against unauthorized use of the vehicles. He said he also would protest use of UNRRA trucks by the Greek military for transporting personnel.

Acting Premier Stylianos Gonatas disclosed the ban on political meetings, and announced that loudspeaker broadcasts of plebiscite returns would not be permitted.

He lauded both Leftists and Rightists for orderliness at mass meetings the past two days and the police for exemplary conduct.

Gendarmerie Station Attacked

"Now is the chance to express our free will," he added. "If Sunday passes without disorder and with calmness everyone will know it is a credit to Greece and it will raise the prestige of the nation before

Russian Claim Against Italy Wins Approval

Molotov Charges Britain And U. S. With "Interference" In Greece

PARIS, Aug. 30—(AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov today charged Britain and the United States with "interference" in Greece, asserting that "we know British troops are there and American warships are on their way," but he failed to block peace conference discussion of the Greek-Albanian border dispute.

A few hours later the Russian claim for $100,000,000 in reparations against Italy was approved by the Italian Economic Committee, marking the first major accomplishment of the month-old, 21-nation European peace parley.

The stubby, moustached Soviet Foreign Minister charged before a conference plenary session that Greece was in the grip of a "terrorism" aimed at insuring a royalist victory in Sunday's plebiscite on the return of the monarchy.

He declared that the Greeks sought conference adoption of a resolutoin recommending that the Big Four examine the Greek-Albanian dispute over Albanian-held Northern Expirus in order to "create nationalistic sentiment inside Greece xxx on the eve of the plebiscite."

France Opposes Greek Proposal

The Greek proposal was adopted by a vote of 12 to 7, with France joining the Slavic bloc in opposition, Belgium and Norway abstained. The proposal will be heard at the next plenary session.

Molotov's remark on American warships presumably referred to American fleet units which are scheduled to put in at Greek ports next week—after the plebiscite—during a Mediterranean cruise.

The Soviet reparations award of $100,000,000 from Italy, recommended by the Big Four, was endorsed by the Italian commission after it voted down 15 to 5 a Canadian proposal to defer approval until after consideration of war damage claims of Yugoslavia, Greece and other victims of Fascist aggression. Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and Brazil were in the minority.

Final approval of the commission report must come from the general plenary session after other economic clauses of the Italian treaty have been acted upon. However, since all of the 21 member nations except Norway are represented on the economic commission the action was regarded as ending the dispute over Soviet reparations from Italy.

After the Canadian proposal was defeated the commission approved another portion of the Big Four draft setting out sources of the reparations.

Seven Years To Pay

Under the approved first paragraph of Article 64 of the treaty, Italy would have a period of seven years from the effective date of the pact to pay off the $100,000,000. Deliveries from current industrial production would not be made during the first two years.

Molotov hurled his charge of "outside interference" in the Greek elections when he spoke a second time during the morning in reply to United States Secretary Byrnes.

"We know the British troops are there and American warships are on their way," Molotov said. He added that it was "high time we put a stop to outside interference" and give the Greek people a chance "to select their own form of government."

"The present form of government in Greece is very unpopular among the Greek people," he declared.

Molotov said Russia was not opposing a discussion of the Greek-Albanian border by the Council of Foreign Ministers, but that it believed, like France, that the conference should not take up matters that did not come under the five draft treaties.

Byrnes, speaking in a firm, clear tone, said:

"It seems incredible to me that we would deny one of the 21 governments that furnished troops to aid us in victory the opportunity to present its case, regardless as to our views on their claims.

"The United States has no conviction on the territorial dispute. The United States would give the right to every member to be heard."

Acheson Says Government Is Waiting Until All Particulars In

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 (AP) — The account with Yugoslavia over the plane attacks is not closed yet, Undersecretary of State Acheson said today—the United States will render a bill for indemnity.

The government is waiting until all particulars are in, he told a news conference, before preparing its claims arising out of the loss of five lives and two planes downed in Yugoslav territory.

Moreover, Acheson said, he does not know whether Marshal Tito has put into writing, as promised, the expression of sorrow over the incidents and the assurances they will not recur which he gave orally to Ambassador Richard C. Patterson. The State Department is trying urgently to find out.

In response to questions, Acheson restated previous State Department declarations that the projected visit of the giant aircraft carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt, and other United States warships to Greek ports next week will be strictly "good will" affairs.

He denied specifically that the visits had any relation to the election Greece will hold Sunday to determine whether exiled King George II will return to his Athens throne. This charge was made by Radio Moscow twice this week and also was raised by Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov at the Paris peace conference.

Acheson also said that a group of Americans would observe the plebiscite on the monarchy at the specific invitation of the Greek government.

Reminder To Russia

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 (AP)—Acting Secretaary of State Dean Acheson informed a news conference today that the United States, in filing protests against a Soviet-Swedish trade deal, has reminded Russia of pledges against trade discrimination given to this country.

Moscow has replied, Acheson said, that negotiations with Sweden bear "no relation" to those pledges—laid down in a lend-lease agreement.

The United States sent notes to both Sweden and Russia expressing "concern" lest the "exclusive nature" of the five-year pact they were discussing might interfere with American objectives of promoting freer international trade.

Arms Caches Are Found In Jewish Farming Villages

Member Of Stern Gang Sentenced To Death For Sabotage

JERUSALEM, Aug. 30—(AP)British troops discovered caches of large stores of ammunition and arms including Bren guns and machine guns in two Jewish farming villages in Southern Palestine, the military said tonight.

At one village, Dorot, Sixth Airborne Division soldiers found 15,000 rounds of small arms ammunition, 44 hand grenades, three Bren guns, nine Sten guns, a heavy machine gun and two mortars, an announcement said.

At Ruhama troops took explosives and small arms ammunition from a concrete pit under the edge of the foundation of a new building. The announcement said the hidden storehouse at Dorot was made of concrete eight feet in diameter and 12 feet deep, with the entrance beneath a henhouse.

The munitions were discovered in the third day of searching at the two villages, both relatively new agricultural settlements, an announcement said. Earlier a large quantity of military clothing and some small arms, ammunition, a few guns, and signalling and radio equipment had been found, authorities said.

Meanwhile a British military court here sentenced Jacob Menahem Alcalai, member of the underground Stern Gang, to death for sabotaging Haifa railway shops last June. Death sentences imposed August 16 on 18 other Stern Gang members in this case were commuted yesterday to life imprisonment. Alcalai, still on a stretcher due to a leg wound, ignored the court proceedings.

U. S. Economic Aid

London, Aug. 30—(AP)—Britain will ask the United States to give economic help to both the Jews and Arabs in Palestine if the scheduled London conferences bring a settlement of the Holy Land issues, a highly-placed British official said today.

But Britain, he added, no longer is relying upon any other form of U. S. participation in Palestine affairs.

AFL Threatens Shipping Strike

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 (AP)—AFL unions today threatened a shipping strike on both the East and West Coasts in protest against a Wage Stabilization Board ruling which limits AFL sailors to CIO wage increase levels.

AFL leaders protested that their higher rates, only partially approved by the board, had been negotiated in collective bargaining with Atlantic and Pacific ship owners while the lower rates approved for the rival CIO National Maritime Union had been fixed by "government fiat." The War Shipping Administration arranged the NMU rates.

Harry Lundeberg, secretary-treasurer of the AFL Sailors' Union of the Pacific, said in a message to WSB Chairman W. Willard Wirtz that the board action is "illegal" on the ground that it deprives his union of its bargaining rights.

Bilbo To Undergo Operation Today

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 30 (AP)—Sen. Theodore G. Bilbo (D-Miss), nationally known for his fiery stump speeches against "negro equality" will undergo an operation here tomorrow which physicians said is necessitated by "inflammation of the mouth."

Bilbo, 68, was admitted to Touro Infirmary shortly before noon today.

Clad in vivid red pajamas, he told interviewers tonight that he felt physically "better than I have in the past 15 or 20 years."

Bilbo said se expects to be out of the hospital in about five days.

Philippines Civil War May Be Near

MANILA, Saturday, Aug. 31 (AP) — The Philippines were poised today on the brink of open civil war as large-scale fighting flared in the Central Luzon provinces.

Philippine military police used artillery against Hukbalahaps.

On the eve of Sunday's deadline for the Huks to surrender their arms, hope for peaceful settlement was abandoned and administration leaders talked and acted tough.

President Manual Roxas told a press conference that the arms surrender deadline positively would not be extended.

Higher Price Ceilings Put On Livestock

$16.25 Per Hundredweight On Hogs And $20.25 On Cattle

WHOLESALERS' MARGIN TO BE HIKED 25 CENTS

Quotas On Beef Are Increased And Those On Hogs Lowered

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30. (AP)—The OPA tonight restored slaughter controls over the meat industry and announced livestock price ceilings of $16.25 per hundredweight on hogs and $20.25 on cattle effective at midnight tomorrow.

OPA also granted meat wholesalers an increased margin of 25 cents a hundred pounds effective when wholesale ceilings are restored September 5.

The ceilings are $2.25 higher on cattle than the price levels of June 30 and $1.40 higher on hogs, but are far below the quotations at Chicago in to day's uncontrolled markets.

Ceilings on dressed lamb and mutton will bring to livestock owners $3 per hundred pounds more on choice and good grade lamb than on June 30.

Butcher shop prices on meat—which will be above the June 30 prices as a result of tonight's action but lower than those at present—will be announced next week and will go into effect September 9.

Recommended By Anderson

On cattle and calves, each slaughterer's quota is 90 per cent of the amount he killed in 1944. On hogs the new quota is 70 per cent.

This increases the quotas on beef and lowers them on hogs as compared with the quotas which lapsed June 30. The former quotas were 85 per cent on beef and 90 per cent on hogs.

For a more effective war on the black market, all slaughter controls were centered in OPA. Before controls expired June 30, OPA had jurisdiction over only non-federally inspected plants and the agriculture Department over federally-inspected plants.

OPA Administrator Paul A. Porter declared the controls will not reduce the total of meat available but will spread the supply more evenly over the country.

The object, his statement said, is to make sure that legitimate slaughterers can get their share of available meat at ceiling prices.

"Conversely, it means that no operator can slaughter a disproportionate amount of livestock," Porter continued. "Every family and every section of the country has its right to a fair share of meat regardless of the source of supply."

He termed the restored slaughter program "a very important step in holding down black market operations," since it provides a check on the source of all meat. Each slaughterer is required to mark his product so it can be traced back to him if it finds its way into the black market.

OPA's Plans Upset

Those recommendations—amounting to orders—were issued Wednesday, overturning OPA's plans for restoring beef, pork and lamb ceilings near the June 30 levels.

As recommended by Anderson, the prices now are based on an increase of $1.40 per hundredweight of hogs and $2.25 per hundredweight of beef cattle at Chicago.

This means that butcher shop prices of meat, when control is slapped back on September 9, will range above June 30 level prices by two and one half to three cents

Army May Be Unable To Prosecute 15 Germans It Arrested As Spies

FRANKFURT, Germany, Saturday, Aug. 31 (AP)—United States Army authorities after announcing evidence of a Soviet-sponsored clandestine organization in Western Germany, today found themselves apparently unable to prosecute 15 members of a group they arrested as spies.

The existence of the banned organization, the six-year-old, Moscow-formed "Free Germany Committee," was revealed in two statements by official Army Intelligence officers.

A few hours after the disclosure, Col. Juan Sedillo, legal chief of the Stuttgart military government, said the Army counter-intelligence corps had ordered suspension of drafting of charges against the suspected German spies.

"We found that we could not legally charge them with espionage," Sedillo said. "As a result, we drafted other charges x x x and prepared to proceed with trial."

Sedillo, a military government officer, said the Army's counter-intelligence corps then stepped in and ordered him to halt preparation on substitute charges.

While the Army's Intelligence spokesman professed to know nothing about the sudden action, the Germans apparently lingered in an undisclosed Army jail. Col. C. F. Fritsche, deputy European theater intelligence chief, said: "The investigation is continuing."

In the Army's first announcement of the alleged spy ring at Stuttgart, it declared officially:

"Evidence of Soviet espionage and subversive political activity in the Stuttgart area was uncovered in the arrest of Walther Kazmarek, local ringleader of the "Free Germany Committee" and 14 followers.

Kazmarek, it said, had revealed in a confession that his group, dedicated to a long-range program, "intended to penetrate United States military circles with Germans sympathetic to the U. S. S. R." This apparently was regarded as "subversive political activity."

Kazmarek, the Army said, had turned over information on American troop movements to Soviet representatives. This the Army described as "espionage."

Communist Demands On Chiang Dim Hopes Of Ending China's Civil War

NANKING, Saturday, Aug. 31—(AP) — Communist demands that Chiang Kai-Shek guarantee issurance of a general cease-fire order and abandon his insistence on Communist evacuation of key areas dimmed China's new peace hopes today as government troops sweeping northward 25-miles from Chengteh in Jehol Province overran Lunghwa against fierce opposition.

There were no details of the advance, which followed the unopposed capture of the Communist stronghold Friday.

The demands on Chiang were presented to Gen. Marshall, special American envoy, by Gen. Chou En-Lai, chief Communist negotiator and a member of the five-man peace committee, as the Communists' price for participating in the political negotiations proposed by United States Ambassador J. Leighton Stuart.

The government's Central News Agency confirmed Chengteh's capture and reported the Communists were in full retreat. The Reds' Eighth Route Army headquarters here said it had no word of the city's fate but declared its loss was "possible."

This important new military reverse will not precipitate a Communist withdrawal from the current peace talks, Communist Spokesman Wing Ping-Nan said.

Chou handed the Communist demands on Chiang to Gen. Marshall, special American envoy, yesterday. Marshall left immediately for Kuling, the government's summer capital, to present the demands to the generalissimo.

Charging that the government wants to use the committee, only announced Thursday, "to stall for time," Communist Spokesman Wing Ping-Man said:

"We understand the Kuling atmosphere is much more charged with war than peace. The military situation still is very tense on all fronts."

U. N. Agency Adjourns Without Decision On Ukrainian Charges

RUSSIA AND BRITAIN FIGHT STUBBORNLY

Cadogan Says Complaints Against Greece "Wild Accusations"

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Aug. 30. (AP)—Soviet Russia and Great Britain fought stubbornly tonight in the United Nations Security Council over hearing Ukrainian charges against Greece but the council delayed a decision at least until next Tuesday, two days after the Greek plebiscite on the return of King George II.

At the end of a long discussion of the case by Andrei A. Gromyko, Soviet delegate, the council adjourned until 3 p. m. E.D.T. Tuesday at the firm request of the United States delegate, Herschel V. Johnson.

Sir Alexander Cadogan, of Britain, led the attack on hearing the Ukrainian charges that Greece is menacing the peace of the Balkans with the statement that they are "wild accusations." He demanded that the council refuse to hear them in their present form.

Gromyko Takes Floor

Gromyko launched into a long statement on the case after some opponents of hearing it in its present form had completed their statements.

He charged that the presence of British troops in Greece raised the whole question of the foreign rule and that that was apparently the reason Cadogan was opposing the move to hear the case.

It was not mentioned today.

The Ukrainian allegations that the Greek government is a menace to the peace of the Balkans and is aided and abetted by British troops on Greek soil occupied the spotlight in the council just as the same general question took the front rank in discussions at the Paris peace conference.

Cadogan was joined by Dr. Eelco N. Van Kleffens, of the Netherlands, in his call for facts instead of the "general statements" he said were made by the Soviet Ukraine.

"Very Serious" Complaint

Gromyko, in answer to Cadogan and Van Kleffens said that the Ukrainian complaint was "very serious." He said if some action was not taken it might come to constitute a threat to peace not only in the Balkans but in the entire world.

David F. Forman, manager of Bell's helicopter division, said that "it is definite that the plane which crashed into Lake Ontario was piloted by Jack Woolams."

Niagara County Sheriff Henry Becker said that he had received reports of the crash from witnesses who said the plane exploded before crashing into Lake Ontario about 10 miles northeast of here.

He added that parts of a body had been picked up by two boys, that fragments of the plane were strewn over the water and that a large oil slick marked the spot where the plane dove into the lake.

Woolams had placed second among the qualifiers for the Thompson air race and had been assigned by the Army to attempt to fly a plane into the supersonic speed range for the first time later this summer.

Woolams averaged 392.7 miles per hour over the Thompson race course Wednesday to place second to Alvin (Tex) Johnston, his teammate from Niagara Falls. The race is scheduled for Monday.

Bell Aircraft officials announced June 13 that they had been given permission by the Army Air Material Command, Wright Field, Ohio, to disclose that Woolams had been assigned to fly the Army's new supersonic, rocket-powered XS-1 in tests this summer. The plane, the Army said, was designed to fly at between 900 and 1,500 miles per hour.

Reds Are Blamed For Deaths Of 21 In Greek Clashes

"Foreign Officers" Took Part In Recent Outbreak, Officer Says

ATHENS, Aug. 30 (AP)—The Greek government declared today that 21 persons had been killed in new raids by Communist bands, and the commander of the Greek gendarmerie charged that "foreign officers" had participated in recent "guerrilla civil war" in Macedonia.

The two statements were issued as the government banned all political meetings prior to Sunday's plebiscite on the return of the Greek monarchy.

Col. Tsatalos, the gendarmerie chief, did not identify the "foreign officers," nor foreign insignia which he said was found on uniforms of some captured members of the bands responsible for the outbreaks. He added that the situation in Macedonia was now under control.

32 Persons Kidnaped

A Ministry of Public Order bulletin said Communist bands were responsible for the 21 deaths and also for the kidnaping of 32 persons in Macedonia, Thessaly, and the Peloponnesus.

Meanwhile, Buell Maben, chief of the UNRRA mission in Greece, declared 400 UNRRA trucks had been used to take persons to a royalist rally in Athens last night, and that he would protest to the Greek government against unauthorized use of the vehicles. He said he also would protest use of UNRRA trucks by the Greek military for transporting personnel.

Acting Premier Stylianos Gonatas disclosed the ban on political meetings, and announced that loudspeaker broadcasts of plebiscite returns would not be permitted.

He lauded both Leftists and Rightists for orderliness at mass meetings the past two days and the police for exemplary conduct.

Gendarmerie Station Attacked

"Now is the chance to express our free will," he added. "If Sunday passes without disorder and with calmness everyone will know it is a credit to Greece and it will raise the prestige of the nation before

Russian Claim Against Italy Wins Approval

Molotov Charges Britain And U. S. With "Interference" In Greece

PARIS, Aug. 30—(AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov today charged Britain and the United States with "interference" in Greece, asserting that "we know British troops are there and American warships are on their way," but he failed to block peace conference discussion of the Greek-Albanian border dispute.

A few hours later the Russian claim for $100,000,000 in reparations against Italy was approved by the Italian Economic Committee, marking the first major accomplishment of the month-old, 21-nation European peace parley.

The stubby, moustached Soviet Foreign Minister charged before a conference plenary session that Greece was in the grip of a "terrorism" aimed at insuring a royalist victory in Sunday's plebiscite on the return of the monarchy.

He declared that the Greeks sought conference adoption of a resolutoin recommending that the Big Four examine the Greek-Albanian dispute over Albanian-held Northern Expirus in order to "create nationalistic sentiment inside Greece xxx on the eve of the plebiscite."

France Opposes Greek Proposal

The Greek proposal was adopted by a vote of 12 to 7, with France joining the Slavic bloc in opposition. Belgium and Norway abstained. The proposal will be heard at the next plenary session.

Molotov's remark on American warships presumably referred to American fleet units which are scheduled to put in at Greek ports next week—after the plebiscite—during a Mediterranean cruise.

The Soviet reparations award of $100,000,000 from Italy, recommended by the Big Four, was endorsed by the Italian commission after it voted down 15 to 5 a Canadian proposal to defer approval until after consideration of war damage claims of Yugoslavia, Greece and other victims of Fascist aggression. Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and Brazil were in the minority.

Final approval of the commission report must come from the general plenary session after other economic clauses of the Italian treaty have been acted upon. However, since all of the 21 member nations except Norway are represented on the economic commission the action was regarded as ending the dispute over Soviet reparations from Italy.

After the Canadian proposal was defeated the commission approved another portion of the Big Four draft setting out sources of the reparations.

Seven Years To Pay

Under the approved first paragraph of Article 64 of the treaty, Italy would have a period of seven years from the effective date of the pact to pay off the $100,000,000. Deliveries from current industrial production would not be made during the first two years.

Molotov hurled his charge of "outside interference" in the Greek elections when he spoke a second time during the morning in reply to United States Secretary Byrnes.

"We know the British troops are there and American warships are on their way," Molotov said. He added that it was "high time we put a stop to outside interference" and give the Greek people a chance "to select their own form of government."

"The present form of government in Greece is very unpopular among the Greek people," he declared.

Molotov said Russia was not opposing a discussion of the Greek-Albanian border by the Council of Foreign Ministers, but that it believed, like France, that the conference should not take up matters that did not come under the five draft treaties.

Byrnes, speaking in a firm, clear tone, said:

"It seems incredible to me that we would deny one of the 21 governments that furnished troops to aid us in victory the opportunity to present its case, regardless as to our views on their claims.

"The United States has no conviction on the territorial dispute. The United States would give the right to every member to be heard."

U. S. To Demand Indemnity From Yugoslavs For Loss Of Five Lives, Two Planes

RECOVERS SON—Mrs. Isabel Stalcup, 22-year-old British war bride, clutches her son, Bobby, in county jail at Wichita, Kan., after a 200-mile chase to recover him from her husband, Charles, who was apprehended by authorities. The British bride said that her husband and father-in-law wanted her to return to England without the 18-month-old baby.

Acheson Says Government Is Waiting Until All Particulars In

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 (AP)—The account with Yugoslavia over the plane attacks is not closed yet, Undersecretary of State Acheson said today—the United States will render a bill for indemnity.

The government is waiting until all particulars are in, he told a news conference, before preparing its claims arising out of the loss of five lives and two planes downed in Yugoslav territory.

Moreover, Acheson said, he does not know whether Marshal Tito has put into writing, as promised, the expression of sorrow over the incidents and the assurances they will not recur which he gave orally to Ambassador Richard C. Patterson. The State Department is trying urgently to find out.

In response to questions, Acheson restated previous State Department declarations that the projected visit of the giant aircraft carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt, and other United States warships to Greek ports next week will be strictly "good will" affairs.

He denied specifically that the visits had any relation to the election Greece will hold Sunday to determine whether exiled King George II will return to his Athens throne. This charge was made by Radio Moscow twice this week and also was raised by Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov at the Paris peace conference.

Acheson also said that a group of Americans would observe the plebiscite on the monarchy at the specific invitation of the Greek government.

Reminder To Russia

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 (AP)—Acting Secretaary of State Dean Acheson informed a news conference today that the United States, in filing protests against a Soviet-Swedish trade deal, has reminded Russia of pledges against trade discrimination given to this country.

Moscow has replied, Acheson said, that negotiations with Sweden bear "no relation" to those pledges—laid down in a lend-lease agreement.

The United States sent notes to both Sweden and Russia expressing "concern" lest the "exclusive nature" of the five-year pact they were discussing might interfere with American objectives of promoting freer international trade.

Arms Caches Are Found In Jewish Farming Villages

Member Of Stern Gang Sentenced To Death For Sabotage

JERUSALEM, Aug. 30—(AP)British troops discovered caches of large stores of ammunition and arms including Bren guns and machine guns in two Jewish farming villages in Southern Palestine, the military said tonight.

At one village, Dorot, Sixth Airborne Division soldiers found 15,000 rounds of small arms ammunition, 44 hand grenades, three Bren guns, nine Sten guns, a heavy machine gun and two mortars, an announcement said.

At Ruhama troops took explosives and small arms ammunition from a concrete pit under the edge of the foundation of a new building. The announcement said the hidden storehouse at Dorot was made of concrete eight feet in diameter and 12 feet deep, with the entrance beneath a henhouse.

The munitions were discovered in the third day of searching at the two villages, both relatively new agricultural settlements, an announcement said. Earlier a large quantity of military clothing and some small arms, ammunition, a few guns, and signalling and radio equipment had been found, authorities said.

Meanwhile a British military court here sentenced Jacob Menahem Alcalai, member of the underground Stern Gang, to death for sabotaging Haifa railway shops last June. Death sentences imposed August 16 on 18 other Stern Gang members in this case were commuted yesterday to life imprisonment. Alcalai, still on a stretcher due to a leg wound, ignored the court proceedings.

The Arab Higher Executive is expected to meet tomorrow to take action on Britain's rejection of the exiled Mufti of Jerusalem as a delegate to the scheduled September 9 talks in London on the future of Palestine.

U. S. Economic Aid

London, Aug. 30—(AP)—Britain will ask the United States to give economic help to both the Jews and Arabs in Palestine if the scheduled London conferences bring a settlement of the Holy Land issues, a highly-placed British official said today.

But Britain, he added, no longer is relying upon any other form of U. S. participation in Palestine affairs.

AFL Threatens Shipping Strike

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 (AP)—AFL unions today threatened a shipping strike on both the East and West Coasts in protest against a Wage Stabilization Board ruling which limits AFL sailors to CIO wage increase levels.

AFL leaders protested that their higher rates, only partially approved by the board, had been negotiated in collective bargaining with Atlantic and Pacific ship owners while the lower rates approved for the rival CIO National Maritime Union had been fixed by "government fiat." The War Shipping Administration arranged the NMU rates.

Harry Lundeberg, secretary-treasurer of the AFL Sailors' Union of the Pacific, said in a message to WSB Chairman W. Willard Wirtz that the board action is "illegal" on the ground that it deprives his union of its bargaining rights.

Higher Price Ceilings Put On Livestock

WHOLESALERS' MARGIN TO BE HIKED 25 CENTS

Quotas On Beef Are Increased And Those On Hogs Lowered

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30. (AP)—The OPA tonight restored slaughter controls over the meat industry and announced livestock price ceilings of $16.25 per hundredweight on hogs and $20.25 on cattle effective at midnight tomorrow.

OPA also granted meat wholesalers an increased margin of 25 cents a hundred pounds effective when wholesale ceilings are restored September 5.

The ceilings are $2.25 higher on cattle than the price levels of June 30 and $1.40 higher on hogs, but are far below the quotations at Chicago in to day's uncontrolled markets.

Ceilings on dressed lamb and mutton will bring to livestock owners $3 per hundred pounds more on choice and good grade lamb than on June 30.

Butcher shop prices on meat—which will be above the June 30 prices as a result of tonight's action but lower than those at present—will be announced next week and will go into effect September 9.

Recommended By Anderson

On cattle and calves, each slaughterer's quota is 90 per cent of the amount he killed in 1944. On hogs the new quota is 70 per cent.

This increases the quotas on beef and lowers them on hogs as compared with the quotas which lapsed June 30. The former quotas were 85 per cent on beef and 90 per cent on hogs.

For a more effective war on the black market, all slaughter controls were centered in OPA. Before controls expired June 30, OPA had jurisdiction over only non-federally inspected plants and the agriculture Department over federally-inspected plants.

OPA Administrator Paul A. Porter declared the controls will not reduce the total of meat available but will spread the supply more evenly over the country.

The object, his statement said, is to make sure that legitimate slaughterers can get their share of available meat at ceiling prices.

"Conversely, it means that no operator can slaughter a disproportionate amount of livestock," Porter continued. "Every family and every section of the country has its right to a fair share of meat regardless of the source of supply."

He termed the restored slaughter program "a very important step in holding down black market operations," since it provides a check on the source of all meat. Each slaughterer is required to mark his product so it can be traced back to him if it finds its way into the black market.

OPA's Plans Upset

Those recommendations—amounting to orders—were issued Wednesday, overturning OPA's plans for restoring beef, pork and lamb ceilings near the June 30 levels.

As recommended by Anderson, the prices now are based on an increase of $1.40 per hundredweight of hogs and $2.25 per hundredweight of beef cattle at Chicago.

This means that butcher shop prices of meat, when control is slapped back on September 9, will range above June 30 level prices by two and one half to three cents

Bilbo To Undergo Operation Today

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 30 (AP)—Sen. Theodore G. Bilbo (D-Miss), nationally known for his fiery stump speeches against "negro equality" will undergo an operation here tomorrow which physicians said is necessitated by "inflammation of the mouth."

Bilbo, 68, was admitted to Touro Infirmary shortly before noon today.

Clad in vivid red pajamas, he told interviewers tonight that he felt physically "better than I have in the past 15 or 20 years."

Bilbo said se expects to be out of the hospital in about five days.

Philippines Civil War May Be Near

MANILA, Saturday, Aug. 31 (AP)—The Philippines were poised today on the brink of open civil war as large-scale fighting flared in the Central Luzon provinces.

Philippine military police used artillery against Hukbalahaps.

On the eve of Sunday's deadline for the Huks to surrender their arms, hope for peaceful settlement was abandoned and administration leaders talked and acted tough.

President Manual Roxas told a press conference that the arms surrender deadline positively would not be extended.

Army May Be Unable To Prosecute 15 Germans It Arrested As Spies

FRANKFURT, Germany, Saturday, Aug. 31 (AP)—United States Army authorities after announcing evidence of a Soviet-sponsored clandestine organization in Western Germany, today found themselves apparently unable to prosecute 15 members of a group they arrested as spies.

The existence of the banned organization, the six-year-old, Moscow-formed "Free Germany Committee," was revealed in two statements by official Army Intelligence officers.

A few hours after the disclosure, Col. Juan Sedillo, legal chief of the Stuttgart military government, said the Army counter-intelligence corps had ordered suspension of drafting of charges against the suspected German spies.

"We found that we could not legally charge them with espionage," Sedillo said. "As a result, we drafted other charges x x x and prepared to proceed with trial."

Sedillo, a military government officer, said the Army's counter-intelligence corps then stepped in and ordered him to halt preparation on substitute charges.

While the Army's Intelligence spokesman professed to know nothing about the sudden action, the Germans apparently lingered in an undisclosed Army jail. Col. C. F. Fritsche, deputy European theater intelligence chief, said: "The investigation is continuing."

In the Army's first announcement of the alleged spy ring at Stuttgart, it declared officially:

"Evidence of Soviet espionage and subversive political activity in the Stuttgart area was uncovered in the arrest of Walther Kazmarek, local ringleader of the "Free Germany Committee" and 14 followers.

Kazmarek, it said, had revealed in a confession that his group, dedicated to a long-range program, "intended to penetrate United States military circles with Germans sympathetic to the U. S. S. R." This apparently was regarded as "subversive political activity."

Kazmarek, the Army said, had turned over information on American troop movements to Soviet representatives. This the Army described as "espionage."

Communist Demands On Chiang Dim Hopes Of Ending China's Civil War

NANKING, Saturday, Aug. 31—(AP) — Communist demands that Chiang Kai-Shek guarantee issurance of a general cease-fire order and abandon his insistence on Communist evacuation of key areas dimmed China's new peace hopes today as government troops sweeping northward 25-miles from Chengteh in Jehol Province overran Lunghwa against fierce opposition.

There were no details of the advance, which followed the unopposed capture of the Communist stronghold Friday.

The demands on Chiang were presented to Gen. Marshall, special American envoy, by Gen. Chou En-Lai, chief Communist negotiator and a member of the five-man peace committee, as the Communists' price for participating in the political negotiations proposed by United States Ambassador J. Leighton Stuart.

The government's Central News Agency confirmed Chengteh's capture and reported the Communists were in full retreat. The Reds' Eighth Route Army headquarters here said it had no word of the city's fate but declared its loss was "possible."

This important new military reverse will not precipitate a Communist withdrawal from the current peace talks, Communist Spokesman Wing Ping-Nan said.

Chou handed the Communist demands on Chiang to Gen. Marshall, special American envoy, yesterday. Marshall left immediately for Kuling, the government's summer capital, to present the demands to the generalissimo.

Charging that the government wants to use 'he committee, only announced Thursday, "to stall for time," Communist Spokesman Wing Ping-Man said:

"We understand the Kuling atmosphere is much more charged with war than peace. The military situation still is very tense on all fronts."

Wife Who Has Difficult Problems Is Advised Not To Be On The Lookout For More

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love And Marriage

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I read with interest your answer a few days ago about the letter from the girl, "M. C.," who told about going out with another woman's husband.

A good many married men indulge in this playing around, I am told. That is bad enough, but when the woman involved knows she is dating a man who is not free, why, I say she deserves what the fates may choose to deal out to her.

It might interest this girl to know that his wife does know he has been seeing her frequently. They have been watched. I wonder how patient and understanding this young woman would be if she were married and her husband was doing with another what she is doing with my husband? I might add, did it ever occur to her that my husband might have told me that "she is just a crazy kid and it is all over this time?"

With the world so full of men, why must these young women choose married men to play with? Is it because it is safer, or do they enjoy the sorrow it brings home to the families of the men?

"A WIFE"

Perhaps it might interest you to know that the letter to which you refer came from an entirely different part of the country from where you live, "Mrs. Wife." I am telling you this so that you may realize you have likely been blaming some other young woman unjustly.

It is too bad that you have been having this type of trouble with your husband but, perhaps, he is not quite as wayward as you seem to think. Your letter sounds as if you were ready to accuse him of unfaithfulness at the slightest opportunity, since you are so ready to feel that any young woman might be a friend of your husband's.

I am sorry if you are having difficult problems, but don't add to them by being eternally on the lookout for more.

Mother Doesn't Like Her Friends

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am a girl 16 years of age with a very common problem of today.

I have a girl friend whom I consider to be a swell person, but my mother disapproves of her completely, because she thinks she is very cheap and common. By "common," she means girls who are very loud in manners, and unladylike.

My mother doesn't like the idea of my bringing friends into the house, or my going out with them, as she feels it is a waste of time. Don't you think having friends is just as important as everything else in life? My Mother is always comparing me with my next-door neighbors and saying that they are better than us.

"Miss Teen-Ager of 1946"

You seem to have a number of problems here, "Miss Teen-Ager," rather than just one.

In the first place, I quite agree with your mother in feeling that girls with loud and unladylike manners are common. Perhaps, of course, they are just badly brought up, but, in any case, it is quite understandable that your mother would not like your making an intimate friend of a girl of this type. Naturally, she wants her daughter to have the right kind of friends.

On the other hand, if, as you say, your mother doesn't encourage having any of your friends visit your home, that is something else again. Of course having friends is a very important part of life, and I can hardly believe that any mother would want her daughter cut off from normal companionship with boys and girls her own age. Perhaps you have the wrong idea about this, and maybe if you wanted to bring home friends with nice manners, you would find your mother glad to have you do so.

As for your mother feeling that your next-door neighbors are better than you, I don't think I would worry about that. As long as you have good standards of conduct yourself, and follow them, you are just as good as anybody else.

Why not see if you can't get together with your mother on the kind of friends you might bring home!

Naturally, she wants her daughter to have the right kind of friends.

On the other hand, if, as you say, your mother doesn't encourage having any of your friends visit your home, that is something else again. Of course having friends is a very important part of life, and I can hardly believe that any mother would want her daughter cut off from normal companionship with boys and girls her own age. Perhaps you have the wrong idea about this, and maybe if you wanted to bring home friends with nice manners, you would find your mother glad to have you do so.

As for your mother feeling that your next-door neighbors are better than you, I don't think I would worry about that. As long as you have good standards of conduct yourself, and follow them, you are just as good as anybody else.

Why not see if you can't get together with your mother on the kind of friends you might bring home!

City Council Should Approve Anti-Smoke Law

We have no doubt that the City Council will give final approval to the anti-smoke ordinance when it is next taken up for consideration. It is hoped little delay will be encountered in action on an instrument aimed at giving the people of Cumberland relief from the dirt and grim that continue to overspread the city.

The ordinance was whipped into, what we have been given to understand, final form for its adoption. A clause that would have made railroad firemen subject to fines of $100 for violations of the law has been removed. Thus, responsibility, in the ordinance's present form, for adherence to the act, has been placed on the railroad companies. For such violations the railroad companies are subject to fines of $100. They, of course, will see to it that firemen do not violate the law, and in all probability the railroad companies will hold those engaged in the firing of locomotives equally responsible for violations. So in removing the clause relating to firemen the ordinance has not been weakened insofar as its intent and purpose is concerned.

Operation of equipment on locomotives to reduce the outpouring of smoke to a minimum is not difficult, and it has recently been announced that overfire air jets which eliminate smoke are a practical success. They have been installed on more than a thousand locomotives, and many installations have been made on stationary boilers. The jets of air are shot over a fire, right above the coals, supplying enough air and mixing action to completely burn the smoke in the furnace chamber. This principal has been extended to make household stoves smokeless.

The principle of the smokeless stove can best be demonstrated by an individual with a lighted cigaret. Blow air through the cigaret and you'll produce little or no smoke. Draw on the cigaret and see what happens. In the smokeless heater, air for combustion is admitted at the top. It is forced down through the unburned coal to the combustion zone just above the grate. The movement of air forces the smoke through the combustion zone, where heat and air are available to burn it. So with a locomotive.

It is hoped the city council will approve the ordinance when it is next taken up in order that the railroad companies will have ample time between then and April 1, 1947, to equip the coal burning locomotives with the overfire air jets called for.

In the meantime, the commissioners should give further thought to finding whatever revenue might be required for setting up an anti-smoke department, properly manned, that will eventually make smoke, that is slowly but surely placing a black veil over Cumberland and which could easily become a shroud, a forgotten nuisance.

As proof that the world is made of durable stuff, scientists now say it will endure for at least 1,700,000,000 years longer.

Real Leadership At Peace Parley Needed

While the four great powers, notably the United States, are reluctant to "steamroller" the Paris peace conference, that course seems to offer the only hope of important accomplishment. The word is to be welcomed, therefore, that the foreign ministers of the United States, Great Britain, Soviet Russia and France are planning to meet separately and attempt to provide some effective leadership for a meeting which is badly out of hand.

Even this program contains no guaranty of success. The Big Four, in a way, are no less at odds than their smaller nations and are not likely to reach quick agreements on major issues. But they can, if they are so minded and will show a united front, force the conference to get down to the business for which it was called. This is not to suggest that they actually write the peace treaties themselves. Rather it is a case of supplying the drive and direction which are so urgently needed.

It will be particularly helpful if some way can be found to put a stop to the name-calling and clash of personalities which so far have been the distinguishing marks of the conference. These exchanges get the delegates nowhere. Indeed, they make the ultimate task more difficult and if long continued may make it impossible of achievement.

Add Ho Hum Items: OPA is employing a large force of investigators to hunt black markets.

Cleveland Inaugurates Jail Inmates' Clinic

Cleveland has inaugurated a program under which all drunks and vagrants arrested in the Ohio city are to be examined physically immediately in the new city jail clinic. It was established because too many arrested persons had died in jail who should have been treated in hospitals.

It is believed that the new program will also safeguard public health because communicable diseases afflicting persons arrested will be discovered. A physician will be on hand in the jail clinic and will decide at once whether a man is drunk or is a victim of disease or suffered an injury. His staff will include a nurse and an X-ray technician.

It is well known that a person untrained in medical science cannot detect upon mere observation whether a person who is unconscious or semi-conscious is the victim of alcohol or is sick or suffering from a serious injury.

The plan benefits the police because they no longer need to be in doubt about such a matter. It is well known that when a person arrested for being drunk dies in a police cell, the public is inclined to blame the police for not having been more diligent in ascertaining the facts.

That the plan will safeguard public health is obvious. A person suffering from active tuberculosis, for instance, can give the disease to many other persons. Since many down-and-outers do not get sufficient food, they are especially vulnerable to tuberculosis and other diseases.

The Cleveland plan is not applicable to all communities, because of the cost, but it should be in effect in every city of 50,000 or more population.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

TREATMENT OF POLIO VICTIMS

ALL who develop poliomyelitis are not left with serious handicaps. Thru improved treatment, crippling has been minimized so that at least three-quarters of those afflicted make a satisfactory recovery. Many patients are discharged at the end of the isolation period, which ranges from two to four weeks. Others are not so fortunate and must remain under care for months or years.

It is of utmost importance that all cases be handled adequately. The program usually requires hospitalization, not necessarily in special institutions. Most large hospitals thruout the country are capable of doing a splendid job. Should an epidemic occur, the National Foundation will lend its services, including a group of volunteer physicians who are trained along this line.

Treatment during the acute phase is not too satisfactory. In pneumonia, fever can be reduced quickly with penicillin or the sulfas. The same might be said of other diseases due to the streptococcus or the staphylococcus. But this is not true in infantile paralysis, for which there are no magic drugs. The organisms are located within certain cells in the spinal cord and brain. The aftermath is not only marked irritation and spasms of large muscles but also paralysis.

Many methods to combat the illness have been offered. A recent report by Robinson is encouraging altho hardly enough patients have been studied to make the results conclusive. Assuming that the involved tissues in the nervous system are swollen, he decided to see what effect dehydration would have. To accomplish this he limited the amount of fluids which the youngsters were to drink and in addition admnistered a concentrated sugar solution by vein.

In the early stages, hot fomentations (Kenny plan) afford considerable alleviation of distressful symptoms, principally by lessening muscle spasms. But the therapy does not stop here. If irreparable damage has taken place, paralysis appears regardless of the type of management. Other muscles are weakened thru partial paralysis, overstretching, spasm, or swelling of the nerve tissues. These need continued relaxation and reeducation. Thru constant care this can be accomplished in the majority of cases. The latter is sometimes long and tedious and demands the cooperation of the patient and his family. In others, the abnormality may disappear spontaneously and it is often difficult to give credit where credit is due. Much depends upon the individual and the findings after the first few weeks of the illness.

During the first six to 12 months every attempt must be made to restore the damaged tissues. But paralysis which persists after a year's time is likely to be permanent altho occasionally improvement continues for two or three years. As a final resort, braces, crutches, or operations may be necessary.

In the future let us hope that we will be able to prevent the disorder entirely. If this is not possible, perhaps it can be minimized so that those who are afflicted will suffer only a mild form with little or no residual symptoms. In the meantime, we must be content with treating the after-effects in the hope of aiding all victims to become useful and happy citizens.

STAINED OR NOT

R .T. writes: You often mention gram negative and gram positive bacteria. I do not understand what this means. Will you please explain?

REPLY

Some years ago Hans Christian Gram, a Danish bacteriologist, devised a method of staining organisms so that they could be identified under the microscope. They are treated successively with a dye such as gelatin violet, iodine, and alcohol. The "bugs" that exhibit a deep purple are referred to as "gram positive" and those that do not retain the dye are "gram negative." Among the common gram positive varieties are streptococci, staphylococci, pneumococci, and the bacilli responsible for diphtheria and tuberculosis. Gram negative types include gonococci, meningococci, and the species causing typhoid, bacillary dysentery, and undulent fever.

PREGNANCY AND VEINS

Mrs. M. writes: Does pregnancy make varicose veins worse? Why?

REPLY

Yes. Any pressure in the abdomen, whether it is due to pregnancy or tumor formation, may impede the flow of blood from the lower extremities. As a result, these passageways dilate. Since a varicosed vein is already stretched, the condition may be aggravated.

GLUTAMIC ACID

X. Y. Z. writes: Is glutamic acid found in vegetables or fruits? Is it a vitamin?

REPLY

The substance is a normal constituent of the diet but is not a vitamin. It is used in various conditions and is prescribed frequently when the stomach lacks hydrochloric acid.

THE WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By JOHN D. SMALL

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30—One of the most unexpected things that has ever happened to me has been to be invited to write a column for Drew (obfuscation spelled sideways) Pearson. There is no point in my trying to compete with the crack-making expert so I will write about my own field—production—and try to give you a clear picture of the progress industrial America is making back to free enterprise.

Our country's industrial production recovered sharply in June to a new post-war peak and in July production climbed still further to a point higher than our best pre-war year. In August production has steadily increased. The outlook is heartening if nothing occurs to rock the boat, and if production is allowed to continue without interruption for at least the next five or six months.

In the case of many products we are now producing far more than pre-war, and in the case of others we are producing less. Products being produced at high speed are those which do not require the use of scarce materials. Industry is still plagued with shortages created, or intensified, during the widespread labor-management disputes throughout the first half of this year, and these shotages are slowing down production of many things we need the most.

For example, there simply isn't enough sheet steel to go around in spite of the fact that steel is now being produced at a very high rate. As a result, considerably fewer automobiles, refrigerators, washing machines, and many other consumer items are being produced. Similar shortages of copper and lumber are also slowing up production.

Rumors crop up every week or so that goods are being withheld from the market, that speculative hoarding on a wide scale is going on. It simply is not true. On the whole, over-all inventories at every level—manufacturer, wholesaler, and retailer—are lower today per dollar sale than they were pre-war.

Every now and then someone starts a rumor that enormous quantities of scarce goods are being exported. Again—it simply is not true. All the agencies of government that are concerned are watching exports of scarce materials very carefully, and are alert to stop any undue drain that might be harmful to our economy.

Retail sales are continuing at record-breaking high levels. The public is ravenous for the goods it was unable to obtain during the war years. In consequence, retail stores are drained of scarce items as rapidly as they are put on sale.

Take men's suits, for example. The demand is terrific, yet the facts are that in the first six months of 1946 there were produced about 11,500,000 men's suits, plus 3,500,000 separate coats, and 11,000,000 separate pants (a total well above pre-war peak production). The veterans are still having a tough time getting outfitted. The situation would be greatly eased if every man who does not absolutely have to have a new suit would refrain from buying for the next two or three months, and give the veteran a chance to get outfitted for college or a job.

Housing Crisis

The desperate need for housing is too well known to need repetition. Many factors are retarding home building. For instance, restrictive codes and ordinances; shortages of skilled labor; lack of a sufficient number of apprentices; rising costs of home building, including both materials and labor; and last, but not least, shortages of materials. CPA has jurisdiction over only the last of these factors.

Ever since V.E.-Day, CPA has been using its powers to increase the supply of building materials. The results are clear. Ever since mid-summer of 1945 the production of building material has been increasing steadily and substantially. If all goes well and building material production continues to increase steadily, shortages of building materials will become less and less a retarding factor in home building and other factors will assume increasing importance.

At present and for some time ahead material shortages will plague us. For this reason the CPA must still continue to hold down non-housing construction. Only those projects that are absolutely essential and non-deferable can be authorized to go ahead. All such projects are reviewed by a CPA committee of unpaid outstanding citizens familiar with local necessities. So that the public is kept informed, a newspaperman sits on each such committee.

Both in this column and elsewhere a lot has been written about the CPA control order. Everyone knows that the veterans need jobs as well as homes. Everyone admits that a certain amount of commercial, industrial and educational construction must go ahead. The $64 question is "How much?"

It would be disastrous if, in our eagerness to build homes for veterans, we wrecked their chances to earn a living. CPA's operation of its construction control order will be guided by the belief that veterans' housing and the minimum essential reconversion of industry and commerce can and must go forward together.

Answers Critics

Upon occasions, we have been criticized for not stopping construction which was under way prior to the issuance of our order. In my opinion, for the government to step in and stop construction already legally under way would not be fair or equitable. Many veterans with whom I have discussed this matter agree with CPA's position.

So long as building materials are scarce every citizen who wants to help veterans' housing can do it by deferring all the construction, repair, or main-

"It Says Here"

By BOB HOPE

In the last few months there has been a definite "back to the farm" movement going on with even Hollywood joining in. The rage now is playing "summer stock"—that's vaudeville with real eggs.

All the stars are doing it, and it's really great—you're up with the chickens and out with the chicks. I played this summer stock in a little place called "The Red Barn"—in fact, it's been in the red ever since. I wasn't exactly playing summer stock——I had just finished a split week at the Palace and needed a place to hide.

It was pretty tough playing those barns—while I was doing my act they had a rooster crowing to keep the audience awake.

Seriously, though, the summer theater is a wonderful testing ground for young talent and a challenge to motion picture stars. Being in front of live audiences demands great acting skill as there isn't any opportunity for retakes. Besides, the country audience usually has an ample supply of fresh vegetables on hand.

The movie stars go over big out in the country, and I understand Frank Sinatra is in great demand among summer theaters—it seems the crowds are getting out of hand.

We'll soon have summer theaters springing up all across the country and farmers are really excited about the prospect. Yes sir, it looks like a bumper crop of turkeys this year.

Black Market In Automobiles And Possible Causes

By MARK SULLIVAN

Early this week, enforcement agents of the office of Price Administration began a drive "to wipe out a mammoth black market" in automobiles. Descending upon a little South Carolina town of some 1200 people, a tiny detail of the market as a whole, the agents, with marked money, bought used automobiles for prices that tell their own story—a 1941 Plymouth sedan for $1400, a 1941 Chevrolet for $1375. In the black market as a whole, the agents say, prices run from 25 per cent upward in excess of ceiling prices. Something like 37½ million dollars worth of automobiles have been sold for about $90,000,000.

Concrete Vivid Example

To let this pass as a sensational example of a widespread illegal practice would be a pity. For it is an especially concrete and vivid example of a deep-lying condition.

Why does a black market in automobiles exist? The answer is simple and single. The cause is scarcity. If automobiles were not scarce there would be no black market, no opportunity for those who carry on the illegal traffic. Citizens could buy automobiles, new ones or used ones, at normal prices.

Why does a scarcity of automobiles exist? Again the answer is simple and single. It is strikes in the automobile industry (with strikes in other industries as a contributory cause.)

Industry Repeatedly Pushed Down

A strike in the largest unit of the automobile industry, General Motors, stopped production for more than a hundred days, from November into March. Before production could get under way, a strike in an industry basic to automobiles, steel, caused further postponement of production. Again, before the automobile industry could get under way, yet another strike in another basic industry, coal interfered with the making of automobiles. And throughout, many strikes in smaller industries making parts for automobiles (interrupted production. The automobile industry was as Mr. Fulton Lewis puts it, like a giant ready to move but repeatedly pushed down before it could get on its feet.

All this can be reduced to figures. During the war, production of automobiles for civilian use was practically suspended, as a war measure. A deficit of many millions of automobiles plied up. When the end of the war was in sight the War Production Board gave permission for production of a limited number of civilian cars—250,000 to be made by the end of December last year. Actually, the number produced was only 88,795. But the comparative slightness of these figures is far short of a true index of what has happened. The number of automobiles that could have been made by today, that could have been on the roads and freely open for sale to buyers, that would have prevented any black market and any abnormal prices, runs into millions.

Contributory Causes of Scarcity

What is said here is about a single condition, scarcity, in a single line of goods, automibiles, as arising from a single cause, strikes. Another condition, the wage raises for which strikes were conducted, is at once not pertinent yet pertinent. In some other lines of goods, wages raises, and the higher prices they lead to, are a contributory cause of scarcity. And these wage raises and increases in prices; has an effect of their own which is another factor in the broad condition.

Unions and their leaders strike for wage raises, and get them. Quickly they find that, as one union put it, the wage raise "evaporates." It is consumed in the form of increases in the prices of goods, in the cost of living. Seeing this, unions and leaders propose yet further wage raises. Within four months after the union of automobile workers had struck for a wage raise and got one, a local union in that industry prepared to demand another raise and continue to the present time. The new raise, if got, would repeat what happened before, another rise in the upward spiral of inflation.

Some spokesmen for workers, seeing the futility of wage raises in terms of money, begin to speak of a raise in "real wages." This is the beginning of wisdom. "Real wages" means more goods. And the way to bring about more goods is to refrain from strikes. What this country could have produced during the year since the end of the war is almost beyond imagining. What has happened is a tragedy of history.

Conditions Are Widespread

The condition we suffer from extends into practically every line. In some kinds of goods are scarcities and excessive prices. The quantity of food farmers have been able to produce has been reduced by two strikes, in factories making farm implements. One in the J. I. Case Company has lasted more than eight months, since the day after Christmas last year. The other in Allis-Chalmers, has lasted since April 29th. All to the detriment of every farmer and every consumer of foods, without advantage to any worker, without possibility of advantage in "real wages," even if the strikers should win their demands.

Free Speech Right Flagrantly Disregarded By Government Acts

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30—Oliver Wendell Holmes, the great jurist whose liberalism is universally acknowledged, once said from the bench of the Supreme Court of the United States that freedom of speech is "freedom for the thought we hate."

But the National Labor Relations Board, in its latest decision in effect takes issue with that idea. It calls the making of a speech about union matters by an employer to his employees during working hours a "coercive" act and not privileged by the constitution. The reason is that the audience was "compulsory" or "captive."

Just why American citizens must be protected against opinions they may not like and must be protected by the full force of the law from listening to an opinion with which they may differ, seems difficult to explain unless perchance it is that trade unionism in America cannot stand on its merits and that workers must be prevented at all costs from hearing a view other than that which the union organizers may present to them.

Decision Creates Suspicion

The latest Labor Relations Board decision creates the suspicion that maybe the employers occasionally do have an argument which may be persuasive with their employees but the workers must not be allowed to hear it. This is not a decision that will enhance the prestige of the national labor relations board, nor will it tend to improve employer-employe relations in America. It savors too much of the theory so prevalent in Germany under the Nazis that the way to educate the people was to burn their books and keep them from reading any literature except that which a totalitarian authority, protected by law, permitted them to read.

Excerpt From Decision

Here is an excerpt from the board's decision in the case of Clark Brothers, a manufacturing establishment located at Olean, N. Y.:

"We are also of the opinion, and find, that the conduct of the respondent (the employer) in compelling its employees to listen to a speech on self-organization under the circumstances hereinabove outlined and as more fully revealed in the intermediate report, independently constitutes interference, restraint, and coercion with the meaning of the act (the Wagner Labor Relations law) . . .

"The board has long recognized that 'the rights guaranteed to the employees by the act include the full freedom to receive aid, advice, and information from others concerning those rights and their enjoyment.' Such freedom is meaningless, however, unless the employees are also free to determine whether or not to receive such aid, advice, and information. To force employees to receive such aid, advice, and information impairs that freedom; it is calculated to, and does, interfere with the selection of a representative of the employees' choice. And this is so, wholly apart from the fact that the speech itself may be privileged under the constitution."

Doubts Capacity of Citizens

The decision apparently doubts the capacity of American citizens to listen to a speech and disregard it if they like. Something must be wrong with the minds of American workers that an official board in Washington declares in effect that, once having listened to a speech, the listener is incapable of rejecting its argument and must be protected by law against a thought he dislikes.

Gerard Reilly, retiring member of the labor board, wrote a vigorous dissent in which he declared that the supreme court of the United States had settled the issue in a case known as Thomas vs. Collins and in another ruling in the American tube bending case.

"This board," writes Mr. Reilly, "eventually acquiesced in this decision and for a time ceased to set aside elections or to issue cease and desist orders against employers who made anti-union speeches or circulated anti-union literature, if they refrained from threats or intimidatory conduct. Recently, however, there has been a disturbing tendancy by the board to return to its old line of decisions on the theory that because there was some minor aspect of interference, a speech should be viewed as part of a 'pattern of coercive conduct,' even in cases where it was clear that the offending speech was only coercive or 'inextricably intertwined' in the most highly metaphorical sense.' Such findings have been made even where employers were confronted with highly inflammatory union literature, although one of the foremost labor lawyers in the country recognized, in a recent article in the official organ of the A. F. or L., that 'if freedom of speech is to survive for trade unions and their members, it must not be denied, directly or indirectly, to employers'."

The Clark case is likely to be made the basis for legislative action when Congress reconvenes, though it is puzzling to figure out how Congress can safeguard by law the right of free speech which is already guaranteed by the constitution but is now flagrantly disregarded by a government board.

Something To Live For

Happy interests not only keeps us well alive, but they help enormously to add to our years. When you hear someone say that he has nothing to live for, that no one really cares for him, then you may know that he is grooming himself for the grave. At such a time, some happy suggestion may be the means of giving to that one a new birth.

Every one of us may become an ambassador of good will in the world, self-appointed! By doing someone else a good turn, we elevate ourselves. We add to our incentive, and we feel that we have something to live for. We invest in ourselves, and give out the interest to others. That makes us a going concern!

Every useful thing that we do, everyhing that we extract from experience, from books, from people, and from the thoughts that are stimulated by others, increases our worth, and gives to us further evidence that we have something to live for. Whenever we get to the point when we pity ourselves, or think ourselves neglected, we court disease. Busy folks, doing work that they like, need no other medicine to keep them alive and happy. Someone else there always is, who has more troubles than we do, and who probably faces them with great grace and courage. We need to be a little ashamed of ourselves at times.

When in college I went often to read to a blind man, and I noted that afterwards I always saw better with my seeing eyes! I marvel at the amount of literary work turned out by Lafcadio Hearn, who had only the half of one eye with which to read and write. But not until he gained the position of teaching Japanese students the beauty of English literature, did he actually find himself and glory in the opportunity to serve. Then life meant something to him, for he had something to live for.

A happy hobby is a great lifter, for it is contagious. Your enthusiasm spreads and radiates. And when that hobby is people, your entire world enlarges!

ALWAYS—LOVE

I keep it in a quiet corner of the room, under the picture of a face I loved.

It is a small, round, earthen jar, black with age, tightly sealed save for two spouts. Nobody knows what it is when first they see it. I did not know. It was brought to me by a seafaring man. He found it in Peru . . . not in the regular shops, but in a native hut, amongst a pile of rubbish.

The people in the house—they were poor Indians—were disturbed when he found it. They looked at each other strangely, a little fearfully. But he got it out of them at last. The thing had been found in an old grave, a very old grave, deep in the recesses of the hills. There were many graves there—of a strange people who had passed that way long ago. The Indians did not know who these people were. But the sailor man guessed . . . marveling . . feeling his flesh creep a bit as he touched the old, blackened clay. Incas?

There were many graves, they repeated. In nearly all the graves there were jars like this. But the vessels themselves were no great novelty. It was still the custom to place jars like these with the dead. Tear jars, they were . . . so that the dead might carry with them, on their darkened trail, a token from the love that longed to follow.

Tear jars, in Inca graves. How old? How many years since some brown, savage hand worked on that piece of clay? How many years since some poor, savage heart stored there its grief?

So many years. And so much happening in those years. So much of pain and glory—so much of pain and loss. Wars, conquests, wealth that still hangs its glittering mirage above human history—then desolation blotting out the record of it all. Great cities going back into the sand.

A lizard scuttling where a jeweled throne had stood. And then more wars—more marching feet—new cities springing from the ashes of the old—new wisdom and new riches and a new night.

But always—love.

Always love—thatching a hut in the jungle, moving with pomp through a palace . . . dreaming, wrapt in sheep skins, on some lonely plain . . . laughing by a cradle . . weeping by a grave.

Everything else, changing. Nations changing. Customs changing. Power changing. Even the face of the earth changing. Love, alone, not changing. Love always the same. Always love, going on and on, through every trail of life, trying even to follow the strange dark trail of death. Always love persisting in spite of all the penalties of life, in spite of all the pangs of death. Everything else perishing beneath penalties and pangs . . . love alone persisting.

Thousands of years between those tears which filled this clay—and mine. But love links them all. Love survives them all. Then shall we fear a miracle like this will last no longer than our fragile flesh and bone?

City Council Should Approve Anti-Smoke Law

We have no doubt that the City Council will give final approval to the anti-smoke ordinance when it is next taken up for consideration. It is hoped little delay will be encountered in action on an instrument aimed at giving the people of Cumberland relief from the dirt and grim that continue to overspread the city.

The ordinance was whipped into, what we have been given to understand, final form for its adoption. A clause that would have made railroad firemen subject to fines of $100 for violations of the law has been removed. Thus, responsibility, in the ordinance's present form, for adherence to the act, has been placed on the railroad companies. For such violations the railroad companies are subject to fines of $100. They, of course, will see to it that firemen do not violate the law, and in all probability the railroad companies will hold those engaged in the firing of locomotives equally responsible for violations. So in removing the clause relating to firemen the ordinance has not been weakened insofar as its intent and purpose is concerned.

Operation of equipment on locomotives to reduce the outpouring of smoke to a minimum is not difficult, and it has recently been announced that overfire air jets which eliminate smoke are a practical success. They have been installed on more than a thousand locomotives, and many installations have been made on stationary boilers. The jets of air are shot over a fire, right above the coals, supplying enough air and mixing action to completely burn the smoke in the furnace chamber. This principal has been extended to make household stoves smokeless.

The principle of the smokeless stove can best be demonstrated by an individual with a lighted cigaret. Blow air through the cigaret and you'll produce little or no smoke. Draw on the cigaret and see what happens. In the smokeless heater, air for combustion is admitted at the top. It is forced down through the unburned coal to the combustion zone just above the grate. The movement of air forces the smoke through the combustion zone, where heat and air are available to burn it. So with a locomotive.

It is hoped the city council will approve the ordinance when it is next taken up in order that the railroad companies will have ample time between then and April 1, 1947, to equip the coal burning locomotives with the overfire air jets called for.

In the meantime, the commissioners should give further thought to finding whatever revenue might be required for setting up an anti-smoke department, properly manned, that will eventually make smoke, that is slowly but surely placing a black veil over Cumberland and which could easily become a shroud, a forgotten nuisance.

As proof that the world is made of durable stuff, scientists now say it will endure for at least 1,700,000,000 years longer.

Real Leadership At Peace Parley Needed

While the four great powers, notably the United States, are reluctant to "steamroller" the Paris peace conference, that course seems to offer the only hope of important accomplishment. The word is to be welcomed, therefore, that the foreign ministers of the United States, Great Britain, Soviet Russia and France are planning to meet separately and attempt to provide some effective leadership for a meeting which is badly out of hand.

Even this program contains no guaranty of success. The Big Four, in a way, are no less at odds than their smaller nations and are not likely to reach quick agreements on major issues. But they can, if they are so minded and will show a united front, force the conference to get down to the business for which it was called. This is not to suggest that they actually write the peace treaties themselves. Rather it is a case of supplying the drive and direction which are so urgently needed.

It will be particularly helpful if some way can be found to put a stop to the name-calling and clash of personalities which so far have been the distinguishing marks of the conference. These exchanges get the delegates nowhere. Indeed, they make the ultimate task more difficult and if long continued may make it impossible of achievement.

Add Ho Hum Items: OPA is employing a large force of investigators to hunt black markets.

Cleveland Inaugurates Jail Inmates' Clinic

Cleveland has inaugurated a program under which all drunks and vagrants arrested in the Ohio city are to be examined physically immediately in the new city jail clinic. It was established because too many arrested persons had died in jail who should have been treated in hospitals.

It is believed that the new program will also safeguard public health because communicable diseases afflicting persons arrested will be discovered. A physician will be on hand in the jail clinic and will decide at once whether a man is drunk or is a victim of disease or suffered an injury. His staff will include a nurse and an X-ray technician.

It is well known that a person untrained in medical science cannot detect upon mere observation whether a person who is unconscious or semi-conscious is the victim of alcohol or is sick or suffering from a serious injury.

The plan benefits the police because they no longer need to be in doubt about such a matter. It is well known that when a person arrested for being drunk dies in a police cell, the public is inclined to blame the police for not having been more diligent in ascertaining the facts.

That the plan will safeguard public health is obvious. A person suffering from active tuberculosis, for instance, can give the disease to many other persons. Since many down-and-outers do not get sufficient food, they are especially vulnerable to tuberculosis and other diseases.

The Cleveland plan is not applicable to all communities, because of the cost, but it should be in effect in every city of 50,000 or more population.

TREATMENT OF POLIO VICTIMS

ALL who develop poliomyelitis are not left with serious handicaps. Thru improved treatment, crippling has been minimized so that at least three-quarters of those afflicted make a satisfactory recovery. Many patients are discharged at the end of the isolation period, which ranges from two to four weeks. Others are not so fortunate and must remain under care for months or years.

It is of utmost importance that all cases be handled adequately. The program usually requires hospitalization, not necessarily in special institutions. Most large hospitals thruout the country are capable of doing a splendid job. Should an epidemic occur, the National Foundation will lend its services, including a group of volunteer physicians who are trained along this line.

Treatment during the acute phase is not too satisfactory. In pneumonia, fever can be reduced quickly with penicillin or the sulfas. The same might be said of other diseases due to the streptococcus or the staphylococcus. But this is not true in infantile paralysis, for which there are no magic drugs. The organisms are located within certain cells in the spinal cord and brain. The aftermath is not only marked irritation and spasms of large muscles but also paralysis.

Many methods to combat the illness have been offered. A recent report by Robinson is encouraging altho hardly enough patients have been studied to make the results conclusive. Assuming that the involved tissues in the nervous system are swollen, he decided to see what effect dehydration would have. To accomplish this he limited the amount of fluids which the youngsters were to drink and in addition administered a concentrated sugar solution by vein.

In the early stages, hot fomentations (Kenny plan) afford considerable alleviation of distressful symptoms, principally by lessening muscle spasms. But the therapy does not stop here. If irreparable damage has taken place, paralysis appears regardless of the type of management. Other muscles are weakened thru partial paralysis, overstretching, spasm, or swelling of the nerve tissues. These need continued relaxation and reeducation. Thru constant care this can be accomplished in the majority of cases. The latter is sometimes long and tedious and demands the cooperation of the patient and his family. In others, the abnormality may disappear spontaneously and it is often difficult to give credit where credit is due. Much depends upon the individual and the findings after the first few weeks of the illness.

During the first six to 12 months every attempt must be made to restore the damaged tissues. But paralysis which persists after a year's time is likely to be permanent altho occasionally improvement continues for two or three years. As a final resort, braces, crutches, or operations may be necessary.

In the future let us hope that we will be able to prevent the disorder entirely. If this is not possible, perhaps it can be minimized so that those who are afflicted will suffer only a mild form with little or no residual symptoms. In the meantime, we must be content with treating the after-effects in the hope of aiding all victims to become useful and happy citizens.

STAINED OR NOT

R. T. writes: You often mention gram negative and gram positive bacteria. I do not understand what this means. Will you please explain?

REPLY

Some years ago Hans Christian Gram, a Danish bacteriologist, devised a method of staining organisms so that they could be identified under the microscope. They are treated successively with a dye such as gelatin violet, iodine, and alcohol. The "bugs" that exhibit a deep purple are referred to as "gram positive" and those that do not retain the dye are "gram negative." Among the common gram positive varieties are streptococci, staphylococci, pneumococci, and the bacilli responsible for diphtheria and tuberculosis. Gram negative types include gonococci, meningococci, and the species causing typhoid, bacillary dysentery, and undulent fever.

PREGNANCY AND VEINS

Mrs. M. writes: Does pregnancy make varicose veins worse? Why?

REPLY

Yes. Any pressure in the abdomen, whether it is due to pregnancy or tumor formation, may impede the flow of blood from the lower extremities. As a result, these passageways dilate. Since a varicosed vein is already stretched, the condition may be aggravated.

GLUTAMIC ACID

X. Y. Z. writes: Is glutamic acid found in vegetables or fruits? Is it a vitamin?

REPLY

The substance is a normal constituent of the diet but is not a vitamin. It is used in various conditions and is prescribed frequently when the stomach lacks hydrochloric acid.

Production Outlook Heartening, John D. Small, CPA Administrator Says; Warns Against Rocking Boat; Steel, He Declares, Still a Problem

By JOHN D. SMALL

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30—One of the most unexpected things that has ever happened to me has been to be invited to write a column for Drew (obfuscation spelled sideways) Pearson. There is no point in my trying to compete with the crack-making expert so I will write about my own field—production—and try to give you a clear picture of the progress industrial America is making back to free enterprise.

Our country's industrial production recovered sharply in June to a new post-war peak and in July production climbed still further to a point higher than our best pre-war year. In August production has steadily increased. The outlook is heartening if nothing occurs to rock the boat, and if production is allowed to continue without interruption for at least the next five or six months.

In the case of many products we are now producing far more than pre-war, and in the case of others we are producing less. Products being produced at high speed are those which do not require the use of scarce materials. Industry is still plagued with shortages created, or intensified, during the widespread labor-management disputes throughout the first half of this year, and these shortages are slowing down production of many things we need the most.

For example, there simply isn't enough sheet steel to go around in spite of the fact that steel is now being produced at a very high rate. As a result, considerably fewer automobiles, refrigerators, washing machines, and many other consumer items are being produced. Similar shortages of copper and lumber are also slowing up production.

Rumors crop up every week or so that goods are being withheld from the market, that speculative hoarding on a wide scale is going on. It simply is not true. On the whole, over-all inventories at every level—manufacturer, wholesaler, and retailer—are lower today per dollar sale than they were pre-war.

Every now and then someone starts a rumor that enormous quantities of scarce goods are being exported. Again—it simply is not true. All the agencies of government that are concerned are watching exports of scarce materials very carefully, and are alert to stop any undue drain that might be harmful to our economy.

Retail sales are continuing at record-breaking high levels. The public is ravenous for the goods it was unable to obtain during the war years. In consequence, retail stores are drained of scarce items as rapidly as they are put on sale.

Take men's suits, for example. The demand is terrific, yet the facts are that in the first six months of 1946 there were produced about 11,500,000 men's suits, plus 3,500,000 separate coats, and 11,000,000 separate pants (a total well above pre-war peak production). The veterans are still having a tough time getting outfitted. The situation would be greatly eased if every man who does not absolutely have to have a new suit would refrain from buying for the next two or three months, and give the veteran a chance to get outfitted for college or a job.

Housing Crisis

The desperate need for housing is too well known to need repetition. Many factors are retarding home building. For instance, restrictive codes and ordinances; shortages of skilled labor; lack of a sufficient number of apprentices; rising costs of home building, including both materials and labor; and last, but not least, shortages of materials. CPA has jurisdiction over only the last of these factors.

Ever since V.E.-Day, CPA has been using its powers to increase the supply of building materials. The results are clear. Ever since mid-summer of 1945 the production of building material has been increasing steadily and substantially. If all goes well and building material production continues to increase steadily, shortages of building materials will become less and less a retarding factor in home building and other factors will assume increasing importance.

At present and for some time ahead material shortages will plague us. For this reason the CPA must still continue to hold down non-housing construction. Only those projects that are absolutely essential and non-deferable can be authorized to go ahead. All such projects are reviewed by a CPA committee of unpaid outstanding citizens familiar with local necessities. So that the public is kept informed, a newspaperman sits on each such committee.

Both in this column and elsewhere a lot has been written about the CPA control order. Everyone knows that the veterans need jobs as well as homes. Everyone admits that a certain amount of commercial, industrial and educational construction must go ahead. The $64 question is "How much?"

It would be disastrous if, in our eagerness to build homes for veterans, we wrecked their chances to earn a living. CPA's operation of its construction control order will be guided by the belief that veterans' housing and the minimum essential reconversion of industry and commerce can and must go forward together.

Answers Critics

Upon occasions, we have been criticized for not stopping construction which was under way prior to the issuance of our order. In my opinion, for the government to step in and stop construction already legally under way would not be fair or equitable. Many veterans with whom I have discussed this matter agree with CPA's position.

So long as building materials are scarce every citizen who wants to help veterans' housing can do it by deferring all the construction, repair, or main-

"It Says Here"

By BOB HOPE

In the last few months there has been a definite "back to the farm" movement going on with even Hollywood joining in. The rage now is playing "summer stock"—that's vaudeville with real eggs.

All the stars are doing it, and it's really great—you're up with the chickens and out with the chicks. I played this summer stock in a little place called "The Red Barn"—in fact, it's been in the red ever since. I wasn't exactly playing summer stock——I had just finished a split week at the Palace and needed a place to hide.

It was pretty tough playing those barns—while I was doing my act they had a rooster crowing to keep the audience awake.

Seriously, though, the summer theater is a wonderful testing ground for young talent and a challenge to motion picture stars. Being in front of live audiences demands great acting skill as there isn't any opportunity for retakes. Besides, the country audience usually has an ample supply of fresh vegetables on hand.

The movie stars go over big out in the country, and I understand Frank Sinatra is in great demand among summer theaters—it seems the crowds are getting out of hand.

We'll soon have summer theaters springing up all across the country and farmers are really excited about the prospect. Yes sir, it looks like a bumper crop of turkeys this year.

Black Market In Automobiles And Possible Causes

By MARK SULLIVAN

Early this week, enforcement agents of the office of Price Administration began a drive "to wipe out a mammoth black market" in automobiles. Descending upon a little South Carolina town of some 1200 people, a tiny detail of the market as a whole, the agents, with marked money, bought used automobiles for prices that tell their own story—a 1941 Plymouth sedan for $1400, a 1941 Chevrolet for $1375. In the black market as a whole, the agents say, prices run from 25 per cent upward in excess of ceiling prices. Something like 37½ million dollars worth of automobiles have been sold for about $90,000,000.

Concrete Vivid Example

To let this pass as a sensational example of a widespread illegal practice would be a pity. For it is an especially concrete and vivid example of a deep-lying condition.

Why does a black market in automobiles exist? The answer is simple and single. The cause is scarcity. If automobiles were not scarce there would be no black market, no opportunity for those who carry on the illegal traffic. Citizens could buy automobiles, new ones or used ones, at normal prices.

Why does a scarcity of automobiles exist? Again the answer is simple and single. It is strikes in the automobile industry (with strikes in other industries as a contributory cause.)

Industry Repeatedly Pushed Down

A strike in the largest unit of the automobile industry, General Motors, stopped production for more than a hundred days, from November into March. Before production could get under way, a strike in an industry basic to automobiles, steel, caused further postponement of production. Again, before the automobile industry could get under way, yet another strike in another basic industry, coal interfered with the making of automobiles. And throughout, many strikes in smaller industries making parts for automobiles (interrupted production. The automobile industry was as Mr. Fulton Lewis puts it, like a giant ready to move but repeatedly pushed down before it could get on its feet.

All this can be reduced to figures. During the war, production of automobiles for civilian use was practically suspended, as a war measure. A deficit of many millions of automobiles piled up. When the end of the war was in sight the War Production Board gave permission for production of a limited number of civilian cars—250,000 to be made by the end of December last year. Actually, the number produced was only 88,795. But the comparative slightness of these figures is far short of a true index of what has happened. The number of automobiles that could have been made by today, that could have been on the roads and freely open for sale to buyers, that would have prevented any black market and any abnormal prices, runs into millions.

Contributory Causes of Scarcity

What is said here is about a single condition, scarcity. In a single line of goods, automobiles, as arising from a single cause, strikes. Another condition, the wage raises for which strikes were conducted, is at once not pertinent yet pertinent. In some other lines of goods, wages raises, and the higher prices they lead to, are a contributory cause of scarcity. And these wage raises and increases in prices, has an effect of their own which is another factor in the broad condition.

Unions and their leaders strike for wage raises, and get them. Quickly they find that, as one union put it, the wage raise "evaporates." It is consumed in the form of increases in the prices of goods, in the cost of living. Seeing this, unions and leaders propose yet further wage raises. Within four months after the union of automobile workers had struck for a wage raise and got one, a local union in that industry prepared to demand another raise and continue to the present time. The new raise, if got, would repeat what happened before, another rise in the upward spiral of inflation.

Some spokesmen for workers, seeing the futility of wage raises in terms of money, begin to speak of a raise in "real wages." This is the beginning of wisdom. "Real wages" means more goods. And the way to bring about more goods is to refrain from strikes. What this country could have produced during the year since the end of the war is almost beyond imagining. What has happened is a tragedy of history.

Conditions Are Widespread

The condition we suffer from extends into practically every line. In some kinds of goods are scarcities and excessive prices. The quantity of food farmers have been able to produce has been reduced by two strikes, in factories making farm implements. One in the J. I. Case Company has lasted more than eight months, since the day after Christmas last year. The other in Allis-Chalmers, has lasted since April 29th. All to the detriment of every farmer and every consumer of foods, without advantage to any worker, without possibility of advantage in "real wages," even if the strikers should win their demands.

Free Speech Right Flagrantly Disregarded By Government Acts

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30—Oliver Wendell Holmes, the great jurist whose liberalism is universally acknowledged, once said from the bench of the Supreme Court of the United States that freedom of speech is "freedom for the thought we hate."

But the National Labor Relations Board, in its latest decision in effect takes issue with that idea. It calls the making of a speech about union matters by an employer to his employees during working hours a "coercive" act and not privileged by the constitution. The reason is that the audience was "compulsory" or "captive."

Just why American citizens must be protected against opinions they may not like and must be protected by the full force of the law from listening to an opinion with which they may differ, seems difficult to explain unless perchance it is that trade unionism in America cannot stand on its merits and that workers must be prevented at all costs from hearing a view other than that which the union organizers may present to them.

Decision Creates Suspicion

The latest Labor Relations Board decision creates the suspicion that maybe the employers occasionally do have an argument which may be persuasive with their employees but the workers must not be allowed to hear it. This is not a decision that will enhance the prestige of the national labor relations board, nor will it tend to improve employer-employe relations in America. It savors too much of the theory so prevalent in Germany under the Nazis that the way to educate the people was to burn their books and keep them from reading any literature except that which a totalitarian authority, protected by law, permitted them to read.

Excerpt From Decision

Here is an excerpt from the board's decision in the case of Clark Brothers, a manufacturing establishment located at Olean, N. Y.:

"We are also of the opinion, and find, that the conduct of the respondent (the employer) in compelling its employees to listen to a speech on self-organization under the circumstances hereinabove outlined and as more fully revealed in the intermediate report, independently constitutes interference, restraint, and coercion with the meaning of the act (the Wagner Labor Relations law) . . .

"The board has long recognized that 'the rights guaranteed to the employees by the act include the full freedom to receive aid, advice, and information from others concerning those rights and their enjoyment.' Such freedom is meaningless, however, unless the employees are also free to determine whether or not to receive such aid, advice, and information. To force employees to receive such aid, advice, and information impairs that freedom; it is calculated to, and does, interfere with the selection of a representative of the employees' choice. And this is so, wholly apart from the fact that the speech itself may be privileged under the constitution."

Doubts Capacity of Citizens

The decision apparently doubts the capacity of American citizens to listen to a speech and disregard it if they like. Something must be wrong with the minds of American workers that an official board in Washington declares in effect that, once having listened to a speech, the listener is incapable of rejecting its argument and must be protected by law against a thought he dislikes.

Gerard Reilly, retiring member of the labor board, wrote a vigorous dissent in which he declared that the supreme court of the United States had settled the issue in a case known as Thomas vs. Collins and in another ruling in the American tube bending case.

"This board," writes Mr. Reilly, "eventually acquiesced in his decision and for a time ceased to set aside elections or to issue cease and desist orders against employers who made anti-union speeches or circulated anti-union literature, if they refrained from threats or intimidatory conduct. Recently, however, there has been a disturbing tendancy by the board to return to its old line of decisions on the theory that because there was some minor aspect of interference, a speech should be viewed as part of a 'pattern of coercive conduct,' even in cases where it was clear that the offending speech was only coercive or 'inextricably intertwined' in the most highly metaphorical sense.' Such findings have been made even where employers were confronted with highly inflammatory union literature, although one of the foremost labor lawyers in the country recognized, in a recent article in the official organ of the A. F. of L., that 'if freedom of speech is to survive for trade unions and their members, it must not be denied, directly or indirectly, to employers'."

The Clark case is likely to be made the basis for legislative action when Congress reconvenes, though it is puzzling to figure out how Congress can safeguard by law the right of free speech which is already guaranteed by the constitution but is now flagrantly disregarded by a government board.

Something To Live For

Happy interests not only keeps us well alive, but they help enormously to add to our years. When you hear someone say that he has nothing to live for, that no one really cares for him, then you may know that he is grooming himself for the grave. At such a time, some happy suggestion may be the means of giving to that one a new birth.

Every one of us may become an ambassador of good will in the world, self-appointed! By doing someone else a good turn, we elevate ourselves. We add to our incentive, and we feel that we have something to live for. We invest in ourselves, and give out the interest to others. That makes us a going concern!

Every useful thing that we do, everyhing that we extract from experience, from books, from people, and from the thoughts that are stimulated by others, increases our worth, and gives to us further evidence that we have something to live for. Whenever we get to the point when we pity ourselves, or think ourselves neglected, we court disease. Busy folks, doing work that they like, need no other medicine to keep them alive and happy. Someone else there always is, who has more troubles than we do, and who probably faces them with great grace and courage. We need to be a little ashamed of ourselves at times.

When in college I went often to read to a blind man, and I noted that afterwards I always saw better with my seeing eyes! I marvel at the amount of literary work turned out by Lafcadio Hearn, who had only the half of one eye with which to read and write. But not until he gained the position of teaching Japanese students the beauty of English literature, did he actually find himself and glory in the opportunity to serve. Then life meant something to him, for he had something to live for.

A happy hobby is a great lifter, for it is contagious. Your enthusiasm spreads and radiates. And when that hobby is people, your entire world enlarges!

ALWAYS—LOVE

I keep it in a quiet corner of the room, under the picture of a face I loved.

It is a small, round, earthen jar, black with age, tightly sealed save for two spouts. Nobody knows what it is when first they see it. I did not know. It was brought to me by a seafaring man. He found it in Peru . . . not in the regular shops, but in a native hut, amongst a pile of rubbish.

The people in the house—they were poor Indians—were disturbed when he found it. They looked at each other strangely, a little fearfully. But he got it out of them at last. The thing had been found in an old grave, a very old grave, deep in the recesses of the hills. There were many graves there—of a strange people who had passed that way long ago. The Indians did not know who these people were. But the sailor man guessed . . . marveling . . feeling his flesh creep a bit as he touched the old, blackened clay. Incas?

There were many graves, they repeated. In nearly all the graves there were jars like this. But the vessels themselves were no great novelty. It was still the custom to place jars like these with the dead. Tear jars, they were . . . so that the dead might carry with them, on their darkened trail, a token from the love that longed to follow.

Tear jars, in Inca graves. How old? How many years since some brown, savage hand worked on that piece of clay? How many years since some poor, savage heart stored there its grief?

So many years. And so much happening in those years. So much of pain and glory—so much of pain and loss. Wars, conquests, wealth that still hangs its glittering mirage above human history—then desolation blotting out the record of it all. Great cities going back into the sand.

A lizard scuttling where a jeweled throne had stood. And then more wars—more marching feet—new cities springing from the ashes of the old—new wisdom and new riches and a new night.

But always—love.

Always love—thatching a hut in the jungle, moving with pomp through a palace . . . dreaming, wrapt in sheep skins, on some lonely plain . . . laughing by a cradle . . weeping by a grave.

Everything else, changing. Nations changing. Customs changing. Power changing. Even the face of the earth changing. Love, alone, not changing. Love always the same. Always love, going on and on, through every trail of life, trying even to follow the strange dark trail of death. Always love persisting in spite of all the penalties of life, in spite of all the pangs of death. Everything else perishing beneath penalties and pangs . . . love alone persisting.

Thousands of years between those tears which filled this clay—and mine. But love links them all. Love survives them all. Then shall we fear a miracle like this will last no longer than our fragile flesh and bone?

The Republican compromise candidate for Senator will be former Supreme Court Justice William Bleakley, of Westchester county . . . tenance that he possibly can. In the aggregate the deferring of small jobs that require scarce materials would greatly ease the situation.

During the war industrial America had its problems—plenty of them—but they were solved. People were reasonable and tolerant and reconciled their differences. As a result, production soared to amazing heights.

Today industrial America has different, and in many ways more difficult, problems. Yet the need for production, for steady, sustained, all-out production; for a flood of goods at competitive prices, is greater now than ever before. Give us that flood of goods for the next five or six months, and we will have licked inflation and be on the high road leading toward sound prosperity, and the highest standard of living in the history of mankind.

We need not, we must not, fumble our country's golden opportunity and I, for one, am convinced that we will not.

Miss Erma J. Lloyd

Miss Erma J. Lloyd, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lloyd, 127 Spring street, Frostburg, has been selected as one of the 50 national finalists, from 120,000 entries in the second annual "Teen-timer Design-and Name-It contest, it was announced yesterday by the national contest headquarters in New York City.

Her original dress design named "Mid-Drift Time" has been voted by a famous board of fashion stylists serving as judges. She is now eligible for consideration for the first prize of a $250 bond and a trip to New York, with all expenses paid and one of the 30 nationa" prizes.

Contacted last evening Miss Lloyd said she had submitted approximately 10 designs in the contest last April. They included some sport shorts, school clothes and a couple mid-riffs, mostly in checks and plaids.

She described the winning design as being sketched with a high neckline and cap sleeves, featuring buttoning on the left side of the bodice; a bare mid-riff, and a long waisted skirt, fitted over the hips, with the skirt proper gathered. The skirt is buttoned on the right side, down to the gathers. The blouse and fitted part of the skirt were designed of a green and white checked material, and the skirt proper of a solid green. The buttons were white, ranging from small to large.

Miss Lloyd, who was graduated from Beall High School with the May class, majored in art, doing both drawings and paintings. She was a member of the Poster Club and was on the staff of the year book and monthly publication. She did all the drawings for the school paper, "Bell High Chimes," for which she was given a byline; and was one of two students drawing for the Beall High Mountaineer; as well as designing the scenery for the dramatic productions.

Since graduation, she has been employed by the H. C. Carl Studio and Photo Supplies store, where she does the picture tinting.

Contestants ranged from 11 to 17 years of age and their entries were judged upon the basis of their originality, styling, practicality and name appeal. The judges report that there is a definite trend toward femininity and grooming expressed in the young designers dress creations. Instead of the shapelessness of the sloppy joe sweater era, the high school girl shows a preference for slim, tiny waistlines accentuated by full skirts and dramatized by large belts. Natural shoulder lines top short sleeves or full blouse sleeves at bracelet or elbow length.

Femininity is also shown in the form of appliqued hearts and flowers, which the budding stylists placed upon pockets, collars and skirts, for a touch of gaity, while perky bows are featured at necklines. Huge patch pockets add hipline interest, and a few even placed one in back.

Color and design are also important to the future teentimer dress scene. Most popular shades are bright with red and flash blue leading the way. Geometric panels in contrasting colors tend to offset the solid tones of classic tailored frocks while other designs featuring novel use of stitching or buttons, the bigger the better.

Prizes amounting to $1,000 in United States Savings Bonds and stamps are to be awarded to the first 30 winning entries selected from among the finalists. The national winner will be announced September 7 over the NBC Teentimers Club radio program, at 11-11:30 o'clock. The first prize winner will spend the week of September 9 in New York and appear on the September 14 Teentimers Club program

Judges are celebrities of the New York fashion field and include Dorothy Roe, fashion editor, Associated Press; Epsie Kinard, women's editor, NEA Service; Matilda Taylor, Teen-Age editor, Women's Wear Daily; Thea Tyler, editor, Miss America Magazine; Vyvyan Donner, fashion editor, Fox-Movietone News; Toussia Pines, fashion editor, Modern Screen; Grace Norman, designer for Teentimer, Inc.; and Kate Smith, famous radio singing star.

Showers Honor Miss Ruth Denny

Miss Ruth Denny, bride-elect, is being honored with a number of showers. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett E. Denny, Ridgedale avenue, Miss Denny will become the bride of Dennis A. Griffin, son of Mrs. John W. Steppe, Greene street, September 18.

Mrs. Howard Zarger was hostess at a miscellaneous shower honoring Miss Denny, at her home, Centre street. A novel arrangement was used to present the shower gifts, the hostess having used a mop, sheets and pillow cases to create a resemblance of a bride, and hidden the gifts under "her" skirts. A buffet supper was served and garden flowers were used in the decorations of the table and house. Twelve guests attended.

A kitchen shower was given by Miss Eloise Oliver, at her home, Bedford road, in compliment to Miss Denny. The bridal motif was carried out in the all white flowers and tapers decorating the table, where covers were laid for 12 guests. It was also repeated in the white streamers cascading from the sprinkling can, suspended above the basket of gifts.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Allegany High School and Catherman's Business School and is employed on the office staff at Kelly-Springfield Tire Company.

Mr. Griffin is a graduate of St. Mary's High School and is a veteran of 32 months in the Army. He also is employed at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company.

Faye Hedrick Is Wed

Miss Faye Hedrick, daughter of Mrs. Pearl Hedrick, Hendricks, and the late Merrill Hedrick, became the bride of Leonard Miller, son of Mrs. Nora Miller, Dayton, O., in a double ring ceremony solemnized last Saturday evening in the First Methodist Church in Hendricks. Rev. James H. Lotspeich, pastor, officiated.

The bride, given in marriage by a friend of the family, Cecil M. Stalnaker, wore a gown of heavy white satin with long, tight-fitted sleeves ending in points at the wrist and a full marquisette skirt ending in a long train. She carried an old fashioned nosegay of white roses and baby's-breath and wore a pair of heirloom earrings as her only ornament.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother and grandmother for the wedding party and close friends of the couple. The couple left for a honeymoon to Eastern cities. For traveling, the bride wore a two-piece grey suit with matching accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

Pool Usage Drops As Season Closes

Marking the close of the summer season, yesterday was the final day for city playgrounds to be open, and the Constitution Park swimming pool will be closed after Labor Day, according to Commissioner Myers G. Light.

Pool attendance has declined because of continued cool weather in recent weeks, with the average temperature for the month so far being 69.2 degrees as compared to a 72.5 normal and 72.6 for last year. The mean maximum has been 82.2 degrees as compared to 86.7 last year, while the mean minimum has been 57 as compared to last year's 58.5 degrees.

For the fiscal month ending August 25, paid admissions to the pool totaled 4,198 as compared to 12,643 admissions for the previous month and 6,200 for August of last year.

The drop in revenue was not quite so great due to the increased fees charged this year. The net August revenue was $688.32 as compared to $2,053.56 the previous month and $682.16 for August, 1945.

The Celanese pool was closed several days ago because of cool weather.

Even with increased taxes included, the consumer pays one-third less today for a gallon of gas than in 1920.

A Cumberlander says he had a fantastic dream last night. He dreamt he was at the Paris conference and the boys were getting something accomplished.

Terminal Leave Pay Assistance Planned

Assistance to veterans in filling out application forms for enlisted men's terminal leave pay is being provided by the Maryland Veterans' Commission at the local office, 205 Liberty Trust building, Thomas F. Conlon, state service officer, said last night.

Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, is sponsoring the service jointly with the commission, and is providing the services of Miss Helen Kerr, former sergeant in the Women's Reserve of the Marine Corps and the first Allegany County girl to enlist in the Marines, in the office. She will assist Miss Virginia Meleri, commission secretary, and two notaries in filling out applications for ex-servicemen.

Starting yesterday, office hours will be maintained from 9 a. m. until 4 p. m. daily, except Saturday, for as long as is necessary, Conlon said.

Approximately 300 veterans have been assisted by the commission since the first of the week in making their applications. The Legion made arrangements with Conlon to hold office hours for veterans because over 200 ex-GI's swamped the post home Thursday night seeking aid in filling out the blanks Conlon said 204 were handled in three hours, but many more did not wait because of the long line of standees waiting their turn for assistance.

Conlon, Miss Kerr and Miss Meleri went to the Legion home in Frostburg last night to aid in filling out blanks and to set up a similar program for Frostburg veterans.

The state service officer said arrangements have been made to secure 7,000 forms for certified copies of discharges, which will be divided among Cumberland, Grantsville, Accident, Oakland, Kitzmiller, Westernport, Barton, Midland, Lonaconing and Frostburg.

A survey by the Bureau of Labor statistics shows that more than two million veterans are employed in manufacturing.

Each year in the U. S., the presses roll out a minimum of 2,679,522,200,000,000 words.

Pool Usage Drops As Season Closes

Marking the close of the summer season, yesterday was the final day for city playgrounds to be open, and the Constitution Park swimming pool will be closed after Labor Day, according to Commissioner Myers G. Light.

Pool attendance has declined because of continued cool weather in recent weeks, with the average temperature for the month so far being 69.2 degrees as compared to a 72.5 normal and 72.6 for last year. The mean maximum has been 82.2 degrees as compared to 86.7 last year, while the mean minimum has been 57 as compared to last year's 58.5 degrees.

For the fiscal month ending August 25, paid admissions to the pool totaled 4,198 as compared to 12,643 admissions for the previous month and 6,200 for August of last year.

The drop in revenue was not quite so great due to the increased fees charged this year. The net August revenue was $688.32 as compared to $2,053.56 the previous month and $682.16 for August, 1945.

The Celanese pool was closed several days ago because of cool weather.

Terminal Leave Pay Assistance Planned

Assistance to veterans in filling out application forms for enlisted men's terminal leave pay is being provided by the Maryland Veterans' Commission at the local office, 205 Liberty Trust building, Thomas F. Conlon, state service officer, said last night.

Fort Cumberland Post No. 13 American Legion, is sponsoring the service jointly with the commission, and is providing the services of Miss Helen Kerr, former sergeant in the Women's Reserve of the Marine Corps and the first Allegany County girl to enlist in the Marines, in the office. She will assist Miss Virginia Meleri, commission secretary, and two notaries in filling out applications for ex-servicemen.

Starting yesterday, office hours will be maintained from 9 a. m. until 4 p. m. daily, except Saturday, for as long as is necessary, Conlon said.

Approximately 300 veterans have been assisted by the commission since the first of the week in making their applications. The Legion made arrangements with Conlon to hold office hours for veterans because over 200 ex-GI's swamped the post home Thursday night seeking aid in filling out the blanks Conlon said 204 were handled in three hours, but many more did not wait because of the long line of standees waiting their turn for assistance.

Conlon, Miss Kerr and Miss Meleri went to the Legion home in Frostburg last night to aid in filling out blanks and to set up a similar program for Frostburg veterans.

The state service officer said arrangements have been made to secure 7,000 forms for certified copies of discharges, which will be divided among Cumberland, Grantsville, Accident, Oakland, Kitzmiller, Westernport, Barton, Midland, Lonaconing and Frostburg.

A survey by the Bureau of Labor statistics shows that more than two million veterans are employed in manufacturing.

Go to Church Sunday - Your Church - Any Church - But Go

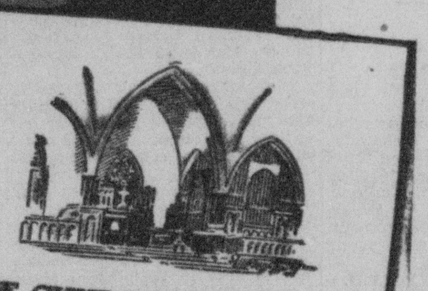
THEY'RE OFF TO SCHOOL

This little boy and girl are stepping out into the great wide world outside of home. They are off to school. Most of their early knowledge was acquired within the family circle and from intimate friends. Now they are beginning to learn what the great world outside has to teach.

It is the beginning of a long and difficult trail, beset by the myriad vicissitudes of human life. They will encounter the good and the bad, the false and the true. There will be the thrill of new experiences and the hard grind of the daily struggle for achievement.

It is a momentous day in the lives of those children. And much depends on what they have learned and will still learn from their home environment. Their ideals and mental attitudes and their reactions to people and things will reflect the spirit and character of the home.

That is why the home is so important in human life, and is the bulwark of the State and civilization. That is why every parent should feel a sacred obligation to teach his children truth and justice and righteousness. And that is why every home needs God and religion and the spiritual influence of the Church.



THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend and support the church of his choice. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church on Sunday.

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend and support the church of his choice. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church on Sunday.

Labor Federation Offers New Era Of Co-operation

But AFL, In Policy Statement, Asks Access To Employers' Books

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 (AP)—The American Federation of Labor offered today to "speed production, avoid strikes and negotiate wage increases within price ceilings" but asked for an occasional, confidential look at employers' books.

This policy of co-operation can succeed, the AFL said, "only if employers are ready to meet us half ways."

Its policy statement is set forth in its publication, "Labor's Monthly Survey." The federation declared:

"We say to American employers: we have offered to co-operate with you as partners in improving production. Show us the facts so we can know the results of our efforts. Give us production records so we can watch the increase due to our daily work.

Return Of Mines Urged

"Give us access to financial reports so we can see the income resulting from the joint production process. Share with us equitably as increasing income makes wage increases possible."

One big AFL-union, John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers, called today in its Journal for private operation of soft coal mines in preference to government control. The government took them under its wing last May in ending a 59-day strike.

Lewis has more negotiations with the operators coming up September 10.

A demand for an inspection of company books created a nation-wide uproar last winter when it became a major issue in the CIO-United Auto Workers strike against General Motors.

Walter P. Reuther, who spearheaded the strike and became president of the union, contended General Motors could grant workers a raise without boosting prices. And he demanded that the corporation open its books.

The company insisted its records should not be put on public display.

Measure Never Enacted

President Truman subsequently asked Congress for legislation which which would empower federal fact-finding boards to look into company books in trying to find formulas for settling major labor disputes. The measure, never enacted, also contemplated a 30-day ban on strikes while the boards were at work.

An AFL economist told a reporter:

"We are not proposing that the books be published, as Reuther did at one point in his strike. We merely want them to be shown to the unions."

The "Monthly Survey" argued that workers need the facts "if they are to formulate policies intelligently, make realistic wage demands, negotiate wage increases within price ceilings and avoid strikes."

The survey said profits very from 12 to 20 per cent in foods, chemicals, paper products, trades and services, and that this is evidence many companies can afford a wage increase without raising prices.

Coal Talks To Resume

In other industries such as automobiles and electrical equipment, it acknowledged, "some companies are operating at a deficit."

"When we have the facts," it said, "there are many ways unions can adjust policies so as to promote workers' progress without disrupting production."

Whether soft coal production comes to a halt once more depends on results of the negotiations beginning September 10. If these fail, the mine workers' Journal said, it will be the fault of southern operators, headed by Edward R. Burke, or the government.

The Journal said the southern operators want legislation to wipe out labor's protection in the Wagner, Norris-LaGuardia, and Wage-Hour Acts. The government, the Journal said, "stymied" normal labor relations during the war and still is attempting to control bargaining.

Man's Grave Opened So That He Could See Who Was In It

MILTON, Mass., Aug. 30 (AP) — Paul P. Goodwin's grave was opened today so that he could see who was in it.

A body sent from Bridgeport Conn., had been identified as Paul's by his wife, his sister and aunt and buried in the family lot July 8, Police Chief John B. Shields reported.

Today, police exhumed the corpse and asked Goodwin to help in identifying the dead man.

Goodwin identified him as "William Burke, 45, of Providence, R. I.," and said he last saw him several months ago in a Providence tavern. Goodwin said he lost his wallet containing identification papers that same night.

Police reported that the man buried in the Goodwin grave died of coronary thrombosis July 4 in Bridgeport and that identification papers in the name of Goodwin were found in his clothes.

O'Dwyer Plan May Avert Truck Strike

NEW YORK, Aug. 30—(AP)—A compromise proposal was advanced by Mayor William O'Dwyer tonight in an effort to forestall a paralyzing strike by 20,000 to 25,000 union truck drivers here next Tuesday and received quick approval from union officials.

The union leaders said they would recommend to their membership that the plan be accepted.

The Mayor's proposal, contained in telegrams sent to both groups, embraced the following points:

1. An hourly wage increase of 18½ cents for all grades of employes.

2. Reduction of the work week from 44 hours to 40, with an eight-hour day Monday through Friday, and time and a half pay for Saturday work, with a minimum of four hours' work guaranteed for all those called to work on Saturday.

3. Two weeks' vacation annually for those employed as much as 125 days.

Court-Martial Adjourns Without Sima Verdict

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Aug. 30—(AP)—The court-martial which tried Lt. William R. Sima, Sr., suspended Naval Academy band leader, adjourned today without reaching a verdict.

It will reconvene tomorrow at 9 a. m. to continue deliberating on the 10 charges against Sima, including perjury, extortion, falsehood, and violating several navy regulations.

If no decision is reached in the case by tomorrow noon, it was indicated the court would adjourn until Tuesday.

ting the starting times had given Eddy a 41-minute advantage.

Franklin said that all of the times would be rechecked. Indications were that under the corrected times Eddy would drop to fourth place behind Thomas Mayson, Burbank, flying a plane entered by Mantz, who averaged 408.6 miles an hour. Mayson was the first man across the finish line.

Jet Plane Averages 493.5 M.P.H.

Well ahead of the conventionally-powered planes in the Bendix race was a jet-propelled Army Air Force P-80 Shooting Star, piloted by Col. Leon W. Gray, Casa Grande, Ariz., commander of the 12th Photo Reconnaissance Squadron.

He flew the Bendix course in four hours, nine minutes, three seconds for an average speed of 493.5 miles an hour. His performance was for fun, since his military status precludes a cash reward, but will get a replica of the Bendix trophy and a medal. He landed with one minute of fuel left.

Lt. Col. Philip C. Loofburrow, West Point, Ga., of the First Fighter Group based at March Field, Calif., averaged 475 miles an hour, making the flight from Van Nuys in four hours, 18 minutes, 45 seconds.

The wave of price rises meanwhile hit the kiddie-car set with OPA announcing a 4.8 per cent increase on toy trucks, planes, tricycles, wagons, scooters, and other children's wheel goods made of metal.

Galoshes, artics, and other rubber footwear were removed from price control entirely under terms of the new price control law which requires the lifting of ceilings whenever supply balances demand.

Three Nations Complete Summations Against German Groups

NUERNBERG, Germany, Aug. 30 (AP) — The Nazi war crimes trials are expected to go to the International Military Tribunal tomorrow for a verdict after brief final statements by the 21 individual defendants headed by Hermann Goering.

The United States, Russia and France completed summations against the seven indicted German organizations in a session extended overtime today to assure an end of the hearings tomorrow.

Judge Francis Biddle, of the United States, and his British, Russian and French colleagues may spend two weeks writing a verdict. Death has been demanded for all the once mighty German leaders.

Gen. R. A. Rudenko, chief Russian prosecutor, asked the court to convict all seven Nazi organizations to "condemn the entire criminal system of German Fascism." Conviction of the organizations might mean conviction of their membership.

Rudenko ridiculed the defense of the organizations—the SS, the SA, the SD, Gestapo, German Cabinet, Nazi Leadership Corps and the high command and general staff—saying they had been pictured as clubs of noble men, orders of knights x x x sparkling with moral purity."

"Who then committed the murder of 12,000,000 peaceful people?" he asked. "Who tortured prisoners of war and deported millions of people for slave labor?"

Brig.Gen Telford Taylor summed up for the United States against the general staff and high command. He declared that Hitler always consulted the soldiers on new military plans and "military leaders not only participated in the plans; they were delighted with the results."

He said field commanders knew of atrocities and condoned them by not punishing the perpetrators.

The French summation asked for a "solemn and serene manifestation of justice."

Subsidies On Coal Shipments Revived

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 (AP) — Stabilization Director John R. Steelman today ordered subsides restored on transportation of coal to the New England and New York harbor areas.

The subsidies lapsed when the old OPA law expired last June 30.

"It appears that the maximum necessary supplies of coal for New England and the New York harbor area may not be obtained for the ensuing year unless this subsidy is continued," Steelman said in an order to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to resume the subsidy payments.

Presidential Yacht Heads For Washington

WITH PRESIDENT TRUMAN AT SEA, Aug. 30. (AP)—The yacht Williamsburg cut leisurely through the Atlantic tonight, carrying President Truman toward Washington and the end of an 18-day vacation on salt water.

The Williamsburg left Bermuda early this morning. Mr. Truman who spent eight days there, mixing as little work as possible with fishing, swimming, sun bathing and strolling.

The Williamsburg is due to clear the Virginia Capes around noon Sunday, stop briefly in Hampton Roads, then cruise up Chesapeake Bay and the Potomac. She is scheduled to dock in Washington about 5 p. m. (EST) Monday.

New York Hotel Musicians Vote To Strike Monday

Wage Negotiations Collapse; Hostelries Will Be Picketed

NEW YORK, Aug. 30 (AP)—A strike of musicians in 51 large New York hotels on Labor Day was voted today.

Wage negotiations between the hotels and the American Federation of Musicians (AFL) collapsed, and a strike was voted at a special membership meeting.

The vote authorized 3,000 musicians to put down their instruments at 12:01 a. m. Labor Day.

Richard McCann, union Local 802 president, said earlier after a negotiation conference:

"If a cessation of work results, the hotel men will have to bear sole responsibility."

It was said every hotel involved in the dispute would be picketed.

The union's executive board was authorized to call a strike against restaurants and night clubs if pending negotiations fail.

Harry Suber, strike benefit committee chairman, said the union had $1,000,000 ready to support the strike.

Hotel officials have said the union wants wage boosts ranging from 25 to 50 per cent.

McCann said "all the bands, up to the biggest name band" would be affected by a walkout. He said a strike would involve all musicians playing in hotels because they "are members of the union and won't cross picket lines."

Some of the hotels already have given two-week dismissal notices to scale and rhumba bands.

David Drechsler, counsel for most of the hotels, said they had declined to agree to a union proposal to "impose" a retroactivity provision.

Negro Is Sought In Attack On Girl

RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 30 (AP) — Detective Capt. O. D. Garton said more than 60 leads were being investigated by police today in an effort to apprehend the assailant who stabbed, beat with a brick and left for dead on a vacant lot Tuesday night 24-year-old Anne Maria Fowlkes, Richmond Junior Leaguer.

Garton said the girl gave a good description of the assailant and the knife he used, and had shown remarkable courage. Police said he was described by the girl as a negro about five feet four or five inches and of "dark chocolate" complexion.

The detective said the motive for the attack unquestionably was attempted rape, but that he had received no medical report.

Strike Of Bus Drivers Termed "Unauthorized"

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 (AP)—All drivers of the Washington, Marlboro and Annapolis Motor Lines, Inc., stopped work this afternoon, stranding several thousand homeward-bound employes at Andrews Field and other government agencies.

L. I. Altman, president and general manager of the line, announced the stoppage which he termed "unauthorized" and in violation of a year's contract signed in May.

Altman said the company was not informed of the purpose of the work stoppage by the 150 drivers, but added it may be in "sympathy with a carpenters' union which is picketing a bus garage construction project at the offices."

He said all the 53 buses were inoperative.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 30. — John Wayne, all well after that bad elbow and out of the hospital, is talking with John Ford about a picture to be made in Ireland. That would really be something. All John Ford ever has to do, as far as John Wayne is concerned, is beckon to him and he'll follow. I've never heard such raves over a director and a friend, as John gives John.

The plan as it stands now is set for next spring. The two Johns will make "the quiet one" in the beautiful country of Erin. Reminds me that Marion Davies and I looked up the kings of Ireland. The first one reigned in 452. Sorry to say there was nary a queen, only the ones who were married to the kings. P.S. I have an interview with Marion describing her as she is today, in next Sunday's Pictorial Review.

When Fred MacMurray spends $60,000 for a story, that's news! Fred is the thriftiest, smartest business man in our town and one of the most frequently told Hollywood stories is that he budgets himself on $40 a week and always has a big bankroll from the money he saves out of that allowance. The $60,000 Fred shelled out is for "Innocent Affair" by Lou Breslow and Joseph Hoffman. He'll make it as an independent venture. Just to show that MacMurray is plenty smart, he was offered $125,000 by another independent producer for the story, providing Fred would star in it.

What a wonderful friend Edgar Bergen is to those of us who are privileged to claim his friendship. I know, because he has proved his friendship for me on so many occasions. Now he is proving it in a very big way for his pal Ken Murray. Ken, you see, is making a movie, "Sagebrush Sam," a burlesque on all the super-colossal westerns, and Edgar is lending him Mortimer Snerd. Ken and his big cigar are the stars in this satire on horse operas which he is making for United Artists in conjunction with Dave Siegel. Can't wait to see Mortimer all sneered up as a cowboy.

Conversation at the Jack Warner dinner table the other eve centered around Cecil Beaton, who was one of the guests. Cecil did the decor for "Lady Windemere's Fan," which is playing in San Francisco, where he also made his debut as an actor. I asked Jack if he had any idea of bringing back this play, which starred Ronald Coleman and Irene Rich in the dear dead silent days of movies. Jack said he was considering doing a re-make, and I can tell you he has Bette Davis in mind, who picks and chooses her own. I met, at the Warners, the very good looking Alexandre Manzrarly, the French consul, and the attractive Henry Carvell, the new British consul general.

Chatter in Hollywood: Virginia Bruce, who seldom talks about the tragedies in her life, told me she didn't want to be married in the house where she lived so long. "After I sold it to Deanna Durbin," she said, "I felt I wanted to start my married life with Ali Ipar in my new house on Amalfi Drive." Poor Virginia. Let's hope all her bad luck happened before the marriage this time. Ali got away from the gendarmes long enough before his marriage to Virginia to have a bachelor supper tendered him at Harout's Har-Omar by Sadie Peck and Kemel Axel, school friends.

I am a little back on some of my news and I just heard yesterday that Mary Astor had been very sick with virus pneumonia. Now she's well enough to accept a job and she'll go into "Desert Town" for Hal Wallis with John Hodiak. Lizabeth Scott and Burt Lancaster. I saw Burt Lancaster in Mark Hellinger's picture, "The Killers". I want to avoid the crowd who will acclaim Burt, and be among the first to say he's a real discovery, and I couldn't be happier for Mark, who has such a good picture. Wonderful the way these newspaper men are turning out smash hits. "The Jolson Story", which Sidney Skolsky produced, is a honey. For entertainment it's high on my list of bests!

Here in California—In Long Beach to be exact—the first prefabricated theatre in the world will soon be built by Charles Skouras. I happened to hear about this 1200 seat house through R. H. McCullough, an associate of Charles, and an authority on these prefabricated structures. Mr. McCullough says the theatre will be cut at the mill and will be complete except for the foundation, which must, of course, be built. How wonderful to be able to have a theatre in two-and-a-half months as against a possible year in the old days. I'll say for Charles Skouras, he is up to the minute in everything connected with movie houses.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Director Fritz Lang is plenty burned over the ending of the Gary Cooper-Lilli Palmer opus, "Cloak and Dagger". Up to today, producer Milton Sperling and Fritz were Miles apart .... Greta Garbo is having her wish to be alone while she is the guest of Max Gumpel, millionaire building engineer in Sweden, Huge bloodhounds guard the entrance of the Gumpel estate ....General Jonathan Wainwright and his wife and aide are center of much attention at the Brown Derby ....Mrs. Howard Hawks, discoverer of Lauren Bacall, and wife of the well known director, is the only individual consumer to get an award from Neiman-Marcus, Texas department store owners. She is given an Oscar because of her discrimination and influence in fashions; Bob Hutton gets his final divorce decree Friday, September 13th, but he ain't superstitious—is Lana Turner?.... Quite a party was given Charles Boyer and Ingrid Bergman on the set of "Arch of Triumph" to celebrate their mutual birthdays; Ruth Harbard, brilliant assistant editor of Cosmopolitan magazine, and sister of the Hearst executive, Richard Berlin, has joined Eagle-Lion. She has been signed by Bryan Foy as story analyst....Richard Morros, son of Boris Morros, will seek an annulment against Suzz Fields, non-professional he married last year. His attorney, Herbert Silverberg, has quietly filed suit.... Terry Hunt, who lives off the fat of the movie lambs apparently, has taken 20 pounds off Johnny Weissmuller —and Johnnie's the boy who can stand it .... That's a very pretty antique diamond pin Ginny Simms received from Hyatt Dehn on their wedding anniversary .... From New York comes word that Nancy Carroll's lovely daughter, Pat Kirkwood, gets the lead in Ruth Gordon's play "Miss Jones". That's all today.

Court-Martial Adjourns Without Sima Verdict

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Aug. 30—(AP)—The court-martial which tried Lt. William R. Sima, Sr., suspended Naval Academy band leader, adjourned today without reaching a verdict.

It will reconvene tomorrow at 9 a. m. to continue deliberating on the 10 charges against Sima, including perjury, extortion, falsehood, and violating several navy regulations.

If no decision is reached in the case by tomorrow noon, it was indicated the court would adjourn until Tuesday.

Bendix Trophy

ting the starting times had given Eddy a 41-minute advantage.

Franklin said that all of the times would be rechecked. Indications were that under the corrected times Eddy would drop to fourth place behind Thomas Mayson, Burbank, flying a plane entered by Mantz, who averaged 408.6 miles an hour. Mayson was the first man across the finish line.

Jet Plane Averages 493.5 M.P.H.

Well ahead of the conventionally-powered planes in the Bendix race was a jet-propelled Army Air Force P-80 Shooting Star, piloted by Col. Leon W. Gray, Casa Grande, Ariz., commander of the 12th Photo Reconnaissance Squadron.

He flew the Bendix course in four hours, nine minutes, three seconds for an average speed of 493.5 miles an hour. His performance was for fun, since his military status precludes a cash reward, but will get a replica of the Bendix trophy and a medal. He landed with one minute of fuel left.

Lt. Col. Philip C. Loofburrow, West Point, Ga., of the First Fighter Group based at March Field, Calif., averaged 475 miles an hour, making the flight from Van Nuys in four hours, 18 minutes, 45 seconds.

The wave of price rises meanwhile hit the kiddie-car set with OPA announcing a 4.8 per cent increase on toy trucks, planes, tricycles, wagons, scooters, and other children's wheel goods made of metal.

Galoshes, artics, and other rubber footwear were removed from price control entirely under terms of the new price control law which requires the lifting of ceilings whenever supply balances demand.

Three Nations Complete Summations Against German Groups

NUERNBERG, Germany, Aug. 30 (AP) — The Nazi war crimes trials are expected to go to the International Military Tribunal tomorrow for a verdict after brief final statements by the 21 individual defendants headed by Hermann Goering.

The United States, Russia and France completed summations against the seven indicted German organizations in a session extended overtime today to assure an end of the hearings tomorrow.

Judge Francis Biddle, of the United States, and his British, Russian and French colleagues may spend two weeks writing a verdict. Death has been demanded for all the once mighty German leaders.

Gen. R. A. Rudenko, chief Russian prosecutor, asked the court to convict all seven Nazi organizations to "condemn the entire criminal system of German Fascism." Conviction of the organizations might mean conviction of their membership.

Rudenko ridiculed the defense of the organizations—the SS, the SA, the SD, Gestapo, German Cabinet, Nazi Leadership Corps and the high command and general staff—saying they had been pictured as clubs of noble men, orders of knights x x x sparkling with moral purity."

"Who then committed the murder of 12,000,000 peaceful people?" he asked. "Who tortured prisoners of war and deported millions of people for slave labor?"

Brig.Gen Telford Taylor summed up for the United States against the general staff and high command. He declared that Hitler always consulted the soldiers on new military plans and "military leaders not only participated in the plans; they were delighted with the results."

He said field commanders knew of atrocities and condoned them by not punishing the perpetrators.

Subsidies On Coal Shipments Revived

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 (AP) — Stabilization Director John R. Steelman today ordered subsides restored on transportation of coal to the New England and New York harbor areas.

The subsidies lapsed when the old OPA law expired last June 30.

"It appears that the maximum necessary supplies of coal for New England and the New York harbor area may not be obtained for the ensuing year unless this subsidy is continued," Steelman said in an order to the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to resume the subsidy payments.

Presidential Yacht Heads For Washington

WITH PRESIDENT TRUMAN AT SEA, Aug. 30. (AP)—The yacht Williamsburg cut leisurely through the Atlantic tonight, carrying President Truman toward Washington and the end of an 18-day vacation on salt water.

The Williamsburg left Bermuda early this morning. Mr. Truman who spent eight days there, mixing as little work as possible with fishing, swimming, sun bathing and strolling.

The Williamsburg is due to clear the Virginia Capes around noon Sunday, stop briefly in Hampton Roads, then cruise up Chesapeake Bay and the Potomac. She is scheduled to dock in Washington about 5 p. m. (EST) Monday.

New York Hotel Musicians Vote To Strike Monday

Wage Negotiations Collapse; Hostelries Will Be Picketed

NEW YORK, Aug. 30 (AP)—A strike of musicians in 51 large New York hotels on Labor Day was voted today.

Wage negotiations between the hotels and the American Federation of Musicians (AFL) collapsed, and a strike was voted at a special membership meeting.

The vote authorized 3,000 musicians to put down their instruments at 12:01 a. m. Labor Day.

Richard McCann, union Local 802 president, said earlier after a negotiation conference:

"If a cessation of work results, the hotel men will have to bear sole responsibility."

It was said every hotel involved in the dispute would be picketed.

The union's executive board was authorized to call a strike against restaurants and night clubs if pending negotiations fail.

Harry Suber, strike benefit committee chairman, said the union had $1,000,000 ready to support the strike.

Hotel officials have said the union wants wage boosts ranging from 25 to 50 per cent.

McCann said "all the bands, up to the biggest name band" would be affected by a walkout. He said a strike would involve all musicians playing in hotels because they "are members of the union and won't cross picket lines."

Some of the hotels already have given two-week dismissal notices to scale and rhumba bands.

David Drechsler, counsel for most of the hotels, said they had declined to agree to a union proposal to "impose" a retroactivity provision.

Negro Is Sought In Attack On Girl

RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 30 (AP) — Detective Capt. O. D. Garton said more than 60 leads were being investigated by police today in an effort to apprehend the assailant who stabbed, beat with a brick and left for dead on a vacant lot Tuesday night 24-year-old Anne Maria Fowlkes, Richmond Junior Leaguer.

Garton said the girl gave a good description of the assailant and the knife he used, and had shown remarkable courage. Police said he was described by the girl as a negro about five feet four or five inches and of "dark chocolate" complexion.

The detective said the motive for the attack unquestionably was attempted rape, but that he had received no medical report.

Strike Of Bus Drivers Termed "Unauthorized"

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30 (AP)—All drivers of the Washington, Marlboro and Annapolis Motor Lines, Inc., stopped work this afternoon, stranding several thousand homeward-bound employes at Andrews Field and other government agencies.

L. I. Altman, president and general manager of the line, announced the stoppage which he termed "unauthorized" and in violation of a year's contract signed in May.

Altman said the company was not informed of the purpose of the work stoppage by the 150 drivers, but added it may be in "sympathy with a carpenters' union which is picketing a bus garage construction project at the offices."

He said all the 53 buses were inoperative.

KEEPING UP WITH

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 30. — John Wayne, all well after that bad elbow and out of the hospital, is talking with John Ford about a picture to be made in Ireland. That would really be something. All John Ford ever has to do, as far as John Wayne is concerned, is beckon to him and he'll follow. I've never heard such raves over a director and a friend, as John gives John.

The plan as it stands now is set for next spring. The two Johns will make "the quiet one" in the beautiful country of Erin. Reminds me that Marion Davies and I looked up the kings of Ireland. The first one reigned in 452. Sorry to say there was nary a queen, only the ones who were married to the kings. P.S. I have an interview with Marion describing her as she is today, in next Sunday's Pictorial Review.

When Fred MacMurray spends $60,000 for a story, that's news! Fred is the thriftiest, smartest business man in our town and one of the most frequently told Hollywood stories is that he budgets himself on $40 a week and always has a big bankroll from the money he saves out of that allowance. The $60,000 Fred shelled out is for "Innocent Affair" by Lou Breslow and Joseph Hoffman. He'll make it as an independent venture. Just to show that MacMurray is plenty smart, he was offered $125,000 by another independent producer for the story, providing Fred would star in it.

What a wonderful friend Edgar Bergen is to those of us who are privileged to claim his friendship. I know, because he has proved his friendship for me on so many occasions. Now he is proving it in a very big way for his pal Ken Murray. Ken, you see, is making a movie, "Sagebrush Sam," a burlesque on all the super-colossal westerns, and Edgar is lending him Mortimer Snerd. Ken and his big cigar are the stars in this satire on horse operas which he is making for United Artists in conjunction with Dave Siegel. Can't wait to see Mortimer all sneered up as a cowboy.

Conversation at the Jack Warner dinner table the other eve centered around Cecil Beaton, who was one of the guests. Cecil did the decor for "Lady Windemere's Fan," which is playing in San Francisco, where he also made his debut as an actor. I asked Jack if he had any idea of bringing back this play, which starred Ronald Coleman and Irene Rich in the dear dead silent days of movies. Jack said he was considering doing a re-make, and I can tell you he has Bette Davis in mind, who picks and chooses her own. I met, at the Warners, the very good looking Alexandre Manzrarly, the French consul, and the attractive Henry Carvell, the new British consul general.

Chatter in Hollywood: Virginia Bruce, who seldom talks about the tragedies in her life, told me she didn't want to be married in the house where she lived so long. "After I sold it to Deanna Durbin," she said, "I felt I wanted to start my married life with Ali Ipar in my new house on Amalfi Drive." Poor Virginia. Let's hope all her bad luck happened before the marriage this time. Ali got away from the gendarmes long enough before his marriage to Virginia to have a bachelor supper tendered him at Harout's Har-Omar by Sadie Peck and Kemel Axel, school friends.

I am a little back on some of my news and I just heard yesterday that Mary Astor had been very sick with virus pneumonia. Now she's well enough to accept a job and she'll go into "Desert Town" for Hal Wallis with John Hodiak. Lizabeth Scott and Burt Lancaster. I saw Burt Lancaster in Mark Hellinger's picture, "The Killers". I want to avoid the crowd who will acclaim Burt, and be among the first to say he's a real discovery, and I couldn't be happier for Mark, who has such a good picture. Wonderful the way these newspaper men are turning out smash hits. "The Jolson Story", which Sidney Skolsky produced, is a honey. For entertainment it's high on my list of bests!

Here in California—In Long Beach to be exact—the first prefabricated theatre in the world will soon be built by Charles Skouras. I happened to hear about this 1200 seat house through R. H. McCullough, an associate of Charles, and an authority on these prefabricated structures. Mr. McCullough says the theatre will be cut at the mill and will be complete except for the foundation, which must, of course, be built. How wonderful to be able to have a theatre in two-and-a-half months as against a possible year in the old days. I'll say for Charles Skouras, he is up to the minute in everything connected with movie houses.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: Director Fritz Lang is plenty burned over the ending of the Gary Cooper-Lilli Palmer opus, "Cloak and Dagger". Up to today, producer Milton Sperling and Fritz were Miles apart .... Greta Garbo is having her wish to be alone while she is the guest of Max Gumpel, millionaire building engineer in Sweden. Huge bloodhounds guard the entrance of the Gumpel estate ....General Jonathan Wainwright and his wife and aide are center of much attention at the Brown Derby ....Mrs. Howard Hawks, discoverer of Lauren Bacall, and wife of the well known director, is the only individual consumer to get an award from Neiman-Marcus, Texas department store owners. She is given an Oscar because of her discrimination and influence in fashions; Bob Hutton gets his final divorce decree Friday, September 13th, but he ain't superstitious—is Lana Turner?.... Quite a party was given Charles Boyer and Ingrid Bergman on the set of "Arch of Triumph" to celebrate their mutual birthdays; Ruth Harbard, brilliant assistant editor of Cosmopolitan magazine, and sister of the Hearst executive, Richard Berlin, has joined Eagle-Lion. She has been signed by Bryan Foy as story analyst....Richard Morros, son of Boris Morros, will seek an annulment against Suzz Fields, non-professional he married last year. His attorney, Herbert Silverberg, has quietly filed suit.... Terry Hunt, who lives off the fat of the movie lambs apparently, has taken 20 pounds off Johnny Weissmuller—and Johnnie's the boy who can stand it .... That's a very pretty antique diamond pin Ginny Simms received from Hyatt Dehn on their wedding anniversary .... From New York comes word that Nancy Carroll's lovely daughter, Pat Kirkwood, gets the lead in Ruth Gordon's play "Miss Jones". That's all today.

Frostburg Church Plans Centennial Week Sept. 15-20

Zion Evangelical And Reformed Congregation To Mark Anniversary

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, Aug. 30 — The congregation of Zion Evangelical and Reformed Church, this city, will observe "100th" Cornerstone Anniversary Week" from Sunday, September 15, to Friday, September 20.

In connection with the anniversary, Rev. Walter D. Mehrling, pastor, has compiled a list of 100 anniversary items as part of a program which is now being distributed to members and friends of the church.

1867, Rev. G. L. Reitz; (No date) Rev. M. Duling; 1872, Rev. B. Sickel; 1879, Rev. J. Stumpf; 1880-1882, Rev. Albert Homringhaus; January to July, 1883, Rev. Roser; 1883 to July 1, 1884, Rev. M. Herbig; 1885 to 1887, Rev. R. F. Rennicke; 1887 to 1894, Rev. Robert W. Conradi; 1894 to 1898, Rev. C. A. J. Cramer; 1898 to 1901, Rev. H. R. Booch.

1901 to 1904, Rev. Oscar E. Wittingler; 1904 to 1906, J. Conrad Tweele; 1906 to 1909, Rev. C. F. Fleck; 1910 to 1912, Rev. Eugene F. Henzel; 1913 to 1917, Rev. Paul G. Saffron; 1917 to 1921, Rev. Theodore Beckmeyer; 1922 to 1926, Rev. Karl Buff; 1927 to 1929, Rev. A. H. Sinnenberg; 1930 to 1936, Rev. Harry G. Yaggi; 1936 to 1942, Rev. Irvin F. Krackie; 1942 to 1945, Rev. Edwin R. Weidler, and 1946, Rev. Walter Daniel Mehrling.

The church building occupied by the congregation on East Union was built by St. Paul's Lutheran Church and the cornerstone was laid in 1846. The property was sold to its present owners July 22, 1865, and has been known to most of the older residents as the German Lutheran Church. In 1936 the name was changed to Zion Evangelical and Reformed Church when the Evangelical and Reformed Churches of the United States united.

The official anniversary program states that the church was known as the German Lutheran Zion Church until 1936.

The congregation owns a cemetery on Mt. Pleasant street, which was purchased in two tracts, the first in 1881 from the George W. McCulloh estate and the second from Mrs. Esther Cosgrove in 1904. There are 246 graves in the cemetery. Pastor Conradi's tombstone there, erected by J. B. Williams, is a white marble pulpit, with the German reading of Isaiah 52.7 upon the Holy Bible carved on the stone.

Pastor, Rev. Walter D. Mehrling; elders, Hugh C. Watson, Philip Krauss and William Filsinger; deacons, Arthur R. Irvin, Raymond P. Blank and Sgt. Harold W. McKenzie; treasurer, Carl G. Storm; president, Women's Guild, Mrs. Harry Thomas; superintendent Church School, William Filsinger; organists, Mrs. John Edmiston and Mrs. Harry C. Ort.

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG, Aug. 30 — The congregation of Zion Evangelical and Reformed Church, this city, will observe "100th" Cornerstone Anniversary Week" from Sunday, September 15, to Friday, September 20.

In connection with the anniversary, Rev. Walter D. Mehrling, pastor, has compiled a list of 100 anniversary items as part of a program which is now being distributed to members and friends of the church.

Listed in the program are the names of the former pastors of the church, as follows:

The church building occupied by the congregation on East Union was built by St. Paul's Lutheran Church and the cornerstone was laid in 1846. The property was sold to its present owners July 22, 1865, and has been known to most of the older residents as the German Lutheran Church. In 1936 the name was changed to Zion Evangelical and Reformed Church when the Evangelical and Reformed Churches of the United States united.

The official anniversary program states that the church was known as the German Lutheran Zion Church until 1936.

The congregation owns a cemetery on Mt. Pleasant street, which was purchased in two tracts, the first in 1881 from the George W. McCulloh estate and the second from Mrs. Esther Cosgrove in 1904. There are 246 graves in the cemetery. Pastor Conradi's tombstone there, erected by J. B. Williams, is a white marble pulpit, with the German reading of Isaiah 52.7 upon the Holy Bible carved on the stone.

Market Rallies After Early Drop To New Average Low For Past Year

NEW YORK, Aug. 30—(AP)—The stock market dropped one to four points in today's early proceedings to a new average low for the past year but a little late short covering in steels, rails and assorted industrials cut extreme losses substantially and put a number of favorites in the plus column by modest fractions.

Forenoon selling was attributed by brokers to both professionals and public customers who wished to lighten accounts for protection over the lengthy weekend.

Principal exchanges will recess tomorrow through Monday's Labor Day holiday.

Dealings, slow most of the day, expanded on the buying flurry in the fourth hour. Declines predominated at the close. Transfers of 1,180,000 shares compared with 1,060,000 Thursday.

Casualties included United States Steel, Youngstown Sheet, General Motors, Montgomery Ward, International Harvester, Boeing, Douglas Aircraft, Consolidated Edison, Kennecott, American Can, General Electric, Union Carbide, Allied Chemical, Texas Company, Pennsylvania Railroad, Southern Railway and Northern Pacific.

On the upside were Bethlehem, Republic Steel, Goodrich, Goodyear, Sears Roebuck, United Aircraft, Public Service of New Jersey, Westinghouse, New York Central, Southern Pacific, Great Northern and Baltimore and Ohio.

Late support lifted the bond market out of another decline but the rally was selective and a number of issues ended at the lows for the session.

Volume expanded to $3,660,000 from $3,480,000 Thursday.

Moving ahead were Baltimore and Ohio convertibles at 61¾.

Refrigerator Now Used In Handling Cauliflower

Canaan Valley Farmer Is First In Area To Install Unit

By HELEN COLLETT

PARSONS, W. Va., Aug. 30 — After a meeting of the board of directors of the Canaan Valley Growers at Warden's Hotel, Davis, this week members visited the farm of Ben F. Thompson where Thompson has just installed a refrigeration unit and altered his method of handling cauliflower.

The unit is a temporary affair installed by the Monongahela Power Company. It is an 800 cubic foot refrigerator and will hold approximately two truckloads of cauliflower which has been prepared for display. It is also used for broccoli, which Thompson, a war veteran, is raising for the first time.

Canaan Valley growers are watching the experiment with great interest. Cauliflower is a new industry in Tucker County and marketing thus far has been on a quick turnover basis. Because the Canaan products were getting to market ahead of those from other areas, it was sold quickly and spoilage was kept to a minimum. However, expansion carried with it the need for storage facilities as a protection against slow market and spoilage.

With the new refrigeration facilities the Thompson farm strips the cauliflower of its outer leaves and packs it in individual cellophane wrappers. It is kept at a 40 degree temperature and immediate refrigeration has eliminated the odors of unrefrigerated plants.

Those who attended the meeting this week were Faye Graham, president, Hoye Smith, R. C. Beall, County Agent A. L. Kidd, M. L. Corey, public relations representative for the A. and P. Company; W. R. Brooks, Dr. Casey Westover, from the Horticultural Department and Robert Boal, state extension economist, from West Virginia University.

Clubs Will Entertain

The Woman's Club of Parsons and the Hambleton Hendricks English Club will entertain jointly on Friday night, September 13, for the state president of the Woman's Federated Clubs, Mrs. W. Grady Whitman, Elkins, and the District president, Mrs. A. L. Davis, Philippi.

The meeting will be held in the club rooms of the community building in Parsons with hostesses from both clubs. A program has been arranged for the evening which will include two vocal solos by Miss Carolyn Jane Lambert, Parsons, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. M. J. Small.

Mrs. Small will also play a piano solo during the program. Miss Lambert, a well known musican of Parsons is a student of Mrs. Watson Johnson, Elkins, and this fall will enter Davis and Elkins College. She then expects to go to New York for further study. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Lambert, she is also an accomplished pianist and trumpet player.

Market Rallies After Early Drop to New Average Low For Past Year

NEW YORK, Aug. 30—(AP)—The ock market dropped one to four oints in today's early proceedings o a new average low for the past ear but a little late short covering in steels, rails and assorted industrials cut extreme losses substantially and put a number of favorites in the plus column by modest fractions.

Forenoon selling was attributed by brokers to both professionals and public customers who wished to lighten accounts for protection over the lengthy weekend.

Casualties included United States Steel, Youngstown Sheet, General Motors, Montgomery Ward, International Harvester, Boeing, Douglas Aircraft, Consolidated Edison, Kennecott, American Can, General Electric, Union Carbide, Allied Chemical, Texas Company, Pennsylvania Railroad, Southern Railway and Northern Pacific.

On the upside were Bethlehem, Republic Steel, Goodrich, Goodyear, Sears Roebuck, United Aircraft, Public Service of New Jersey, Westinghouse, New York Central, Southern Pacific, Great Northern and Baltimore and Ohio.

Late support lifted the bond market out of another decline but the rally was selective and a number of issues ended at the lows for the session.

Volume expanded to $3,860,000 from $3,480,000 Thursday.

Moving ahead were Baltimore and Ohio convertibles at 61¾.

United States governments in the distant maturity range advanced 1-32 to 3-32 of a point.

The group discussed the street lighting system in the town and recommended that lights be placed at more places and that brighter bulbs be installed in some of the present lights.

Refrigerator Now Used In Handling Cauliflower

By HELEN COLLETT

PARSONS, W. Va., Aug. 30 — After a meeting of the board of directors of the Canaan Valley Growers at Warden's Hotel, Davis, this week members visited the farm of Ben F. Thompson where Thompson has just installed a refrigeration unit and altered his method of handling cauliflower.

The unit is a temporary affair installed by the Monongahela Power Company. It is an 800 cubic foot refrigerator and will hold approximately two truckloads of cauliflower which has been prepared for display. It is also used for broccoli, which Thompson, a war veteran, is raising for the first time.

Canaan Valley growers are watching the experiment with great interest. Cauliflower is a new industry in Tucker County and marketing thus far has been on a quick turnover basis. Because the Canaan products were getting to market ahead of those from other areas, it was sold quickly and spoilage was kept to a minimum. However, expansion carried with it the need for storage facilities as a protection against slow market and spoilage.

With the new refrigeration facilities the Thompson farm strips the cauliflower of its outer leaves and packs it in individual cellophane wrappers. It is kept at a 40 degree temperature and immediate refrigeration has eliminated the odors of unrefrigerated plants.

Those who attended the meeting this week were Faye Graham, president, Hoye Smith, R. C. Beall, County Agent A. L. Kidd, M. L. Corey, public relations representative for the A. and P. Company; W. R. Brooks, Dr. Casey Westover, from the Horticultural Department and Robert Boal, state extension economist, from West Virginia University.

Mrs. Small will also play a piano solo during the program. Miss Lambert, a well known musican of Parsons is a student of Mrs. Watson Johnson, Elkins, and this fall will enter Davis and Elkins College. She then expects to go to New York for further study. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Lambert, she is also an accomplished pianist and trumpet player.

Easing Of West Virginia Coal Car Shortage Seen

WASHINGTON, Aug. 30—(AP)—An easing of the coal car shortage in West Virginia within a few weeks was predicted today by Adm. Ben Moreell, Coal Mines Administrator.

The Coal Mines Administrator conferred for more than two hours this afternoon with C. F. Davis, Fairmont, W. Va., president of District 31, United Mine Workers, and Cecil J. Urbanak, vice president.

Moreell said no conclusions were reached at the conference, but a number of possibilities will be explored toward obtaining "early relief" to the shortage and the resultant slowing down of coal production in Northern West Virginia.

Australia Is A Healthy Place---For Parrots

SYDNEY, Australia—(AP)—Birds seem to have long lives in Australia. A parrot, "Cocky Bennet," who died in Sydney some years ago was supposed to have been 120 years old. Old timers say that in his old-age "Cocky" was almost naked and would scream: "Another damned feather and I'll fly."

From Freemantle in Western Australia reports have been received of a pair of yellow-crested Mitchell parrots that have lived 50 years.

Naturalist Alec Chisholm in his book "Bird Wonders in Australia" states that "possibly many birds have a potential longevity of more than 30 years, but no species seems to have a specific longevity of more than that."

BLACKFOOT, Idaho. (AP) — Mrs. Virginia Orison wasn't content merely to look pretty when she was chosen queen of the Blackfoot Bronco Buckaroo. She kept her eyes open and picked up hints useful in adding to her collection of miniature horses modeled from clay.

Mrs. Orison has made 40 such models, representing the five most popular breeds of saddle horses in the west—Arabian, American saddler, thoroughbred, quarter horse and Palomino. Her Arabian model won a blue ribbon at the southern Idaho state fair.

Food

Greens For Fall

WATERCRESS FRUIT SALAD . . . For muggy days

By CHARLOTTE ADAMS
Associated Press Food Editor

During early fall we stand an excellent chance of experiencing hot and muggy days, when we won't feel much in the humor for hearty, or even hot food.

While they're still here in abundance, use lots of crisp greens to help your family feel less wilted. The way you handle those greens will have a lot to do with how crisp they are, whether they come straight from your own garden or from a market stand.

As soon as you bring greens home from market wash them, running cold water through the leaves gently to remove all possible dirt, and cutting off any possibly brown or tired bits of green. Now, most important of all, dry the greens thoroughly. The ideal way in which to do this is in a string bag, but they're still hard to get. If you ever buy potatoes in a small sack you have there an ideal drainer for lettuce or other greens. Boil the sack so you know it's perfectly clean. Then when your greens are clean, put them into it and hang the bag up to drain.

When greens are entirely drained (it takes at least a half hour) put them, well covered, into the refrigerator for at least an hour, preferably longer. What comes out will be the beautifully crisp greens which inspire appetite, even on sultry days.

Fruits, too, while they last, make beautiful, cooling salad material. Here's the way to make a good fruit salad with the fruit thoroughly marinated and the greens entirely crisp.

Water Cress Fruit Salad

1 bunch water cress	2 medium sized bananas
1 medium sized pineapple	½ cup French dressing
1 pound Bing cherries

Place short cut sprays of water cress in a salad bowl. Remove crown and slice off skin from pineapple. Cut into six sections, remove core and cut into one-third inch slices. Remove pits from cherries. Peel and slice bananas diagonally, a quarter inch thick. Combine fruit in another salad bowl. Add French dressing and toss lightly. On each salad plate place a bed of water cress. Top with well-dressed fruit.

Mashed Potato Salad

3 boiled potatoes, cold	1 tablespoon anchovy paste
2 hard-cooked eggs	4 tablespoons oil
1 small onion chopped fine	1 tablespoon vinegar
1 teaspoon dry mustard	Salt and pepper

Mash potato through a sieve. Now force eggs through the sieve. Mix potatoes, eggs, onion, mustard and anchovy paste. Make a mound of the mixture in a bed of lettuce. Mix oil and vinegar and season with salt and pepper. Pour over salad. You may add a whiff of garlic to the dressing if you wish.

Room Service Is Provided In Jail

ROCKFORD, Ill., (AP) — A short, and sober, story from the police blotter: A fellow taken into custody recently was accused of mounting a garbage can behind the jail, and trying to siphon wine to a prisoner through a straw projected through the bars.

Singapore Rickshaws Are On Their Way Out

SINGAPORE—(AP)—The day of the rickshawman — the "human horse"—is drawing to an end here. Singapore municipal commissioners have decided not to renew rickshaw licenses. Since these expire quarterly, within four months rickshaws will have disappeared from the streets. The decision means that 4,000 rickshawmen must find other jobs. A survey by the Malayan Tribune showed many of them were over 50 with 30 years of pulling behind them.

The end of the rickshaw will mean a boom for the trishaw, or bicycle-pulled rickshaw. The Rickshaw Association has asked permission or 2,000 additional trishaw licenses to provide employment for former rickshawmen.

Nylon News

UNION BEACH, N. J.—Bad news travels fast but Mrs. Mary Rosine, for one, doesn't mind.

Several days after a local newspaper carried a story saying she had ruined a pair of nylons in an accident, she received a new pair from a sister in Stamford, Conn., who had read the news item.

Australian Exhibits Own Memorial To Flyer

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Austin Byrne, Australian railway employee and admirer of Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith, has made a modest career of publicizing the airman who disappeared in 1935 on a flight from England to Australia.

Byrne has spent 18 years building a scale-model of the "Southern Cross," Kingsford-Smith's plane, and a globe-mounted shrine commemorating his flights, and travelings to exhibit them.

A few weeks ago Byrne returned with his models from the United States, where he estimated they helped sell $4,000,000 in bonds and savings stamps.

He hopes Australia will put them in the National Museum.

Neighbors Complain, Can't Hear Singer

SYDNEY, Australia, (AP) — Todd Duncan, American Negro baritone made famous by Gershwin's "Porgey and Bess," received a complaint from the management of Petty's Hotel, Sydney.

"It's your singing, Mr. Duncan," said a member of the staff. "The guests are complaining that they can't hear with your door shut."

Pin-Up Girl

CHICAGO — Mrs. Beatrice Ingels drove automobiles 300,000 miles in the last 25 years without an accident and without a single ticket for traffic violations.

Her husband, James, called her record to the attention of various safety-minded organizations. But none of them did anything about it. So he went to a jeweler, ordered and purchased a gold medal, and pinned it on his wife himself.

Australia Is A Healthy Place---For Parrots

SYDNEY, Australia—(AP)—Birds seem to have long lives in Australia. A parrot, "Cocky Bennet," who died in Sydney some years ago was supposed to have been 120 years old. Old timers say that in his old-age "Cocky" was almost naked and would scream: "Another damned feather and I'll fly."

From Freemantle in Western Australia reports have been received of a pair of yellow-crested Mitchell parrots that have lived 50 years.

Naturalist Alec Chisholm in his book "Bird Wonders in Australia" states that "possibly many birds have a potential longevity of more than 30 years, but no species seems to have a specific longevity of more than that."

Queen Of The Buckaroo Models Clay Horses

BLACKFOOT, Idaho, (AP) — Mrs. Virginia Orison wasn't content merely to look pretty when she was chosen queen of the Blackfoot Bronco Buckaroo. She kept her eyes open and picked up hints useful in adding to her collection of miniature horses modeled from clay.

Mrs. Orison has made 40 such models, representing the five most popular breeds of saddle horses in the west—Arabian, American saddler, thoroughbred, quarter horse and Palomino. Her Arabian model won a blue ribbon at the southern Idaho state fair.

Food

Greens For Fall

By CHARLOTTE ADAMS
Associated Press Food Editor

During early fall we stand an excellent chance of experiencing hot and muggy days, when we won't feel much in the humor for hearty, or even hot food.

While they're still here in abundance, use lots of crisp greens to help your family feel less wilted. The way you handle those greens will have a lot to do with how crisp they are, whether they come straight from your own garden or from a market stand.

As soon as you bring greens home from market wash them, running cold water through the leaves gently to remove all possible dirt, and cutting off any possibly brown or tired bits of green. Now, most important of all, dry the greens thoroughly. The ideal way in which to do this is in a string bag, but they're still hard to get. If you ever buy potatoes in a small sack you have there an ideal drainer for lettuce or other greens. Boil the sack so you know it's perfectly clean. Then when your greens are clean, put them into it and hang the bag up to drain.

When greens are entirely drained (it takes at least a half hour) put them, well covered, into the refrigerator for at least an hour, preferably longer. What comes out will be the beautifully crisp greens which inspire appetite, even on sultry days.

Fruits, too, while they last, make beautiful, cooling salad material. Here's the way to make a good fruit salad with the fruit thoroughly marinated and the greens entirely crisp.

Water Cress Fruit Salad

1 bunch water cress
1 medium sized pineapple
1 pound Bing cherries
2 medium sized bananas
½ cup French dressing

Place short cut sprays of water cress in a salad bowl. Remove crown and slice off skin from pineapple. Cut into six sections, remove core and cut into one-third inch slices. Remove pits from cherries. Peel and slice bananas diagonally, a quarter inch thick. Combine fruit in another salad bowl. Add French dressing and toss lightly. On each salad plate place a bed of water cress. Top with well-dressed fruit.

Mashed Potato Salad

3 boiled potatoes, cold
2 hard-cooked eggs
1 small onion chopped fine
1 teaspoon dry mustard
1 tablespoon anchovy paste
4 tablespoons oil
1 tablespoon vinegar
Salt and pepper

Mash potato through a sieve. Now force eggs through the sieve. Mix potatoes, eggs, onion, mustard and anchovy paste. Make a mound of the mixture in a bed of lettuce. Mix oil and vinegar and season with salt and pepper. Pour over salad. You may add a whiff of garlic to the dressing if you wish.

Room Service Is Provided In Jail

ROCKFORD, Ill., (AP) — A short, and sober, story from the police blotter: A fellow taken into custody recently was accused of mounting a garbage can behind the jail, and trying to siphon wine to a prisoner through a straw projected through the bars.

Singapore Rickshaws Are On Their Way Out

SINGAPORE—(AP)—The day of the rickshawman — the "human horse"—is drawing to an end here.

Singapore municipal commissioners have decided not to renew rickshaw licenses. Since these expire quarterly, within four months rickshaws will have disappeared from the streets. The decision means that 4,000 rickshawmen must find other jobs. A survey by the Malayan Tribune showed many of them were over 50 with 30 years of pulling behind them.

The end of the rickshaw will mean a boom for the trishaw, or bicycle-pulled rickshaw. The Rickshaw Association has asked permission for 2,000 additional trishaw licenses to provide employment for former rickshawmen.

Nylon News

UNION BEACH, N. J.—Bad news travels fast but Mrs. Mary Rosine, for one, doesn't mind.

Several days after a local newspaper carried a story saying she had ruined a pair of nylons in an accident, she received a new pair from a sister in Stamford, Conn., who had read the news item.

Australian Exhibits Own Memorial To Flyer

SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—Austin Byrne, Australian railway employee and admirer of Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith, has made a modest career of publicizing the airman who disappeared in 1935 on a flight from England to Australia.

Byrne has spent 18 years building a scale-model of the "Southern Cross," Kingsford-Smith's plane, and a globe-mounted shrine commemorating his flights, and travelings to exhibit them.

A few weeks ago Byrne returned with his models from the United States, where he estimated they helped sell $4,000,000 in bonds and savings stamps.

He hopes Australia will put them in the National Museum.

Neighbors Complain, Can't Hear Singer

SYDNEY, Australia, (AP) — Todd Duncan, American Negro baritone made famous by Gershwin's "Porgey and Bess," received a complaint from the management of Petty's Hotel, Sydney.

"It's your singing, Mr. Duncan," said a member of the staff. "The guests are complaining that they can't hear with your door shut."

Pin-Up Girl

CHICAGO — Mrs. Beatrice Ingels drove automobiles 300,000 miles in the last 25 years without an accident and without a single ticket for traffic violations.

Her husband, James, called her record to the attention of various safety-minded organizations. But none of them did anything about it. So he went to a jeweler, ordered and purchased a gold medal, and pinned it on his wife himself.

Outsiders Win Five Races On Eagles' Day

White Easter And Idle Gossip Score; Betting Hits $2,733,315 For Nine Days Here

LEADS RIDERS—Bobby Runyon, of Johnson City, Kansas, is the No. 1 rider as the Cumberland Fair Association's race meeting goes into its tenth and final day. Bobby has piloted 13 winners, five seconds and five thirds for a total of 85 points, sixteen in front of his closest competitor, Johnny Tammaro. If Runyon retains the lead today he will receive the Harvey Jewelry Company trophy, awarded annually to the leading winning rider. Bobby rides at 100 pounds and broke his maiden at Charles Town track in July

Outsiders won five of the eight races yesterday at Fairgo as an Eagles' Day crowd of 7,500 wagered $321,977 to soar the mutuel handle for nine days to $2,733,315, establishing an all-time record for betting at the Cumberland Fair Association's half mile track.

Mother Daisy won the opener, and paid $17.80, Mayfern took the second and returned $12.50, Our Fortune scored in the third and paid off at $17.50, Rough Honey, a 19 to 1 shot took the fifth and netted backers $40.10 and Wild Knight set his followers wild with joy by grabbing off first place in the seventh at the nice price of $13.50.

It was a profitable day for those who played the long shots but it was not so hot financially for those who strung along with the favorites.

Idle Gossip in the fourth, White Easter in the sixth and Scotch Flag in the eighth were the favorites that came through with flying colors.

New Betting Mark Set

The $45,180 handled in yesterday's sixth race sent the handle for the meet to $2,604,340 which left last year's all-time high of $2,587,428 in the shade. The latter figure was the highest amount ever bet at a ten-day meeting at Fairgo. An additional sum of $128,975 was wagered in the last two events on yesterday's card to increase the handle over last year's ten-day total to $145,887. The daily average for nine days this year is $303,701. The 1945 ten-day average was $258,742.

J. N. Wynkoop's Rough Honey, overlooked in the betting, galloped home ahead of Army Belle to annex the main event, The Col. John Keating Memorial. Danny Scocca piloted the long shot which paid off at 19 to 1.

White Easter Scores

E. L. Poston's White Easter was returned the winner over Alhalon by two lengths in the sixth, the Fraternal Order of Eagles Trophy. It marked the fourth win for Poston mare this year and the tenth consecutive time that the five-year old had finished in the money. White Easter has taken second money in six races since she launched her 1946 campaign at Charles Town in June. The daughter of Belfonds has won $6,350 for her owner this year, including $700 yesterday.

Robert Moses "Lefty" Grove, of Lonaconing, one-time pitching ace of the Baltimore Orioles, Philadelphia Athletics and Boston Red Sox, presented the Eagles' trophy to Owner-Trainer Poston. Clifton W. White, president and general manager of the fair association, introduced Grove, who in turn congratulated the thoroughbred's owner and Jockey Eddie Ballenger.

J. E. Fell's Mother Daisy with L. Bauer up was the first of the five outsiders to register victories by scoring a three lengths' win over Circus Wings, the favorite, in the opener.

Mayfern, owned by E. A. Nicodemus, and ridden by Patsy Grant, defeated Gradea by two lengths to annex the second event. Gay Thorn was third. Backers of Mayfern were paid off at the rate of 5 to 1.

The winning daily double combination of Mother Daisy (3) and Mayfern (6) was worth $157.40.

The parade of the good paying horses continued through the third event when Our Fortune, with C. A. Walters in the pilot house, won by two lengths over Mithia with Nancy's Hero third. The price on the winner was $17.50.

Wins Fifth Straight

W. B. Casilear's Idle Gossip, which won here last week, extended its winning streak to five races by galloping home ahead of Titian by a length's margin in the fourth. The winner, ridden by Johnny Tammaro, returned 90 cents on the $1. It was the ninth winning start for the five-year-old bay gelding trained by Dan Chamblin since May 30.

After White Easter had helped the favorites' cause in the sixth, Wild Knight with G. Cardoza aboard scored over Specialist and Chiff Chaff in the seventh to return $13.50 for $2.

J. A. Reeves' Scotch Flag, the choice of the bettors, took top money in the eighth. It was Johnny Tammaro's second winning mount of the day moving him into the runnerup position in the jockey standings, 16 points behind Bobby Runyon who increased his point total to 85 with two seconds and a third.

PHILLIES BEAT GIANTS IN NIGHT GAME 4-3

NEW YORK, Aug. 30 (AP)—Philadelphia's Jim Tabor, Johnny Wyrostek and Del Ennis clouted homers tonight to lead the Phillies to a 4-3 victory over the New York Giants.

The victory enabled the Phils to increase their sixth place margin over the losers to two full games.

PHILADELPHIA ..... 300 100 010—4 11 2
NEW YORK ..... 002 000 020—3 7 1

Two Trophy Races Appear On Fairgo Getaway Program

Shewbridge Named Racing Secretary At Marlboro Track

The Cumberland Fair Association today will lower the curtain on the most successful race meeting ever held at Fairgo.

Two trophy races appear on the Getaway Day card. The American Legion trophy, donated by Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, will be presented to the owner of the winning horse in the fifth race, The John B. Gunning Memorial. The sixth event carries with it in addition to $700 out of the $1,000 purse, the Harvey Jewelry Company trophy for the owner of the winning thoroughbred.

Average Here Is $303,701

Wagering for the nine days thus far has averaged $303,701, an all-time high for the local half miler. A $400,000 final day would fail to catch up with the recent Hagerstown meet's average of $314. The ten-day handle here is expected to amount to approximately $3,000,000.

The leading jockey and leading trainer will be presented diamond rings by the Harvey Jewelry Company today. Bobby Runyon heads the jockey parade and Norman "Junie" Corbin has saddled the most winners.

Named Marlboro Secretary

William M. Shewbridge, racing secretary at Fairgo, yesterday was named to fill a similar post at the Marlboro meeting which opens September 14.

Shewbridge succeeds Gordon Morrow, who will remain at Narragansett Park, due to the illness of Matthias Shea, who makes up that track's programs.

Shea, who is a patient at Mercy Hospital, Baltimore, has cancelled his official duties at Laurel, Pimlico, Bowie and Gulfstream Park, and will rest until next April.

Shewbridge, currently doing an excellent job at Fairgo, will also serve as racing secretary at Timonium which opens its 10-day meeting on Monday.

PITTSBURGH STEELERS CRUSH NEWARK, 42-0

HERSHEY, Pa., Aug. 30 (AP)—Scoring once in each of the first two periods and exploding four touchdowns in the third, the Pittsburgh Steelers blanked the Newark, N. J., Bombers of the American Football League, 42-0, tonight for their second decisive exhibition victory of the season.

Bullet Bill Dudley scored two touchdowns and booted four straight points-after-touchdowns. Steve Lach tallied from 11 yards out, Center Chuck Cerundolo raced 38 yards to paydirt with an intercepted pass, and sub halfback Johnny Clement sprinted 70 yards to score. Final six-pointer was tallied by reserve fullback Tony Compagno on a three-yard buck. Single point conversions were added by Clement and Campagno.

Pellone Gets Nod In 10-Round Bout With Bill Graham

Unpopular Decision Marks Welterweight Fight In New York

NEW YORK, Aug. 30—(AP)—Billy Graham, rangy New York welterweight who has whipped 65 other opponents, failed to get by Tony Pellone for the second time in his career tonight in the feature ten-rounder of an all-star Madison Square Garden card which also saw Bernie Docusen highly touted New Orleans swatter, and Larry Cisneros of Los Angeles, chalk up impressive victories. Pellone weighed 144; Graham 139.

The decision, however, was unpopular and drew such a roar of boos from the 13,229 fans who chipped in to a gross gate of $47,770 that the announcer was unable to make himself heard to introduce the next bout. He had to advise Judges Jack Gordon and Charley Rosen and Referee Barney Felix as to the identity of the two contestants and this made at least the names of the two fighters clear to all officials.

Until tonight, Graham had suffered only one setback in 66 starts, and that one was to Pellone. Tonight he was out to get even. Judge Rosen thought he did, six rounds to three, with one even. The Associated Press score card voted for him, seven rounds to two, with one even. But Referee Felix and Judge Gordon each gave five rounds to Pellone, another local larruper, and balloted for him as the winner.

STATE WILL RESUME BOUNTIES ON FOXES SEPT. 6, MINKE SAYS

The State of Maryland will resume the payment of bounties on foxes, Friday, September 6, Joseph A. Minke, regional game warden, announced last night.

Payments locally will be made every Friday at the home of Minke, 106 McKinley Avenue. Pelts must be brought to Minke's home for inspection and marking.

Bounties are paid on both grey and red foxes the latter being more plentiful, Minke said, because their litters are larger. The litter of a gray fox is four to six while that of a red is six to nine.

Bounty payments will continue through June 30, 1947.

Hogan Sets Pace In Coast Tourney

Ben Posts Five-Under-Par 65 To Lead Keiser By One Stroke

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 30—Favorite Benny Hogan, fresh from his victory in the national PGA tourney, blasted out a five-under-par 66 today to assume a one-stroke lead in the first round of the $15,000 Golden State golf tournament at the California Country Club.

Never going over par, the amazing 135-pound Hershey, Pa., professional clicked off five birdies—on the eighth, ninth, twelfth, thirteenth and seventeenth holes. It was the first time Hogan had played the hilly 6,328-yard course.

One stroke behind the dynamic lightweight was Herman Keiser, Akron, Ohio, with 33-34—67. Keiser, winner of Bobby Jones Masters Tourney, also had five birdies but he slipped one over on the fifteenth.

As the first half of the stellar field of 144 completed the opening round of the 72-hole joust, Toney Penna, Cincinnati, O., and veteran Jack Gage, San Bernardino, Calif., were close up with 69s. Penna had 35-34, including two smashing eagles, Gage and Stewart took 34-35.

Outsiders Win Five Races On Eagles' Day

White Easter And Idle Gossip Score; Betting Hits $2,733,315 For Nine Days Here

Outsiders won five of the eight races yesterday at Fairgo as an Eagles' Day crowd of 7,500 wagered $321,977 to soar the mutuel handle for nine days to $2,733,315, establishing an all-time record for betting at the Cumberland Fair Association's half mile track.

Mother Dusy won the opener, and paid $17.80, Mayfern took the second and returned $12.50, Our Fortune scored in the third and paid off at $17.50, Rough Honey, a 19 to 1 shot took the fifth and netted backers $40.10 and Wild Knight set his followers wild with joy by grabbing off first place in the seventh at the nice price of $13.50.

It was a profitable day for those who played the long shots but it was not so hot financially for those who strung along with the favorites.

New Betting Mark Set

The $45,180 handled in yesterday's sixth race sent the handle for the meet to $2,604,340 which left last year's all-time high of $2,587,428 in the shade. The latter figure was the highest amount ever bet at a ten-day meeting at Fairgo. An additional sum of $128,975 was wagered in the last two events on yesterday's card to increase the handle over last year's ten-day total to $145,887. The daily average for nine days this year is $303,701. The 1945 ten-day average was $258,742.

J. N. Wynkoop's Rough Honey, overlooked in the betting, galloped home ahead of Army Belle to annex the main event, The Col. John Keating Memorial. Danny Scocca piloted the long shot which paid off at 19 to 1.

White Easter Scores

E. L. Poston's White Easter was returned the winner over Alhalon by two lengths in the sixth, the Fraternal Order of Eagles Trophy. It marked the fourth win for Poston mare this year and the tenth consecutive time that the five-year old had finished in the money. White Easter has taken second money in six races since she launched her 1946 campaign at Charles Town in June. The daughter of Belfonds has won $6,350 for her owner this year, including $700 yesterday.

Robert Moses "Lefty" Grove, of Lonaconing, one-time pitching ace of the Baltimore Orioles, Philadelphia Athletics and Boston Red Sox, presented the Eagles' trophy to Owner-Trainer Poston. Clifton W. White, president and general manager of the fair association, introduced Grove, who in turn congratulated the thoroughbred's owner and Jockey Eddie Ballenger.

J. E. Feil's Mother Daisy with L. Bauer up was the first of the five outsiders to register victories by scoring a three lengths' win over Circus Wings, the favorite, in the opener.

Mayfern, owned by E. A. Nicodemus, and ridden by Patsy Grant, defeated Gradea by two lengths to annex the second event. Gay Thorn was third. Backers of Mayfern were paid off at the rate of 5 to 1.

The parade of the good paying horses continued through the third event when Our Fortune, with C. A. Walters in the pilot house, won by two lengths over Mithia with Nancy's Hero third. The price on the winner was $17.50.

Wins Fifth Straight

W. B. Casilear's Idle Gossip, which won here last week, extended its winning streak to five races by galloping home ahead of Titian by a length's margin in the fourth. The winner, ridden by Johnny Tammaro, returned 90 cents on the $1. It was the ninth winning start for the five-year-old bay gelding trained by Dan Chamblin since May 30.

After White Easter had helped the favorites' cause in the sixth, Wild Knight with G. Cardoza aboard scored over Specialist and Chiff Chaff in the seventh to return $13.50 for $2.

J. A. Reeves' Scotch Flag, the choice of the bettors, took top money in the eighth. It was Johnny Tammaro's second winning mount of the day moving him into the runnerup position in the jockey standings, 16 points behind Bobby Runyon who increased his point total to 85 with two seconds and a third.

LEADS RIDERS—Bobby Runyon, of Johnson City, Kansas, is the No. 1 rider as the Cumberland Fair Association's race meeting goes into its tenth and final day. Bobby has piloted 13 winners, five seconds and five thirds for a total of 85 points, sixteen in front of his closest competitor, Johnny Tammaro. If Runyon retains the lead today he will receive the Harvey Jewelry Company trophy, awarded annually to the leading winning rider. Bobby rides at 100 pounds and broke his maiden at Charles Town track in July.

Two Trophy Races Appear On Fairgo Getaway Program

Shewbridge Named Racing Secretary At Marlboro Track

The Cumberland Fair Association today will lower the curtain on the most successful race meeting ever held at Fairgo.

Two trophy races appear on the Getaway Day card. The American Legion trophy, donated by Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, will be presented to the owner of the winning horse in the fifth race. The John B. Gunning Memorial. The sixth event carries with it in addition to $700 out of the $1,000 purse, the Harvey Jewelry Company trophy for the owner of the winning thoroughbred.

Average Here Is $303,701

Wagering for the nine days thus far has averaged $303,701, ah all-time high for the local half miler. A $400,000 final day would fail to catch up with the recent Hagerstown meet's average of $314. The ten-day handle here is expected to amount to approximately $3,000,000.

The leading jockey and leading trainer will be presented diamond rings by the Harvey Jewelry Company today. Bobby Runyon heads the jockey parade and Norman "Junie" Corbin has saddled the most winners.

Named Marlboro Secretary

William M. Shewbridge, racing secretary at Fairgo, yesterday was named to fill a similar post at the Marlboro meeting which opens September 14.

Shewbridge succeeds Gordon Morrow, who will remain at Narragansett Park, due to the illness of Matthias Shea, who makes up that track's programs.

Shea, who is a patient at Mercy Hospital, Baltimore, has cancelled his official duties at Laurel, Pimlico, Bowie and Gulfstream Park, and will rest until next April.

Shewbridge, currently doing an excellent job at Fairgo, will also serve as racing secretary at Timonium which opens its 10-day meeting on Monday.

PITTSBURGH STEELERS CRUSH NEWARK, 42-0

HERSHEY, Pa., Aug. 30 (AP)—Scoring once in each of the first two periods and exploding four touchdowns in the third, the Pittsburgh Steelers blanked the Newark, N. J., Bombers of the American Football League, 42-0, tonight for their second decisive exhibition victory of the season.

Twenty-one penalties, most of them for delaying the game, cost the national football league team 180 yards.

Bullet Bill Dudley scored two touchdowns and booted four straight points - after-touchdowns. Steve Lach tallied from 11 yards out. Center Chuck Cerundolo raced 38 yards to paydirt with an intercepted pass, and sub halfback Johnny Clement sprinted 70 yards to score. Final six-pointer was tallied by reserve fullback Tony Compagno on a three-yard buck. Single point conversions were added by Clement and Campagno.

Pellone Gets Nod In 10-Round Bout With Bill Graham

Unpopular Decision Marks Welterweight Fight In New York

NEW YORK, Aug. 30—(AP)—Billy Graham, rangy New York welterweight who has whipped 65 other opponents, failed to get by Tony Pellone for the second time in his career tonight in the feature ten-rounder of an all-star Madison Square Garden card which also saw Bernie Docusen highly touted New Orleans swatter, and Larry Cisneros of Los Angeles, chalk up impressive victories. Pellone weighed 144; Graham 139.

The decision, however, was unpopular and drew such a roar of boos from the 13,229 fans who chipped in to a gross gate of $47,770 that the announcer was unable to make himself heard to introduce the next bout. He had to advise Judges Jack Gordon and Charley Rosen and Referee Barney Felix as to the identity of the two contestants and this made at least the names of the two fighters clear to all officials.

Until tonight, Graham had suffered only one setback in 66 starts, and that one was to Pellone. Tonight he was out to get even. Judge Rosen thought he did, six rounds to three, with one even. The Associated Press score card voted for him, seven rounds to two, with one even. But Referee Felix and Judge Gordon each gave five rounds to Pellone, another local larruper, and balloted for him as the winner.

The State of Maryland will resume the payment of bounties on foxes, Friday, September 6, Joseph A. Minke, regional game warden, announced last night.

Payments locally will be made every Friday at the home of Minke, 106 McKinley Avenue. Pelts must be brought to Minke's home for inspection and marking.

The state pays a bounty of $2 while the county pays $3 on each fox pelt.

Bounties are paid on both grey and red foxes the latter being more plentiful, Minke said, because their litters are larger. The litter of a gray fox is four to six while that of a red is six to nine.

Bounty payments will continue through June 30, 1947.

Hogan Sets Pace In Coast Tourney

Ben Posts Five-Under-Par 65 To Lead Keiser By One Stroke

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 30—(AP)—Favorite Benny Hogan, fresh from his victory in the national PGA tourney, blasted out a five-under-par 66 today to assume a one-stroke lead in the first round of the $15,000 Golden State golf tournament at the California Country Club.

Never going over par, the amazing 135-pound Hershey, Pa., professional clicked off five birdies—on the eighth, ninth, twelfth, thirteenth and seventeenth holes. It was the first time Hogan had played the hilly 6,328-yard course.

One stroke behind the dynamic lightweight was Herman Keiser, Akron, Ohio, with 33-34—67. Keiser, winner of Bobby Jones Masters Tourney, also had five birdies but he slipped one over on the fifteenth.

As the first half of the stellar field of 144 completed the opening round of the 72-hole joust, Toney Penna, Cincinnati, O., and veteran Jack Gage, San Bernardino, Calif., were close up with 69s. Penna had 35-34, including two smashing eagles, Gage and Stewart took 34-35.

Boston Red Sox Grab Twin Bill From Athletics

Hughson And Bagby Score 6-0 And 6-2; Ump Passarella Injured

BOSTON, Aug. 30 (AP)—With Tex Hughson and Jim Bagby giving artistic pitching performances, the Boston Red Sox today swept a doubleheader with the lowly Philadelphia Athletics, 6-0 and 6-2.

Hughson limited the A's to four scattered singles while gaining the shutout that marked his 15th win. The Sockers collected all nine of their hits against starter Luther Knerr before chasing him from the mound with a five-run barrage in the fifth inning.

During the previous frame, Art Passarella, umpiring behind the plate, had his jaw, which was seriously injured in Washington earlier in the season, dislocated by a foul tip and left the game.

While Bagby was limiting the visitors to five hits in the nightcap, Rudy York bashed out his 15th homer for the Sockers against Phil Marchildon, who also went the full distance. Box:

VICTIM OF RAY—Elmer (Violent) Ray, of Hastings, Fla., projects his knockout magic on Lee Savold, Paterson, N. J., heavyweight, kayoing the easterner in the second of a 10-round bout. It was Ray's 13th straight knockout triumph and the 39th in his last 44 bouts.

East's Top Two Year Olds To Vie In Hopeful Stakes

Winner To Get $46,950; Blue Border Favored; Stymie Is Choice In Saratoga Cup

By SID FEDER

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 30 (AP)—The east's top two-year old gallopers, who have been spinning around like so many merry go-round horses this season—and have gone just about as far toward picking a champion—figure to do some straightening out on the matter at the spa tomorrow.

Twelve of them, headed by three of the current meeting's stake winners and the Arlington Futurity glamour boy, Cosmic Bomb, collide in the 42nd running of the classic Hopeful Stakes, racing's annual late-summer feature for juveniles. The 6½-furlong dash—first time this year the "babies" have gone that far—not only carries a $46,950 paycheck for the winner but also should go along way toward untangling the juvenile title scramble, at least for the east, pending such fall developments as the Belmont and Pimlico futurities.

This field of 12, in which the rapid-running Blue Border figures to go to the post the favorite, practically amounts to a rodeo compared with the contenders in the ancient Saratoga Cup, co-feature of this getaway day card of the spa's most successful meeting.

Just two horses accepted the shot at the $11,150 winner's purse in this mile-and-six furlong grind, and Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' Stymie figures to get to the paying teller's window in front of Walter Jeffords' Trymenow. If he does, the one-time $1,500 selling plater will skyrocket up to fourth place among the turf's all-time top money winners. He already has $365,090 in the bank.

Topping the hopeful field is Blue Border, as unknown as a milk-wagon plug until a week ago when he scampered to a sizzling win in the Grand Union Hotel Stakes with a 1:09 3-5 track record.

Since the death of Col. E. R. Bradley two weeks ago, he races in the colors of the Colonel's brother, John.

His chief work tomorrow will be to turn back Mrs. Isabel Dodge Sloan's Grand Admiral, who splashed home in the Saratoga Special two weeks ago, but wound up third in the Grand Union. And there is more than a little support of Cosmic Bomb, the $29,500 yearling buy of New Orleans' oil-man Bill Helis, who followed up his Arlington Futurity win by coming back east and finishing sixth in the Grand Union.

Mixed Doubles Final Is Scheduled Sunday

The final rounds in mixed doubles for the county tennis championship will be played Sunday afternoon on the Country Club courts, as follows:

Miss Betty Flake and L. E. Van Sant will play Mrs. and Mr. Gordon Bowie, in the semi-finals. The winner meeting in the finals the victor in the Miss Joan Rilling and Jack Evans vs. Mrs. Jeannette Eyler Leasure and Maurice Bernstein match.

STARTS SOMETHING — Charges that "from across the country comes the report of the virtual hiring of players to play college football," made by Maj. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, war hero and now superintendent of the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, have started a nation-wide battle of words. The utterances grew out of the alleged efforts of Mississippi State to get Tom (Shorty) McWilliams, Army back, to return to the southern school where he played prior to going to West Point.

State May Hold Pre-Race Tests

Stimulation Rule Will Be Up For Discussion On Sept. 18

BALTIMORE, Aug. 30—(AP)—A meeting to consider the advisability of pre-race tests to discover possible stimulation of horses will be held by the Maryland Racing Commission and representatives of trainers, breeders, and racing associations.

Also up for discussion will be the agency's new rule governing stimulation. The Maryland Court of Appeals recently invalidated a regulation making trainers solely responsible for any drugging, whether or not they could be proved guilty of administering the stimulant.

Mahoney said the "importance of the meeting is well realized by interested parties who have given definite assurance of their presence."

They will include representatives of the American Trainers Association, the nine Maryland racing associations, the Maryland Horsebreeders Association, the Federal Bureau of Narcotics, and the racing commission's veterinarians, pharmacologists, and chemists.

Cumberland-Bedford Lions Plan Golf Match

Among those who will represent the local club are Gordon Bowie, captain, and George Sellers, Cyrus Bowers, Dr. John K. Rozum, Gilbert Rehbeck, Richard Leonard, T. B. Korsmo, Alvin E. Yaste, Robert Lee Hunter and Fletcher Horn.

The match will be the first event in the club's expansion of its sports program and Yaste, club publicity chairman, said a return match will probably be scheduled here later in the season.

Servo And Robinson Fit For Title Fight

NEW YORK, Aug. 30—(AP)—Marty Servo, world welterweight champion, and Challenger Ray (Sugar) Robinson both were declared in excellent condition today by Dr. Vincent Mardiello of the New York State Athletic Commission.

John Creegan Posts 69

Yvon Petra Given Honor Of Opening National Tourney

Tall French Tennis Star To Play Virginian In Match Today

NEW YORK, Aug. 30 (AP) — Yvon Petra, the six-foot, five-inch stringbean from France who scored a surprise triumph in the first postwar Wimbledon tournament, has been given the honor of prying open the national tennis championships tomorrow at Forest Hills.

The first match on the stadium court will find the big fellow, top seeded among the foreign contingent, matched with Harold Burrows of Charlottesville, Va. Although Burrows is considered a comer, it was believed unlikely he would extend Petra, a terrific server, past the necessary three sets.

Other opening round matches on the show court will pit Dorothy Bundy of Santa Monica, Calif., against Dorothy Head of Alameda, Calif.; William F. Talbert of Wilmington, Del., vs. Bill Vogt of Philadelphia; Mrs. Kay Stammers Menzies vs. Mrs. Virginia Wolfenden Kovacs of San Francisco and Tom Brown, Jr., of San Francisco, vs. Fred Kovaleski of Detroit.

FBI Makes Four Arrests In Bookmaking Racket

NEW YORK, Aug. 30 (AP)—Wives' complaints that their husbands were being discharged from jobs at the Brooklyn army base because they "refused to place horse bets with certain individuals" brought the FBI into the picture today as city police officials pressed their own inquiry into possible links between police and gamblers.

The FBI announced four arrests as it struck, in co-operation with military intelligence officers, at an alleged bookmaking ring said to be doing an estimated $3,000 a week business at the army base.

Giants Retain Colts

RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 30 (AP) — Eddie Mooers, owner of the Richmond Colts of the Piedmont League, renewed his club's working agreement with the New York Giants today and vigorously denied reports that the Richmond franchise was for sale.

Earlier today, in Washington, the vice-president of the Washington Senators, Calvin Griffith, said that the Senators were interested in purchasing the Richmond franchise.

Boston Red Sox Grab Twin Bill From Athletics

Hughson And Bagby Score 6-0 And 6-2; Ump Passarella Injured

BOSTON, Aug. 30 (AP)—With Tex Hughson and Jim Bagby giving artistic pitching performances, the Boston Red Sox today swept a doubleheader with the lowly Philadelphia Athletics, 6-0 and 6-2.

Hughson limited the A's to four scattered singles while gaining the shutout that marked his 15th win. The Sockers collected all nine of their hits against starter Luther Knerr before chasing him from the mound with a five-run barrage in the fifth inning.

During the previous frame, Art Passarella, umpiring behind the plate, had his jaw, which was seriously injured in Washington earlier in the season, dislocated by a foul tip and left the game.

While Bagby was limiting the visitors to five hits in the nightcap, Rudy York bashed out his 15th homer for the Sockers against Phil Marchildon, who also went the full distance. Box:

East's Top Two Year Olds To Vie In Hopeful Stakes

Winner To Get $46,950; Blue Border Favored; Stymie Is Choice In Saratoga Cup

By SID FEDER

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 30 (AP)—The east's top two-year old gallopers, who have been spinning around like so many merry go-round horses this season—and have gone just about as far toward picking a champion—figure to do some straightening out on the matter at the spa tomorrow.

Twelve of them, headed by three of the current meeting's stake winners and the Arlington Futurity glamour boy, Cosmic Bomb, collide in the 42nd running of the classic Hopeful Stakes, racing's annual late-summer feature for juveniles. The 6½-furlong dash—first time this year the "babies" have gone that far—not only carries a $46,950 paycheck for the winner but also should go along way toward untangling the juvenile title scrambie, at least for the east, pending such fall developments as the Belmont and Pimlico futurities.

This field of 12, in which the rapid-running Blue Border figures to go to the post the favorite, practically amounts to a rodeo compared with the contenders in the ancient Saratoga Cup, co-feature of this getaway day card of the spa's most successful meeting.

Just two horses accepted the shot at the $11,150 winner's purse in this mile-and-six furlong grind, and Mrs. Ethel D. Jacobs' Stymie figures to get to the paying teller's window in front of Walter Jeffords' Trymenow. If he does, the one-time $1,500 selling plater will skyrocket up to fourth place among the turf's all-time top money winners. He already has $365,090 in the bank.

Topping the hopeful field is Blue Border, as unknown as a milk-wagon plug until a week ago when he scampered to a sizzling win in the Grand Union Hotel Stakes with a 1:09 3-5 track record.

Since the death of Col. E. R. Bradley two weeks ago, he races in the colors of the Colonel's brother, John.

His chief work tomorrow will be to turn back Mrs. Isabel Dodge Sloan's Grand Admiral, who splashed home in the Saratoga Special two weeks ago, but wound up third in the Grand Union. And there is more than a little support of Cosmic Bomb, the $29,500 yearling buy of New Orleans' oil-man Bill Helis, who followed up his Arlington Futurity win by coming back east and finishing sixth in the Grand Union.

Mixed Doubles Final Is Scheduled Sunday

The final rounds in mixed doubles for the county tennis championship will be played Sunday afternoon on the Country Club courts, as follows:

Miss Betty Flake and L. E. Van Sant will play Mrs. and Mr. Gordon Bowie, in the semi-finals. The winner meeting in the finals the victor in the Miss Joan Rilling and Jack Evans vs. Mrs. Jeannette Eyler Leasure and Maurice Bernstein match.

STARTS SOMETHING — Charges that "from across the country comes the report of the virtual hiring of players to play college football," made by Maj. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, war hero and now superintendent of the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, have started a nation-wide battle of words. The utterances grew out of the alleged efforts of Mississippi State to get Tom (Shorty) McWilliams, Army back, to return to the southern school where he played prior to going to West Point.

State May Hold Pre-Race Tests

Stimulation Rule Will Be Up For Discussion On Sept. 18

BALTIMORE, Aug. 30—(AP)—A meeting to consider the advisability of pre-race tests to discover possible stimulation of horses will be held by the Maryland Racing Commission and representatives of trainers, breeders, and racing associations.

Commission Chairman George P. Mahoney said a "beneficial innovation" may develop from the meeting, scheduled for September 18.

Also up for discussion will be the agency's new rule governing stimulation. The Maryland Court of Appeals recently invalidated a regulation making trainers solely responsible for any drugging, whether or not they could be proved guilty of administering the stimulant.

Mahoney said the "importance of the meeting is well realized by interested parties who have given definite assurance of their presence."

They will include representatives of the American Trainers Association, the nine Maryland racing associations, the Maryland Horsebreeders Association, the Federal Bureau of Narcotics, and the racing commission's veterinarians, pharmacologists, and chemists.

Cumberland-Bedford Lions Plan Golf Match

Among those who will represent the local club are Gordon Bowie, captain, and George Sellers, Cyrus Bowers, Dr. John K. Rozum, Gilbert Rehbeck, Richard Leonard, T. B. Korsmo, Alvin E. Yaste, Robert Lee Hunter and Fletcher Horn.

The match will be the first event in the club's expansion of its sports program and Yaste, club publicity chairman, said a return match will probably be scheduled here later in the season.

Servo And Robinson Fit For Title Fight

NEW YORK, Aug. 30—(AP)—Marty Servo, world welterweight champion, and Challenger Ray (Sugar) Robinson both were declared in excellent condition today by Dr. Vincent Mardiello of the New York State Athletic Commission.

John Creegan Posts 69

Yvon Petra Given Honor Of Opening National Tourney

Tall French Tennis Star To Play Virginian In Match Today

NEW YORK, Aug. 30 (AP) — Yvon Petra, the six-foot, five-inch stringbean from France who scored a surprise triumph in the first postwar Wimbledon tournament, has been given the honor of prying open the national tennis championships tomorrow at Forest Hills.

The first match on the stadium court will find the big fellow, top seeded among the foreign contingent, matched with Harold Burrows of Charlottesville, Va. Although Burrows is considered a comer, it was believed unlikely that he would extend Petra, a terrific server, past the necessary three sets.

Other opening round matches on the show court will pit Dorothy Bundy of Santa Monica, Calif., against Dorothy Head of Alameda, Calif.; William F. Talbert of Wilmington, Del., vs. Bill Vogt of Philadelphia; Mrs. Kay Stammers Menzies vs. Mrs. Virginia Wolfenden Kovacs of San Francisco and Tom Brown, Jr., of San Francisco, vs. Fred Kovaleski of Detroit.

FBI Makes Four Arrests In Bookmaking Racket

NEW YORK, Aug. 30 (AP)—Wives' complaints that their husbands were being discharged from jobs at the Brooklyn army base because they "refused to place horse bets with certain individuals" brought the FBI into the picture today as city police officials pressed their own inquiry into possible links between police and gamblers.

The FBI announced four arrests as it struck, in co-operation with military intelligence officers, at an alleged bookmaking ring said to be doing an estimated $3,000 a week business at the army base.

Giants Retain Colts

RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 30 (AP) — Eddie Mooers, owner of the Richmond Colts of the Piedmont League, renewed his club's working agreement with the New York Giants today and vigorously denied reports that the Richmond franchise was for sale.

Earlier today, in Washington, the vice-president of the Washington Senators, Calvin Griffith, said that the Senators were interested in purchasing the Richmond franchise.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our wife and Mother, Mrs. Beulah Williams, who died three years ago, August 31, 1943.

Our family circle broken, still
Holding the faith that Mother taught
Before she went to sleep;
Knowing that He who tends his flock
Shelters her with his sheep.

JOHN EARL WILLIAMS, AND DAUGHTER.

For All Faiths

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our wife and Mother, Mrs. Beulah Williams, who died three years ago, August 31, 1943.

Our family circle broken, still
Its bond of love shall keep,
Holding the faith that Mother taught
Before she went to sleep;
Knowing that He who tends his flock
Shelters her with his sheep.

Court Test Of OPA Rent Control Is Seen Here

agistrate Upholds Plaintiffs In Eviction Proceedings; Defendants' Attorney Appeals

A test of the legality of federal rent control regulations in Allegany County and the State of Maryland was seen last night after counsel for the defendant in ejectment proceedings filed notice of an appeal to Circuit Court from a decision reached yesterday morning by Magistrate Oliver M. Bruce, Jr.

The decision, if it is upheld, also was seen as opening the door to landlords to proceed with eviction proceedings under state law, provided they gave legal notice to quit the premises to tenants during the interim period from June 30 to July 29 in which OPA regulations were not in effect.

Must Vacate

Following the hearing of the ejectment proceedings, filed by John Wickersham and Flora Wickersham, 500 Marshall street, against Mrs. Walter Johnson and Miss Flora Hodges, Magistrate Bruce granted a warrant of restitution to the plaintiffs, ruling that Miss Hodges would have to vacate the premises. Although Mrs. Johnson was named a party defendant, she had no interest in the case but was a former tenant, attorneys said they understood.

Magistrate Bruce ruled that OPA was not in existence during the interim period, that it was not necessary to comply with rent control regulations during that period, and that the only right the landlords had were those given by provisions of the Maryland Landlord and Tenant law, attorneys said.

Testimony showed that on July 12, the Wickershams gave legal notice to quit the premises at 514 Frederick street, which they purchased in June, to Miss Hodges, and that rent control regulations were not complied with by the landlords in that no petition for permission to eject a tenant was filed with the rent control board.

Compliance Question Arises

The question arose as to whether it was necessary for the landlord to comply with rent control regulations during the interim period until July 25 when OPA again became effective.

It was shown at the hearing that the amended act of Congress re-creating OPA provided that where tenants were in possession of premises on July 25 they could not be evicted unless proceedings were in compliance with rent control regulations, but that if tenants already had relinquished possession, whether by warrant of restitution or otherwise, before July 25 the latter proceedings would stand.

Following the decision, William E. Geppart, attorney for Miss Hodges, filed an appeal to Circuit Court. The case is expected to come up during the October term. F. Brooke Whiting represented the Wickersham.

Garment Worker's Claim To Be Heard

A hearing on the "test" case of a worker who has filed a claim for unemployment insurance on the grounds that the dispute at the Cumberland Underment Company is a "lockout" by the company, will be held September 4.

A referee of the Maryland Unemployment Compensation Board will come here from Baltimore to hear the case and determine whether the worker is entitled to compensation under the terms of the unemployment Compensation Act, according to Francis A. Kenney, chief claims deputy of the local office.

The claim was made by Wanda Ashenfelter, one of the employes at the plant which has been closed since July 18. Several other claims also have been filed.

In addition, almost 100 other cases are pending hearings before the referee who will be here about two weeks to handle them.

A feature of the hearings will be a portable recording device which will record all the testimony for the permanent records of the board. The law requires that a transcript of all cases be made and this method will speed up the hearings.

Dr. Deming Named Medical Examiner

The appointment of Dr. Herbert W. Deming as deputy county medical examiner was announced yesterday at the Board of County Commissioners' meeting. He succeeds Dr. Linne H. Corson, resigned.

Dr. Deming, who has been practicing medicine in Cumberland for the past 25 years, assumed the duties of deputy county medical examiner after Dr. Corson announced his resignation. Until the approval by Howard J. Maldeis, Baltimore, chief medical examiner of the Maryland Post Mortem Examiner's Commission, was announced, he has been acting examiner in this city.

The appointment, made under the Acts of 1938, General Assembly, is for "an indefinite period," according to Dr. Maldeis's letter. Deputy medical examiners in the state are paid of a fee basis. In Allegany County the monthly income averages more than $100, officials said.

Lewis Allbright, Ellerslie, presented a petition to the board asking that Allegany street in that town be repaired. The petition, signed by 40 residents, cited that it was the second request made.

The petitioners pointed out that all other streets in the town have been paved or otherwise improved, and Allegany street is in "a deplorable" condition. County Engineer John H. Carscaden was asked to investigate the complaint and report to the board.

The board passed an order to close the Court House all day Monday, Labor Day.

The negotiating committee, composed of Ralph C. Beard, president; Harry E. Castle, George B. Allen, A. E. Johnson and W. E. Plummer, who have been negotiating with the management of the local tire plant for several months on the agreement, will present details of the contract for approval or disapproval of the 2,000 members of the CIO local.

Three Are Hurt When Car Hits Moving Van

Wilbur Fresh, 20, Seriously Injured In Accident Near Rawlings

Three persons were injured, one seriously, when the automobile in which they were riding crashed against a moving van on Route 220 half a mile south of Rawlings between 10 and 10:30 o'clock last night.

The injured, taken to Allegany Hospital, were listed as Wilbur Fresh, 20, 213 Greene street, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Fresh; Winifred Combs, 19, 231 Paca street, son of Mrs. Ruth Combs, and Miss Gladys Bobo, 18, Dawson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Williams.

Fresh's condition was considered serious early this morning and he had failed to regain consciousness. His injuries were listed as a fractured left leg, possible head injuries, possible right shoulder injury and a laceration above the right eye.

Two Are Released

Miss Bobo, who complained of pain in her chest, and Combs, who suffered a left hand laceration, deep cut of the forehead, deep laceration under the chin, brush burns of both sides of the face, and two deep cuts on the right side of the head, were released from the hospital after treatment but were told to return later today. Miss Bobo will be X-rayed to determine the extent of her injuries and Combs will be given further treatment.

According to Combs, Fresh was the driver of the 1934 Ford four door sedan in which he and Miss Bobo were riding.

Combs said he and Fresh had been to Keyser, stopped at Dawson on the way back to Cumberland and picked up Miss Bobo at her home.

They were on a straight stretch of road approaching a curve when they noticed, "too late," the moving van coming toward them around the curve, Combs said, adding that he jerked the steering wheel, pulling the car to the other side of the road.

Combs said the car hit the right side of the truck and that he, Fresh and Miss Bobo were thrown from the machine. He added that the left side of the car was torn off.

Investigation Is Started

Miss Bobo, Combs said, was taken to a nearby home before the three of them were brought to the hospital in Stein's ambulance.

Combs said he had not been able to learn what happened to the driver of the moving van, and State Trooper G. M. Rotruck, who began the investigation, could not be contacted late this morning.

German Sends Note Pleading For Food

The local Red Cross office received a letter yesterday from a man in Hamburg, Germany, who wrote because he "got too much hungry every day." The letter was addressed originally to an uncle, Frank Pfeiffer, in Eckhart Mines with the provision on the envelope that it be opened by the Red Cross if Pfeiffer could not be found.

In the letter Alfred Rofanski pleads with his uncle, or whoever opens the letter, to send food "because in Hamburg we have not victuals enough to save our life." He offered to send stamps or do any thing else the sender asked in exchange for the food.

Rofanski, who was last in this country in 1908, said, "I am not, and was not a member of the Nazi party. I was, on the contrary, an anti-Nazi, and those people have judged me enough."

The letter, which is written first in German and then in English, was opened by the Red Cross after Pfeiffer could not be traced by the post office. It will be turned over to any relatives who claim it, Mrs. Louise Dean, secretary of home service, said.

Police Investigate Three Larceny Reports

City police were investigating yesterday the report of Oscar E. Morris, 423 Virginia avenue, that his 21 jewel Elgin watch was stolen at the B. and O. YMCA early yesterday morning.

Also under investigation is the report of Mrs. G. L. Coffman, LaVale, concerning an amethyst ring stolen last May.

R. C. Phillips, 921 Maryland avenue, reported to police that a tool chest containing a complete set of carpenter's tools was stolen from his car parked on North George street Thursday.

Car Hits Pedestrian

Herman G. Washington, 45, 114 Chase street, reported yesterday that the car he was driving struck a woman at the intersection of Baltimore and Mechanic streets at 3 p. m. The driver told police he was crossing on the green light and that the woman was struck by the bumper when she stepped in front of the car. He added he was unable to learn her identity since she was gone by the time he parked his car and returned to the intersection.

Condition Is "Good"

William I. "Pat" Mills, 71, 220 Paca street, who collapsed in the city warehouse yesterday afternoon while at work, was reported in "good" condition last night at Allegany Hospital.

Mills, a Street Department employe since July, 1909, is timekeeper for the department. He observed his 71st birthday Tuesday.

YMCA Fall Schedule Of Athletic Activities Will Start Next Week

Copies Of Program For Season To Be Mailed To "Y" Members

The fall schedule of activities at Central YMCA, effective September 1, was announced last night by C. Van Roby, physical director. Because of the Labor Day holiday, activities listed for Monday will be deferred until next week.

A detailed list of the athletic schedule will be mailed in the near future to YMCA members, Roby said.

New classes to be offered this season include a men's volleyball class Monday and Wednesday evenings; use of gym facilities by senior men Monday and Thursday evenings; and an extra gym period for high school girls Thursday afternoons.

Badminton Classes

Men's activities include noon volleyball on Monday and Wednesday; badminton for men and women, and golf instruction on Monday evening; and a gym period for Celanese men on Thursday evening.

Gym periods for boys, women and girls are also scheduled during the week. No gym periods will be held on Friday's.

Roby said the gym will be available for individual exercises when no class is scheduled to use the floor. Showers will be available from 9 a. m. until 10 p. m.

The schedule to be mailed to "Y" members will include a detailed account of the swimming program for men, women, Junior A and B boys and girls from the ages of 9 to 14, and high school boys and girls. A period of regular "test passing" for those taking swimming instruction will be held each Friday afternoon for boys and girls.

Gym Renovated

Swimming instructors will be James E. Kelley, Jr., and Elmo Channell. William Linn will serve as lifeguard.

Renovation of the gym and swimming pool will be completed this weekend. All basketball, badminton and volleyball lines have been repainted, and the gym floor has been refinished. The pool has been drained and cleaned, and the spectators' balcony and locker rooms and showers have been repainted.

Cumiskey Is Named Postal Executive

Thomas B. Cumiskey, Jr., this city, has been appointed assistant postmaster of the Cumberland Post Office, it was announced yesterday by the First Assistant Postmaster General in Washington.

Cumiskey will succeed James W. Webster, who resigned two months ago after 47 years of service. Webster has remained at his post because of the simultaneous resignations of Postmaster James C. Shriver and M. E. Robinette, superintendent of mails on July 1.

A graduate of LaSalle High School, Cumiskey attended St. Charles College, Catonsville, before entering the postal service in Cumberland in October, 1936, as a substitute clerk. In 1942 he was named a member of the Postal Inspection Service and was assigned to the Chicago Division of the post office.

Most of his service as a postal inspector was in Clarksburg, W. Va., but he has worked out of the local post office in recent months.

Cumiskey is married to the former Miss Helen Stakem, this city. They have three children. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cumiskey, Sr.

Annual Improvements Planned For Fairgo

Speaking at a dinner for Cumberland Fair officials, John Schwarzenbach, association treasurer, said annual improvements at the race track is part of a long-range program planned by the board.

The dinner was given Thursday night by Harry M. Stevens Company, Inc., for officers and directors of the Fair association at the Jockey Club. Schwarzenbach said it is the aim of the organization to give Cumberland and the tri-state area a racing track "that they can be proud of."

F. Brooke Whiting served as toastmaster and short talks were made by Clifton W. White, president and general manager, Tasker G. Lowndes, vice president, J. William Graham, secretary of the Maryland Racing Commission, Racing Secretary William H. Shewbridge, Wilmer Brinton, Jr., steward at Fairgo, Gus Hartshorn, manager of the Stevens Company, and Schwarzenbach.

Brinton expressed hope that suitable accommodations for meals and recreation for horsemen will soon be available at Fairgo.

Residents Complain Of Flooded Cellars

Some property owners asked the city to clean out cellars but they were informed that the city does not assume any responsibility for cleaning cellars as a result of storms.

Commissioner Myers G. Light pointed out that the sewer system cannot handle heavy downpours because a number of large sewers empty into smaller pipes.

Collision Victim Is Still Critical

Attaches of Memorial Hospital reported last night there was "no change" yesterday in the condition of Lester Charles Kidwell, Levels, W. Va., who was critically injured late Thursday afternoon in a two-car collision near Fort Ashby, W. Va.

Howard Burkett, 35, Points, W. Va., another victim of the crash, however, was reported in a "good" condition in Allegany Hospital, and Harry Grine, 36, Natrona Heights, Pa., were both reported in "good" condition in Memorial Hospital last night.

Movies on related subjects will be shown, and the seminar will conclude with a test examination at the closing session Friday morning, September 20.

Accident Victim Is Reported Improved

Garland Chester Jose, 34, Beryl, W. Va., who was critically injured when he fell from a lumber truck near Romney, W. Va., Saturday night, was reported in an "improved" condition in Allegany Hospital last night.

Jose, a plumber, was admitted to the hospital early Sunday morning for treatment of a fractured pelvis, ruptured bladder and brush burns of the head, face, arms, ankle and back after he was found lying along the road Sunday morning about 7 o'clock.

Trooper L. W. Kelly, of the Romney, W. Va., state police, who investigated, said Jose was injured about 9 p. m. Saturday when he fell from the back end of a lumber truck operated by Richard Barnard, of Crock's Hollow, near Romney.

The trooper explained that Jose accompanied Barnard after the latter delivered a load of lumber to Luke and that Barnard stopped at the home of his brother who lives on the same logging road, and believed that Jose got off the truck there.

Jose, who he said was standing up at the rear of the truck, apparently fell off and lay in the road until Sunday at 7 a. m. when Barnard came down the hollow and found him. Jose's sister, who was riding in the cab of the truck, also thought Jose got off at Barnard's brother's home, Trooper Kelly said.

Brakeman Is Hurt In Fall From Train

John Stapleton, 59, 314 Columbia street, a Baltimore and Ohio Railroad brakeman, was admitted to Allegany Hospital last night for treatment of chest injuries suffered, attaches were told, when he fell from a train near Ellerslie.

Attaches added that his condition was "fair" and that X-rays will be taken today to determine the extent of his injuries.

Vincent Martin, 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Vincent Martin, 509 Riehl avenue, was treated in the same hospital yesterday about 1:30 p. m. for a laceration of the right leg. Five sutures were used to close the cut suffered when he fell upon a broken bottle while playing.

B. And O. Orders 1,000 Cars; Will Seek More

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Aug. 30 (AP)—Roy B. White, president of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, said today the carrier had ordered 1,000 box cars yesterday and "we'll order another 1,000 hopper cars tomorrow and more subsequently."

Asked for comment on the prevailing car shortage hampering coal production in Northern West Virginia, White said "the cars will have to be handled differently." He declined to elaborate.

He told his guests the $1,250,000 B. and O. bridge over the Kanawha River at Point Pleasant would be opened next year and was "important to Huntington" because it is a gateway to the north.

Seven Births Reported

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Stitcher, 440 Columbia street, announce the birth of a daughter Friday morning in Allegany Hospital.

New Contract Is Ratified By Luke Paper Workers

Agreement Includes Flat Six-Cent Hourly Raise, Third Holiday

WESTERNPORT, Aug. 30—A new contract covering approximately 4,000 persons employed at the Luke, Covington, Va., and Williamsburg, Pa., plants of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company was ratified at all three plants at union membership meetings today.

This was announced tonight by Henry McGowan, president of Local 676, United Paper Workers of America, CIO, the Luke local. McGowan said that approximately 1,700 persons, nearly 100 per cent of the Luke employes, ratified the contract at two meetings this afternoon. He said he contacted locals at Covington and Williamsburg and learned that union employes there had also ratified the agreement.

The contract, to be effective next pay day, Wednesday, and retroactive for the preceding week, calls for a flat increase of six cents an hour for all workers. The basic rate being paid at the Luke plant is 83 cents per hour.

Other provisions of the contract, agreed upon at conferences in Washington by company and union officials and a representative of the National Labor Relations Board during the past nine days, include a two and a half per cent increase in the Christmas bonus and setting the Fourth of July as another holiday with pay for workers, McGowen said.

Originally the Christmas bonus was $7.50 for employes who had worked at the plant for one year or more, and $12.50 for employes who had worked over five years. Workers already had Labor Day and Christmas as holidays with pay.

Ratification of the contract closes 12 days of negotiations, during which the union sought a 15-cent flat hourly increase, with five cents for those working on the second shift, and ten cents additional for employes on the third shift. The union also sought a union shop.

American Legion Post Organized At Cresaptown

William Summers, World War II Veteran, Is Named Commander

William H. Summers, Cresaptown, an Army veteran of Pacific service in World War II, was elected commander of a new American Legion post being formed in Cresaptown at an organization meeting held last night in the Cresaptown Fire Hall.

Summers, who is employed in the Textile Department of the Celanese plant, served in China and the Pacific theater for two years before his discharge several months ago.

He was nominated without opposition by Harper White, a Potomac Park veteran of World War I, and elected by a majority vote. Approximately 50 veterans of both World Wars attended the meeting, which was arranged by White, also a Celanese employe and a veteran of 18 months' service overseas in the First World War.

Will Select Name

The remainder of the officers will be chosen at a meeting to be held Friday, September 13, at 8 p. m. at the Cresaptown Fire Hall. The name of the post will also be selected at that time.

Approximately 25 veterans signed a petition applying for charter papers for the new post. Fifteen signers are necessary for an application. Samuel A. Graham, Mountain District Vice Commander, who explained charter procedure, informed the veterans that the application will be acted upon next Wednesday by the organization committee of Mountain District, after which he will take it to Baltimore for presentation to the Maryland Department.

400 Veterans Eligible

An estimated 400 veterans of both World Wars are eligible for membership in the new post, which will include Cresaptown, Bowling Green, Potomac Park, Pinto, Rawlings and the Winchester Road section.

Veterans of that area who are already members of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, Cumberland, will be transferred automatically to the new post when it is chartered, White said.

Graham was accompanied to the meeting by W. Earle Cobey and John T. Fey, members of Fort Cumberland Post, who explained the principles and activities of the Legion.

Frostburg Beer License Opposed

A remonstrance was filed in Circuit Court yesterday against issuance of a beer and wine license sought by Michael Zumpano on Beall street, extended, Frostburg. The protest was filed by 17 residents of the neighborhood who previously filed a remonstrance against issuance of a license to Milton L. White, negro, whose premises, they said, are about 30 feet away from Zumpano's. No date for a hearing was set by the court.

John V. Richardson, 57 Park avenue, John H. Goldsworthy, 25 Park avenue, and 15 other property owners in the area said Beall street is a "dead end" thoroughfare and a beer and wine license at that location is "not desirable or necessary." They also cited that the area is a residential section and alleged property values would depreciate. In addition, they said the place is near State Teachers College and Beall Elementary School and that such an establishment would "contribute to the delinquency of minors."

A hearing on the remonstrance against issuance of a license to White was held recently, but a decision has not been announced by the judges.

Mrs. Annabel S. Gordon sued for a partial divorce from James H. Gordon, Barrelville, charging cruelty. She asks for the custody of their minor child. Julius E. Schindler is her attorney.

Court Test Of OPA Rent Control Is Seen Here

agistrate Upholds Plaintiffs In Eviction Proceedings; Defendants' Attorney Appeals

A test of the legality of federal rent control regulations in Allegany County and the State of Maryland was seen last night after counsel for the defendant in ejectment proceedings filed notice of an appeal to Circuit Court from a decision reached yesterday morning by Magistrate Oliver H. Bruce, Jr.

The decision, if it is upheld, also was seen as opening the door to landlords to proceed with eviction proceedings under state law, provided they gave legal notice to quit the premises to tenants during the interim period from June 30 to July 29 in which OPA regulations were not in effect.

Must Vacate

Following the hearing of the ejectment proceedings, filed by John Wickersham and Flora Wickersham, 509 Marshall street, against Mrs. Walter Johnson and Miss Flora Hodges, Magistrate Bruce granted a warrant of restitution to the plaintiffs, ruling that Miss Hodges would have to vacate the premises. Although Mrs. Johnson was named a party defendant, she had no interest in the case but was a former tenant, attorneys said they understood.

Magistrate Bruce ruled that OPA was not in existence during the interim period, that it was not necessary to comply with rent control regulations during that period, and that the only right the landlords had were those given by provisions of the Maryland Landlord and Tenant law, attorneys said.

Testimony showed that on July 12, the Wickershams gave legal notice to quit the premises at 514 Frederick street, which they purchased in June, to Miss Hodges, and that rent control regulations were not complied with by the landlords in that no petition for permission to eject a tenant was filed with the rent control board.

Compliance Question Arises

The question arose as to whether it was necessary for the landlord to comply with rent control regulations during the interim period until July 26 when OPA again became effective.

It was shown at the hearing that the amended act of Congress re-creating OPA provided that where tenants were in possession of premises on July 25 they could not be evicted unless proceedings were in compliance with rent control regulations, but that if tenants already had relinquished possession, whether by warrant of restitution or otherwise, before July 25 the latter proceedings would stand.

Following the decision, William H. Geppert, attorney for Miss Hodges, filed an appeal to Circuit Court. The case is expected to come up during the October term. F. Brooke Whiting represented the Wickersham.

Garment Worker's Claim To Be Heard

A hearing on the "test" case of a worker who has filed a claim for unemployment insurance on the grounds that the dispute at the Cumberland Underment Company is a "lockout" by the company, will be held September 4.

A referee of the Maryland Unemployment Compensation Board will come here from Baltimore to hear the case and determine whether the worker is entitled to compensation under the terms of the unemployment Compensation Act, according to Francis A. Kenney, chief claims deputy of the local office.

The claim was made by Wanda Ashenfelter, one of the employes at the plant which has been closed since July 18. Several other claims also have been filed.

In addition, almost 100 other cases are pending hearings before the referee who will be here about two weeks to handle them.

A feature of the hearings will be a portable recording device which will record all the testimony for the permanent records of the board. The law requires that a transcript of all cases be made and this method will speed up the hearings.

Dr. Deming Named Medical Examiner

The appointment of Dr. Herbert V. Deming as deputy county medical examiner was announced yesterday at the Board of County Commissioners' meeting. He succeeds Dr. Linne H. Corson, resigned.

Dr. Deming, who has been practicing medicine in Cumberland for the past 25 years, assumed the duties of deputy county medical examiner after Dr. Corson announced his resignation. Until the approval by Howard J. Maldeis, Baltimore, chief medical examiner of the Maryland Post Mortem Examiner's Commission, was announced, he has been acting examiner in this city.

The appointment, made under the Acts of 1938, General Assembly, is for "an indefinite period," according to Dr. Maldeis's letter. Deputy medical examiners in the state are paid of a fee basis. In Allegany County the monthly income averages more than $100, officials said.

Lewis Allbright, Ellerslie, presented a petition to the board asking that Allegany street in that town be repaired. The petition, signed by 40 residents, cited that it was the second request made.

The petitioners pointed out that all other streets in the town have been paved or otherwise improved, and Allegany street is in "a deplorable" condition. County Engineer John H. Carscaden was asked to investigate the complaint and report to the board.

The board passed an order to close the Court House all day Monday, Labor Day.

Three persons were injured, one seriously, when the automobile in which they were riding crashed against a moving van on Route 220 half a mile south of Rawlings between 10 and 10:30 o'clock last night.

Miss Bobo, who complained of pain in her chest, and Combs, who suffered a left hand laceration, deep cut of the forehead, deep laceration under the chin, brush burns of both sides of the face, and two deep cuts on the right side of the head, were released from the hospital after treatment but were told to return later today. Miss Bobo will be X-rayed to determine the extent of her injuries and Combs will be given further treatment.

According to Combs, Fresh was the driver of the 1934 Ford four door sedan in which he and Miss Bobo were riding.

Combs said he and Fresh had been to Keyser, stopped at Dawson on the way back to Cumberland and picked up Miss Bobo at her home.

They were on a straight stretch of road approaching a curve when they noticed, "too late," the moving van coming toward them around the curve, Combs said, adding that he jerked the steering wheel, pulling the car to the other side of the road.

Combs said the car hit the right side of the truck and that he, Fresh and Miss Bobo were thrown from the machine. He added that the left side of the car was torn off.

Miss Bobo, Combs said, was taken to a nearby home before the three of them were brought to the hospital in Stein's ambulance.

Combs said he had not been able to learn what happened to the driver of the moving van, and State Trooper G. M. Rotruck, who began the investigation, could not be contacted late this morning.

German Sends Note Pleading For Food

The local Red Cross office received a letter yesterday from a man in Hamburg, Germany, who wrote because he "got too much hungry every day." The letter was addressed originally to an uncle, Frank Pfeiffer, in Eckhart Mines with the provision on the envelope that it be opened by the Red Cross if Pfeiffer could not be found.

In the letter Alfred Rofanski pleads with his uncle, or whoever opens the letter, to send food "because in Hamburg we have not victuals enough to save our life." He offered to send stamps or do any thing else the sender asked in exchange for the food.

Rofanski, who was last in this country in 1908, said, "I am not, and was not a member of the Nazi party. I was, on the contrary, an anti-Nazi, and those people have judged me enough."

The letter, which is written first in German and then in English, was opened by the Red Cross after Pfeiffer could not be traced by the post office. It will be turned over to any relatives who claim it, Mrs. Louise Dean, secretary of home service, said.

Accident Victim Is Reported Improved

Garland Chester Jose, 34, Beryl, W. Va., who was critically injured when he fell from a lumber truck near Romney, W. Va., Saturday night, was reported in an "improved" condition in Allegany Hospital last night.

Jose, a plumber, was admitted to the hospital early Sunday morning for treatment of a fractured pelvis, ruptured bladder and brush burns of the head, face, arms, ankle and back after he was found lying along the road Sunday morning about 7 o'clock.

Trooper L. W. Kelly, of the Romney, W. Va., state police, who investigated, said Jose was injured about 9 p. m. Saturday when he fell from the back end of a lumber truck operated by Richard Barnard, of Crock's Hollow, near Romney.

The trooper explained that Jose accompanied Barnard after the latter delivered a load of lumber to Luke and that Barnard stopped at the home of his brother who lives on the same logging road, and believed that Jose got off the truck there.

Jose, who he said was standing up at the rear of the truck, apparently fell off and lay in the road until Sunday at 7 a. m. when Barnard came down the hollow and found him. Jose's sister, who was riding in the cab of the truck, also thought Jose got off at Barnard's brother's home, Trooper Kelly said.

New Contract Is Ratified By Luke Paper Workers

Agreement Includes Flat Six-Cent Hourly Raise, Third Holiday

WESTERNPORT, Aug. 30—A new contract covering approximately 4,000 persons employed at the Luke, Covington, Va., and Williamsburg, Pa., plants of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company was ratified at all three plants at union membership meetings today.

This was announced tonight by Harry McGowan, president of Local 676, United Paper Workers of America, CIO, the Luke local. McGowan said that approximately 1,700 persons, nearly 100 per cent of the Luke employes, ratified the contract at two meetings this afternoon. He said he contacted locals at Covington and Williamsburg and learned that union employes there had also ratified the agreement.

The contract, to be effective next pay day, Wednesday, and retroactive for the preceding week, calls for a flat increase of six cents an hour for all workers. The basic rate being paid at the Luke plant is 83 cents per hour.

Other provisions of the contract, agreed upon at conferences in Washington by company and union officials and a representative of the National Labor Relations Board during the past nine days, include a two and a half per cent increase in the Christmas bonus and setting the Fourth of July as another holiday with pay for workers, McGowen said.

Originally the Christmas bonus was $7.50 for employes who had worked at the plant for one year or more, and $12.50 for employes who had worked over five years. Workers already had Labor Day and Christmas as holidays with pay.

Ratification of the contract closes 12 days of negotiations, during which the union sought a 15-cent flat hourly increase, with five cents for those working on the second shift, and ten cents additional for employes on the third shift. The union also sought a union shop.

William Summers, World War II Veteran, Is Named Commander

William H. Summers, Cresaptown, an Army veteran of Pacific service in World War II, was elected commander of a new American Legion post being formed in Cresaptown at an organization meeting held last night in the Cresaptown Fire Hall.

Summers, who is employed in the Textile Department of the Celanese plant, served in China and the Pacific theater for two years before his discharge several months ago.

He was nominated without opposition by Harper White, a Potomac Park veteran of World War I, and elected by a majority vote. Approximately 50 veterans of both World Wars attended the meeting, which was arranged by White, also a Celanese employe and a veteran of 18 months' service overseas in the First World War.

Will Select Name

The remainder of the officers will be chosen at a meeting to be held Friday, September 13, at 8 p. m. at the Cresaptown Fire Hall. The name of the post will also be selected at that time.

Approximately 25 veterans signed a petition applying for charter papers for the new post. Fifteen signers are necessary for an application. Samuel A. Graham, Mountain District Vice Commander, who explained charter procedure, informed the veterans that the application will be acted upon next Wednesday by the organization committee of Mountain District, after which he will take it to Baltimore for presentation to the Maryland Department.

400 Veterans Eligible

An estimated 400 veterans of both World Wars are eligible for membership in the new post, which will include Cresaptown, Bowling Green, Potomac Park, Pinto, Rawlings and the Winchester Road section.

Veterans of that area who are already members of Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, Cumberland, will be transferred automatically to the new post when it is chartered, White said.

Frostburg Beer License Opposed

A remonstrance was filed in Circuit Court yesterday against issuance of a beer and wine license sought by Michael Zumpano on Beall street, extended, Frostburg. The protest was filed by 17 residents of the neighborhood who previously filed a remonstrance against issuance of a license to Milton L. White, negro, whose premises, they said, are about 30 feet away from Zumpano's. No date for a hearing was set by the court.

Zumpano filed the application for a Class B beer and wine license, stating he planned to open an establishment in an addition to his residence.

John V. Richardson, 57 Park avenue, John H. Goldsworthy, 25 Park avenue, and 15 other property owners in the area said Beall street is a "dead end" thoroughfare and a beer and wine license at that location is "not desirable or necessary." They also cited that the area is a residential section and alleged property values would depreciate. In addition, they said the place is near State Teachers College and Beall Elementary School and that such an establishment would "contribute to the delinquency of minors."

A hearing on the remonstrance against issuance of a license to White was held recently, but a decision has not been announced by the judges.
